

P. E. Classes Busy In Variety Of Sports

If a person chose to go in the gym during 5th period, he would see a variety of things going on.

Mr. Chesson's students have an opportunity of choosing between three things. They can either play basketball, volleyball, or take a challenge at weightlifting. Not many of the guys wanted to accept the challenge, because over half of them were on the floor playing basketball. Maybe they think they are already physically fit. Who knows?

Mrs. Pryor's young ladies are in gymnastics. Two phases to be covered under gymnastics are the parallel bars and the side horse. Since the parallel bars were not in reach, the girls will spend three lovely weeks on the side horse. Some of the stunts to be performed are the squat stand, straddle vault, scissors, and arm stand. The names should be simple enough, but when a person looks at the girls perform, it is a whole different story. After gymnastics, Mrs. Pryor's class will attempt the game of volleyball. After three weeks on the side horse, a person can be sure that Mrs. Pryor's girls will play the game of volleyball like it has never been played before.

Miss Story's class is having a lot of fun with ping-pong. Three ping-pong tables are set up in the hall outside the dressing rooms, and the girls really give it everything they've got, maybe even a little more. Ping-pong balls are flying everywhere. Miss Story sits back in approval saying to herself, "I think they are getting the hang of it." After ping-pong, Miss Story's class will start shuffleboard.

Soon it's time for the students to dress for the next class. The girls in Miss Story's class talk about the game, and the girls in Mrs. Pryor's class talk about their snazzy stunts. As for the guys, they just don't care. The bell rings and everyone moves on to 6th period.

WANTED -- Sprinters, Pole Vaulters, and High Jumpers for the boy's track team. Interested persons contact Coach Gulon Davis in Room 214.

Denny Bass Chosen As March Kiwanis Boy

With spring comes another smiling face, none other than Denny Bass, as Kiwanis Boy for the month of March.

When Denny was asked about this honor, this is what he had to say "I was very happy to have been selected as this month Kiwanis Boy."

Denny is the type of student that always seems willing to lend a helping hand in any school activity. His real opportunity came when he was elected president of the senior class. In this way Denny could be a great asset to his class. Not only does he have the job of presidency of senior class, he has to save some of his time for the activities in the Booster club.

Denny says in his spare time he enjoys all sports especially basketball and football; weightlifting and golf are mainly his hobbies.

His plans are to attend the University of N. C. at Chapel

Hill and major in Law.

The Gryphon staff would not only like to congratulate Denny on his honor as Kiwanis Boy, but also as an outstanding senior.
