

200 years . . .

Weeks of work climaxed with the day of the performances. It dawned clear and vibrant, blending with the muted excitement of the students and faculty. Those persons involved in the program waited nervously for the test — the first performance — while their first audience, the seniors in whose honor it would be given, waited in ailent anticipation. Nothing had been overlooked . . .

