

Student Teachers Enjoy RMSH

Along with spring comes eight student teachers from North Carolina Wesleyan College. RMSH considers itself very lucky to have these student teachers.

Miss Sarah Andrews is student teaching in some of Miss Murchison's Classes. "RMSH is a lot like my own high school back home. I feel as if I'm being transported back to my days in high school," said Miss Andrews.

Along with music, classical or jazz, she likes to read and swim.

After graduation Miss Andrews plans to study for a third semester offered at college which is a course that will allow her to spend two weeks abroad this summer. Completing this she plans to apply for a teaching job in Richmond, Va.

"RMSH is great and can be compared to any other high school in the country. The kids are cool, and the faculty is very friendly and helpful," exclaimed Mr. Woollen, a history major.

Mr. Woollen comes from Virginia Beach, Va. As warden of Nu Gamma Phi, member of the Leadership Organization, and Chairman of Social Commissions he's kept quite busy. But not quite busy enough as his interests cover a large field.

Enjoy Students

In some of Mrs. Lundy's classes, the students will be under the direction of Miss Anne Sill, an English major. Miss Sill comes to us from South Hill, Va. Miss Sill was crowned the Homecoming Queen this year. She is a member of the Bruits Literary Club, and secretary-treasurer of the Student Organization at NCWC.

After she graduates this spring, she plans to teach at Sanford Central High School, Lee County.

From Balboa, Canal Zone in Panama, Miss Pazin, a history major, is teaching some of Miss Doyle's classes. Miss Pazin likes listening to music, knitting, sewing and cooking. She plans to teach in Fairfax, Va.

Sewing, art and classical music are a few of the many interests of Miss Schoon, an English major. Miss Schoon is president of the Pi Epsilon Sorority, secretary of the Student Government Association, and secretary of the Inter-Faternity Council.

At the completion of her college courses, Miss Schoon plans to travel, but when fall rolls around again, she hopes to be teaching in the Washington, D. C. area.

Impressive

It would appear that all the student teachers are either English or history majors. Striking out this appearance is Mr. Richard Knol, a biology major under Mr. Burnette. Mr. Knol is a native of Cleveland, Ohio. He too is impressed with the friendliness here.

Mrs. Eva Mallenbaum, Spanish major is speaking only Spanish in Mrs. Sifford's room to the surprise of the students.

"I love to travel and spend most of my time in New York and Connecticut," stated Mrs. Mallenbaum.

Last but not least is Mr. Dana Dickens, a history major from Stantonburg, N. C. During his stay, he will be taking over some of Mrs. Hawkin's classes.

Mr. Dickens is very sports-minded. He is president of the Alpha Delta Fraternity, and president of the Monogram Club. After graduation Mr. Dickens hopes to visit California, and next to teach at a school in North Carolina.

"High school is very different from college. I'm pleased to be back in a high school situation and I think I could be in no better school than RMSH," said Mr. Dickens.

SOS Club Begins Sale As Method Of Raising Funds

During the month of March the Service Club is sponsoring their annual lightbulb sale as a means of fund raising.

Before the sale began, the club formed a committee to investigate a number of wholesale dealers to find the best quality at the lowest prices. The committee then reported its findings to the club and the choice was duely voted upon. After the votes were tallied it was decided that Westinghouse 100 and 75 watt lightbulbs would be the best choice for the job. The club has been selling lightbulbs at 50 cents per package with two lightbulbs in a package. Although single lightbulbs will be available the club suggests they be sold only in complete packages.

All proceeds from the sale will be used for the club's activities including the Easter Sunrise Service, and the annual Service Club scholarship.

RMSH Students Attend State Drama Festival

Tim Brinn, Robert Ward, Bob Dozier, Ray Brinn and Pat McGee competed in the Evening Optimist Contest February 24.

All spoke on the same topic "Respect for law—Cornerstone of Citizenship", yet prepared different speeches. These speeches were not more than five minutes nor less than four minutes. Coaching this year was Rus Skinner, station manager for the radio station WRMT.

The three judges, Ray Watson, Mrs. Lynda Homes and George Wagner, had a hard choice indeed to make between the five boys. After much discussion they made their choice, Tim Brinn.

Tim is now to compete in the Zone Contest which is being held next Tuesday in Tarboro at the Himen Country Club. Should he win the Zone Contest, Tim will be eligible for the Eliminations Contest held April 13-19. The winner will contend at the North Carolina District Convention in Asheville, May 23-25. This winner is selected to represent the District of North Carolina at the International Contest in Miami, Florida, June 21-26.

Best of luck from the Black-Bird staff, Tim!
