

a celebration

From the first resounding notes of the "Star Spangled Banner" until the finale complete with balloons and full cast singing "This Is My Country," the program was one of pride in the accomplishments of the past and hope for the future. The lights went down on three standing ovations; it became memory.

SIS MY

