

Uncle Sam Awards Contract For Bread Boards To Shop

Work Begins Monday

Mr. Wilson's advance class in manual training will begin working Monday on a government contract for two hundred bread boards.

The Industrial Arts department, headed by Mr. Wilson, placed a bid for this work with the government several weeks ago and were notified Monday that their bid had been accepted.

Although the class will not be paid for the work, since the government furnishes money only for expenses, Mr. Wilson considers that the boys will gain invaluable experience in production work.

Yellow paper will be used to make the boards and, according to government specifications, each board will be 16" by 24".

When finished, these boards will be shipped to various points over the United States for use in its camps.

Juniors Edit The Full Moon

This issue of the Full Moon was put out by Mrs. Fry's 10th grade English class.

News was written by Crair Eury, Kelly Jordan, Everett Ford, John Wilton, Winfred Dry, Marie Herlocker, Max Cranford, and Frances Mann.

Wayne Hall, Matland Smith, Jo Morton, James Morton, E. A. Morton, Dotty Whitley, Doris Dulin, Lois Morgan, Joel Ritchie, Margaret Skidmore, Martin Deese and Lewis Shanley worked on the features.

The sports were covered by Ted Furr; art, Everett Ford; and editorial by Kenneth Cooper and Ticks Senter.

On the business committee were Billy Simmons, Kenneth Cooper, Jimmy Bogie, and Rafter Dennis.

French Students To Enter Contest

Ann Reap, Jeanne Lentz, Gerald Mann, Eunice Smith, Sam Andrew, Iell Mauldin, and Bear Knotts will take the state French exam on March 20.

This exam will be given by Miss Lane to these students, all second year French students, and will cover grammar, vocabulary, and irregular verbs.

In 1937 Albemarle won first place in the state, when Helen Morgan handed in a perfect paper. In 1938 the French class won second highest, honorable mention.

Page Mr. Webster

Uncle Sam may be badly in need of women to replace men in various jobs, but there's at least one freshman girl whom we hope he'll never need as a mechanic.

"What is the muffer of a car?" Miss Milling asked her general science class.

"It's something you wrap the engine up in to keep it warm," answered Mary Katherine Archer.

Boys Will Make 200 Model Airplanes To Be Used By National Government

Chorus and Band To Enter Contest For This District

A. H. S. choral classes, under the direction of Mr. Fry, and the band, directed by Mr. Barbera, will go to Charlotte on Saturday, March 28, to compete in the annual district music contests.

The choral delegation will be composed of a girls' chorus, girls' trio, boys' quartet, boys' chorus, mixed quartet, and mixed chorus. There will be in addition a number of solos.

Members of the choruses are working hard on the contest songs. Mr. Fry states that the mixed chorus, in particular, as well as several of the smaller groups, has shown excellent possibilities for good work.

The band will give selections from Goldman, Lindeman, Tschakowsky, Crawford, Gillette, and The Three Bears, novelty, by Long. A clarinet quartet, composed of Russ Russell, Wesley Cole, Hob Redvine, and Ned Reap, will play two marches, one from Tschakowsky and one from Schumann. The band will also play the National Anthem and Remember Pearl Harbor.

Debaters Chosen To Represent A.H.S.

Betsy Ivey and Ann Reap on the affirmative and Carolyn Stone and Kelly Jordan on the negative will represent A. H. S. in the triangular debates, March 27, with Hazel McLowell and J. B. Lambert as the alternates.

The query for this year is "Resolved that a union of western hemisphere nations should be established."

The arrangements will be the same as usual this year, with Albemarle's negative debating Kannapolis at Thomsville and the affirmative debating Thomsville at Kannapolis. Kannapolis and Thomsville will debate here.

Chorus Groups and Band To Give Concert Friday

Tickets went on sale today for the annual music concert to be given next Friday night by the Chorus under the direction of Mr. Fry, and the Band under the direction of Mr. Nunzio Barbera.

Awards Offered For Many Models

Boys of Albemarle high school have been asked to make 200 model airplanes for the use of the federal government, and plans are being made for the work to be done under the supervision of Mr. J. C. Morris, vocational director of A. H. S.

The local Rotary club is to sponsor the project, providing for all expenses involved.

The committee to assist Mr. Morris is Mr. Fetzner Hartsell and Mr. Hubert Lorch.

Secretary of the Navy Knox has asked for 600,000 planes from all the high schools of the U. S. The bids for this state is 5,000 and 200 for the particular school.

The planes are being made by a special scale and must pass a strict requirement before they will pass. The planes range from 5/8 inches to 2 1/2 inches but the average plane is 1 1/2 inches. These planes (Continued on Page Four)

Chorus Attends Clinic Tomorrow At Kannapolis

A choral clinic will be held at Kannapolis tomorrow, sponsored by the District Choral association, of which Mr. Fry is president.

Approximately 40 students from Albemarle high will attend, and there will be about 600 altogether from 15 schools in this district.

Meetings will be held throughout the day, at which time three choruses will be formed—a boys chorus of 150 voices, a girls chorus of 150 voices, and a mixed chorus of 250 voices.

Mr. Fry will direct the mixed chorus and those featuring the three choruses will be given in the J. W. Cannon High School auditorium at 7:30. There will be a banquet for the visitors in the Cannon Y. M. C. A. at 6:00.

These songs will be included in the concert program: "On the Road to Mandalay," "Soldiers of the Captain," "Stars of the Summer Night," by the Boys chorus; "Where the Roses Bloom," "Aurore," "Careless, Idle Maiden," "Tippa's Song," by the Girls chorus; "See the Conquering Hero Comes," "Hymn for the Nations," "Cain as the Night," and "Star-Spangled Banner," by the Mixed chorus.

Work Has Begun On Contest Play

"Jacob Comes Home" is the one-act tragedy which Miss Fitzgerald has chosen for the contest play to be presented this month.

The play depicts the life of a persecuted Jewish family in Berlin, Germany, waiting for the return of the head of the house, Jacob Braun, from a concentration camp.

Rudolph Huber, Jacob's friend, all through the play tells of the horrible life he experienced while in a concentration camp. He has been afraid to talk or show his face to the outside world ever since.

A list of actors was not obtainable at the time of going to press.

By Their Words

"We don't know how to appreciate smoke smokers, because we live where there live," Miss Milling.

"Mr. Wilton, I've guessed you're a ma-jig and this what-you-call-it," Bill Caloway.

"Geezer and I'll pick Red Bennett up by the ears," "Geech DeLotto."

"Geech never lets us down. You let yourself down," Mrs. Nisbet.

"It's in my beloved," Mrs. Nisbet said. "He is my beloved, in whom I am well pleased!" Mrs. Nisbet.

"E. A. Bingham on," Miss Holt.

"The new card fits like a corset," "Be McCord."

"Every American ought to know about Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson and 'Clemens,'" Mr. McCadyen.

"I have to ask my wife," Mr. Fry.

"Let's have littler noise," Reed Gaskin, addressing Student Council.
