PROJECT ahead

You've made it to your senior year. This is it. You'll graduate next spring. You have the ability and the motivation to make it at college, but you can't find a way to go.

Some people start college, have to drop out and never complete their education.

Today's Army offers a solution. Three years of Army experience can make the difference both in maturity and financial stability.

During a 3-year enlistment, you can participate in an unique work-study program. You gain experience in a job related to your career and you have the opportunity to attend college with the Army paying for 75% of the cost. All of this plus your regular benefits and the money you earn. After your 3-year enlistment, you continue your education.

For more information, contact your Army Representative. He's listed in the Yellow Pages under Recruiting.
