

MMM's Hold Initiation

Seven Candidates Received; Give Chapel Program

In a very impressive candle-light service seven new members were initiated into the Modern Music Masters Society in assembly on October 9.

Accepted on the basis of scholarship, character, service, co-operation, and leadership, the new members are Miriam Davis, Jimmy Brown, Sue Whitley, Sherrill Aldridge, Margaret Brunson, Sylvia Whitley, and Herbert Pendergraft, new co-sponsor.

Serving as apprentice for a period of one month, they were required to study the constitution and take an examination on it.

Members must belong to a music department of the school and must not have a "C" on academic subjects and must have a "B" average in music.

After receiving the key and membership card, the new members presented a music program, assisted by the old members.

First on the program was Miriam Davis playing a cornet solo by Tchaikowsky. Jimmy Brown presented as a solo on the saxophone, "Desert Song," after which he sang the same.

"Where'er You Walk," was sung by Herbert Pendergraft,

Almond Chosen Sophomore Head

Jimmy Almond was chosen president of the sophomore class last week at their first meeting.

Other officers elected were Jimmy Coggins, vice-president, Betty Boone, secretary, and Carrie Eudy, treasurer.

Mrs. Nelson Hayes, tenth grade English teacher, was voted sponsor for the class.

new co-sponsor. A voice ensemble was then presented by Margaret Brunson, Sylvia Whitley, Elaine Lowder, and Arce Rose Rich.

Playing a clarinet, Frances Ross presented a solo entitled "Delightful Idleness." She was accompanied by Sue Whitley at the piano.

Last on the program was Sherrill Aldridge singing "Crying in the Chapel."

Mrs. Fry was asking for grades from her English class.

"Jimmy Page," she finally protested, "Stand up. Your desk is squeaking so much that I can't hear what anyone says."

"Well, gee," T-Boe McLendon piped up, "if he sat on me, I'd squeak, too!"

Full Moon Staff Chosen

New Report Cards Issued This Year

A new type of report card is being issued this year at AHS. Students will receive a report card from each class in which they are enrolled. They will receive all of the report cards in one envelope from their home-room teachers.

Scholastic grades will be recorded as usual with additions of grading work in relation to ability and an evaluation of social and personal assets.

Work in relation to ability is graded by one of four points: works at ability level, does average work for ability, works below average for ability, and makes little or no effort to do work.

Students are graded on social and personal assets, which include co-operation, courtesy, dependability, industriousness, initiative, leadership, maturity, personal appearance, self-control, and total personal adjustment. Grades are recorded on each as above average, average, or below average.

Parents are requested to examine and sign each report card, and when progress does not appear satisfactory, they are asked to confer with the child's teacher.

Brunson And Ivey, Hall, Setzler Are Assistant Editors

Full Moon staff members were recently selected from the first period senior English class to continue work on the remaining seven issues of the paper.

Claud Grigg, editor, and Victor Dry, business manager, were elected in the spring. Their assistants are Ann Ivey, managing editor, and Dan Sibley, assistant business manager. Mrs. Paul Fry is the advisor.

News editor of the Full Moon is Lydia Hall. Members of the news staff are Jo Atkins, Bobbie Eudy, Lowell Hartsell, Larry Hartsell, Ronnie Curlee, Rochelle Ritchie, Pattie Almond, Laura Doby, Craig Smith, Sally Crook, Dwayne Lowder, Kay Snuggs, and Jimmy Griffin.

Feature editor is Margaret Brunson, and assisting her is Kathryn Groves. The staff is composed of Dixie Schadt, Sylvia Whitley, Georgia Beaver, Anne Russell, and Ellen Palmer, with Jimmy Brown appointed to write a band column, and Donald Dorton appointed to write a library column.

Ralph Setzler is sports editor with assistance from Myron Snotherly, Doris Hinson, Richard Jordan, Larry Talbert, Otty Lynn, Johnny Hall, and Bobby Reeves compose the sports staff.

Circulation manager, Mary Foreman, will be responsible for subscriptions and exchange of papers among high schools.

This year the features include Bulldogs Barks, a write-up on the two athletes of the month, Who's Who, a senior girl and boy chosen each issue by the Full Moon class, Campus Chatter, Little Known People, By Their Words, Here and There, and Inquiring Reporter.
