

D. D. Sparklers

By DONALD DORTON

Here are a few sparklers that I hope will sparkle you up a bit. But if they don't, just take a look in the mirror; I'm sure that will!

Television is here to stay, and so are some of the neighbors.

Anyhow the meek will never inherit the World Series.

If war is ever abolished, what will we do with our money?

Worry's like a rocking chair—it doesn't get you anywhere.

A pedestrian is a person who can easily be reached by automobile.

Pharmacist: A piller of the community.

A gentleman: A wolf with the lights on.

Who watch—that's a cinch.

In the old days when a girl wanted a fur coat she went out in the woods and killed a fox. Now she just shoots a little bull.

A youthful figure is what you get when you ask a woman her age.

Most girls' bathing suits aren't as big as a postage stamp, but they still deliver the males.

Science Classes Exhibited At Fair

The A.H.S. science department, under the direction of Mr. R. C. Hatley, exhibited some of its best projects at the Stanly County Fair.

One of the ear-and-eye-catching features of this exhibit was the high voltage condenser which was made by Wayne Morris in last year's physics class.

Another outstanding feature was the five tube superheterodyne radio which was exhibited by Victor Dry.

Dwayne Lowder's House of Fire Hazards was also on display. This project won first prize at Duke university last year.

The general science classes also exhibited an array of posters and simple machines.

On The Beat

The Albemarle high school band has accepted an offer to go to Duke university to the Band Day to be held there.

A letter was received by Mr. Hatley, band director, of the occasion and he brought it up before the members of the band to be voted on. The members decided that they had rather go to this game than the others that the band had been asked to.

The band will leave early on the Saturday of the game and spend the whole day at Duke. They will practice the show in the morning with the rest of the bands and will attend the football game that afternoon. After the game the band will return to Albemarle.

Members Honored

Three members of the Albemarle high school band were accepted into the Modern Music Masters Society at a recent chapel program.

Those members who were accepted were Jimmy Brown, Miriam Davis and Sue Whitley. All these members have been in the band from six to eight years. All are first chair members and have done outstanding work in the band. There will be another program in which new members will be accepted at a spring chapel program.

ed set the exhibit up were Mr. Hatley, Wayne Palmer, Keith Sikes, Donald Dorton, Dixie Schadt, Lula Thomas, Dwayne Lowder, Jimmie Cooke, Dan Sibley, Craig Smith, and Victor Dry.

John Ellington, chairman, presided over the first meeting of the Red Cross Council. The purpose of the meeting was to elect other officers of the club.

The following officers were elected: Opal Eudy, vice-president; Amorelle Tucker, secretary; Phyllis Hartsell, treasurer.

Representatives to the council are, seniors: Jimmy Griffin, Kay Snuggs, Doris Hinson, John Ellington, Douglas Harper, Jimmy Pennington, Jimmy Millican, Lanny Ellis; juniors: Opal Eudy, Phyllis Greer, Amorelle Tucker, Elaine Mills, Johnnie Williams, Dorothy Ellis, Ann Smith, Skipper Gantt; sophomores: Phyllis Hartsell, Joyce Turner, Jimmy Almond, Elizabeth Medlin, Jean Furr, Dot Starr, Ruth Morris, Johnnie Russell, Doris Smith; freshmen: Janice Westerlund, Clara Bost, Jo Ellen Brooks, Rona Jane Mauldin, Ned Carpenter, Jeanette Hinson, Carolyn Efrd, Gareth Pendergraft.

FHA To Entertain Council Group

Members of the Future Homemakers of America have been busy planning a buffet supper for the North Carolina Student Council Congress to be held here.

Several committees were appointed to make plans for the following projects: decorating the First Baptist church on Monday, making and serving sandwiches Sunday night in the lounge, and decorating the YMCA for the banquet to be held Monday night.
