D. E. Club Holds First, Second Place

The D. E. Club of RMSH is something to be proud of. They have recently attended the second District Leadership Conference at Smithfield-Selma High, and came back with a first place winner in Public Speaking and second place winner in Display. The other contests represented by Senior High were Advertising, Sales Demonstration, and Student of the Year - Woman. We highly congratulate those who represented us in these contests because we know that we were represented well.

The first place winner in Public Speaking is Libby Turner, who will represent Senior High and District 3B at the State Convention in Winston-Salem in March. Louwanda Dickens, the second place winner in Display, will not be competing on the State Level, but will attend the State Convention expense paid. Evangeline Simmons, District 3B Pres. will be running for the State office of Parliamentarian, and Carolyn Gantt, District 3B Sect. - Treas., will be running for the State office of Sect. - Treas.

The D. E. students attending the State Convention other than these four are, Cynthia Talbott, Betsy Ayers,

Ready To Walk The Plank

The power of the subconscious mind has much strength. A French psychologist named Doue was made famous for his lectures on this subject.

He illustrated one of his ideas with this proposition:

If a plank with a four inch width is placed across the floor of a room, hardly anyone would hesitate to walk upon it. But supposing the same plank is placed across the two highest buildings in the city. They are very few persons who would venture to walk across it.

Why? It is the same plank, the same distance, the same muscles, and the same will. The difference is that when suspended in air, the plank makes us think more of falling than of walking across.
