

College Day Is Success

Thirty-four colleges were represented at the annual College Day held at A.H.S. on November 30, which was sponsored by the National Honor society.

College Day began at 9:30 with an assembly program in the auditorium. Jimmy Skidmore, president of the National Honor society, presided over the program. Mr. Grigg spoke on "The Significance of the Day," Mr. Cashwell extended a welcome to the college representatives and the visiting senior students from the county schools, and Jane Russell gave the schedule of the day.

From the auditorium the National Honor society members escorted the representatives from the various colleges to the gym, where they were seated at individual desks with a sign indicating which college they were representing. The representatives talked with the seniors until noon. They were guests of the National Honor society for lunch in the school cafeteria, and after lunch returned to the gym, where they received the juniors and talked with them until 3:30, when College Day ended.

The visiting schools who were present were: Badin, Endy, Stanfield, Norwood, Aquadale, Richfield, New London, Oakboro and Millingport.

Duke University School of Nursing, Duke woman's division, Duke men's division, Queens, Evans-Carolina Business college, St. Mary's, Wofford, Presbyterian hospital, Peace, Wingate, Greensboro college, University of South Carolina, Pfeiffer, University of North Carolina, Elon, Lenoir Rhyne, Charlotte Memorial hospital, High Point college, Guilford, Woman's College U. N. C., Erskine, Limestone, King's Business college, Flora Macdonald, Converse, N. C. State, Agnes Scott, Wake Forest, Brenau college, Lees McRae, and Mars Hill were the colleges represented. There was also a representative from Oak Ridge.

Ivey's Class Kept Busy On Projects

Mrs. Ivey's homeroom has been working on two projects— insects and flowers.

The students have kept an aquarium and a terrarium. In the terrarium are living one frog, three lizards, and three snakes. The students have hatched millions of spiders and put them in the terrarium for the other insects to eat. The snakes have now gone into hibernation.

On the flower project, which was on display for open house, flowers have been molded out of clay, while others have been waxed and mounted. Reports have been made on many flowers—A through Z. Some of the students have made dish gardens, while others have made seed collections, planted bulbs, and made booklets.

Nearly every student had a part in one of the projects.

Many Visit AHS For Open House

More than 400 parents and friends of A.H.S. students attended the annual Student Council sponsored open house held November 13.

Mrs. Morris' room had the most parents registered, with 37 parents present. Mrs. Saunders was second with 35, and Mr. Fry was third with 18.

The parents and friends began to come in at about seven o'clock. They first went to their child's homeroom, where they met the teacher and registered. Then they went on a tour of the building with a Student Council guide. They visited the major points of interest; such as the science class, where there was a class in session; the student lounge, where games of ping-pong and checkers were going on; and the typing room. The tour ended in the cafeteria, where refreshments were served to everyone.

At about 8:15 a program of band music was given by the A.H.S. band under the direction of Mr. Spencer Hatley.

Large Crowd Saw Annual Operetta

"Hearts and Blossoms," the two-act operetta given by the ninth grade chorus, was very successful and well received by a large appreciative audience on the night of November 16," said Mr. Paul B. Fry, choral director.

The operetta was colorful, with sparkling music, attractive costumes, special dances, solos, and duets. The entire cast rendered an excellent performance.

The story revolved around the loss of a recipe for cucumber complexion cream and Mrs. Manning's interest in dreams. Those taking part in the operetta were Sandra Westerlund, Joan Renger, Elaine Lowder, Dwayne Harrington, Edward Hatley, Jack Fuller, Pat Allen, Charles James, Judy Scaggs, Marian Stiller, John David Moose, and Donnie Smith. There were also 24 members in the singing chorus, one dancing group of 6, and another of 8.

Helpful Movies Are Being Shown

Classes have the privilege of seeing movies which help them with their methods of studying, ways of carrying on meetings correctly, and the right way to play some sport.

Movie films are rented from the Bureau of Visual Education of the University of North Carolina. The number of units rented is one hundred and fifty; three units is the average value of the film. "News Magazine in the Air," a current event film, is received each week.

Some of the films which have been shown are as follows: "Choosing Books to Read", "Making the Most of High School", "Parliamentary Procedure", "Are You Ready for Marriage?", "Marriage Is A Partnership", "Language of Mathematics", "Basketball Fundamentals", "Basketball Today", and "Basketball for Girls".

Several free films which have been used are "World Series", "Search for Security", and "Life Insurance Business and Occupations."
