

Standards For Good Officers In Order To Serve Effectively

When the SRA abolished the nominating committee, it did not mean to abolish all standards of conduct for our officers. The screening was meant to be done by students as they vote rather than by a nominating committee. Some students and teachers feel that some students don't know how to choose a good officer. It is upon the request of these students and teachers that the Elections Committee has drawn up these standards for good officers. These standards apply to officers of the Student Organization and any other organization in the school.

Most important of all, each officer should possess the highest degree of integrity and responsibility. Each officer must be willing to work and fulfill the requirements of his office. Each officer must also know and uphold the Constitution.

PRESIDENT:

1. He must be capable of representing the school on all public occasions in a manner that will reflect credit on all of us.

2. He should uphold all school rules - avoiding detention and - or suspension.

3. He should be tactful.

4. He must be able to preside - speak clearly and distinctly, keeping order at all times.

5. He must be responsible enough to appoint committees that can accomplish their purposes.

6. He must have the ability to organize large groups of people.

7. He must plan agendas carefully for each meeting, and carry out all business as efficiently as possible.

8. He must know or be willing to study parliamentary procedure.

9. He should have experience in working with SRA.

VICE-PRESIDENT

1. In addition to all qualities of the President, he should be creative.

2. He should be able to inspire or demand order and participation in programs.

SECRETARY

1. The secretary must be able to understand all business so she can get it in her minutes correctly.

2. She must be able to carry out all correspondence.

3. She must keep a file of all minutes for future reference.

4. She should be able to write legibly.

TREASURER

1. The treasurer must keep an accurate record of all figures.

2. The treasurer should be able to work well with figures.

SRA Works To Revive Old Project

There has been much interest recently at RMSH concerning a foreign exchange student program. Our delegates to the State Convention of Student Councils met so many unique and interesting foreign students that, upon their return to RMSH they expressed their desire for RMSH to have a foreign exchange student.

The SRA is working on the project and hopes to have a student for the next school year.

Working through the American Field Service Program (AFS), it will cost about $1,000. to bring a foreign student to RMSH and about $600. to send a RMSH student abroad the following summer.

The AFS program is run almost entirely by a number of unpaid volunteers. These volunteers assist AFS in helping the students exchange ideas and cultures. Currently in the United States there are approximately 2,682 AFS exchange students.

RMSH used to have this foreign exchange program. The pictures outside the main office show the past exchange students. With student, administration, and community cooperation possibly the program can be revived.

D.E. Students Collect Stamps to Buy Tiger

How would you like to buy a Siberian Tiger? Well, you can, by donating trading stamps of any kind to the D. E. Club which is participating the state-wide project in order to buy the Siberian tiger for the N. C. Zoological Park in Asheboro to open in 1975. Hopefully, each club will turn in at least one book per member, but with your help our D. E. Club can have from two to three books per member and will have an excellent chance of capturing the trophy awarded to the first place club.

The Club is in the process of starting a community wide campaign with radio announcements, newspaper articles, and etc. There will also be competition between the three D. E. classes, and many of the schools in the city have been asked to help with the project.

There will be booths placed outside of Sears, K-Mart and both Wooten's Supermarkets. Students are asked to register at White's Supermarket for the free stamps to be given away and if won to donate them to the D. E. project.

Let's all take part in this and help our Club remain the Number 1 Club. If you have already started collecting stamps, you may turn them in at Room 221.

Declaration of H. Rights

It was adopted on December 10, 1948. Since then, every December 10 is known as Human Rights Day.

The Universal Declaration of Human Rights sets forth the following human rights as goals for all governments to work towards:

1. The right of individuals to life, liberty, and security.
2. The right of everyone to an education and to equality before the law.
3. The right of each person to move about freely, to worship as he chooses, to associate freely with other people, and to have access to information in his search for understanding.
4. The right of everyone to be a citizen of a country, to work under favorable conditions, with equal pay for equal work.
5. The right to marry and raise a family.

Think you're better, smarter, more handsome (or beautiful) when you measure yourself with another?

Think if you must, but there is no reason to feel superior just because someone else is inferior.

Feel superior only when you measure yourself in '74 and note the improvements over the you in '73. Then, if you are better, smarter, and so on, go ahead and feel superior! Over your former self.
