

Bible Club Holds Monthly Meeting

AHS Bible Club held its March meeting at the First Presbyterian Church on March 6.

The topic for the meeting was "What's Next," which was a discussion on Christian occupations opened to young people. Mr. Sapp spoke on the Ministry, followed by Jane Sigmon speaking on church secretaries, Geddie Strickland on Missionary work, and Miss Abrahamsen on Bible teachers.

During the program Arce Rose Rich sang "My Heavenly Father Watches Over Me" and Geddie Strickland sang "What Shall I Give Thee, Master".

After the discussion, reports were heard from the treasurer and from the contest to have more members present at the meetings. The first edition of the Bible Club Newspaper was given to the members.

Eugene Burris, president of the Bible Club, presided, and Amorelle Tucker was the accompanist for the songs.

F.H.A. Undertakes Various Projects

Members of the Future Homemakers of America have been busy working on various projects.

The club members made and served refreshments when the Mixed Chorus entertained the North Carolina Symphony on February 26.

Refreshments were prepared also by the group for the Alexander Graham ninth grade chorus and the AHS ninth grade chorus after their concert at the high school.

Approximately 175 people have been served by the FHA since Christmas.

At the next meeting Sue Furr and Opal Eudy, two very active members of the club, will complete the necessary requirements for FHA pins, which are given only to those girls contributing to community and school work in the specific manner stated by the constitution of the national organization. Both girls have been members of the high school chapter for three years.

After the excitement had died down and all ten thousand tadpoles were born, plans were made for the new babes. Edshay Brunson was appointed Godfather. But a very serious problem came up. How could they name ten thousand tadpoles? Well, some brilliant mind popped up with the bright idea to name them after the alphabet. Of course it will have to be used three hundred and eighty-four and sixteen twenty-sixths times, but that seemed the easiest way out.

Oh, by the way, if you happen to hear music in the biology lab, it's only first period teaching the tadpoles to sing "Oh, My Papa" for Franchot.

Debating Teams Chosen

Project Committee Plans Devotionals

The project committee of the Bible Club has been responsible for the successful devotional programs held on each Monday morning.

On March 1, the program was heard over station AHSBC. On the two following Mondays the juniors and seniors, the freshmen and sophomores, respectively, met in the auditorium for special programs. When not meeting in the auditorium the homeroom used the devotional programs planned by the project committee, which were "The Value of Love and Friendship" and "The Love of Christ".

Jo Ellen Brooks and Barbara Holt were in charge of preparing the devotional programs used in the homerooms.

MMM Installed

(Continued from Page 6, Col. 5) Groves further instructed the new members by explaining the meaning of the word Modern in the name of the organization. Ronnie Curlee and Frances Ross traced the history of Music, and Larry Hartsell explained the meaning of Masters. The Honor Key was then explained.

After repeating the pledge, the new members were officially welcomed into the society by the president, and the program was turned over to the program chairman, Larry Tucker.

The first number on the program was a duet by Joan Renger and Elaine Lowder. Their selection was "Sweethearts" by Romberg. Edward Hatley, baritone soloist, sang "With These Hands," and Amorelle Tucker, alto soloist, sang "Vision."

Following the program Mr. Fry announced that this outstanding group has raised money and will give four scholarships of $30 each to be used for summer music camps by two members of the chorus and two members of the Teams which were chosen March 10 for the Triangular Debates were Dickie Cashwell and Phyllis Greer, affirmative; Sandra Westerlund and Pat Allan, negative.

The A. H. S. affirmative, with Mrs. Saunders as coach, will remain here March 26 to debate against the negative Kannapolis team, while the A. H. S. negative team, under Miss Abrahamsen's direction, goes to Lexington.

The debate topic is, Resolved: That the president of the United States should be elected by a direct vote of the people.

Others who tried for the teams were Joan Renger, Judy Scaggs, Bobby Josey, affirmative; Opal Eudy and Skipper Gantt, negative.

Chorus Activities Are Outstanding

Outstanding among the activities of the Mixed Chorus during this season was their appearance with the North Carolina Little Symphony Orchestra, which performed on February 25 in the high school auditorium.

Dr. Benjamin F. Swalin, the noted conductor, invited Mr. Fry and the sixty-voice choir to appear with the orchestra and sing six excerpts from Handel's famed "Messiah", which the chorus had sung previously, gaining considerable recognition.

Particularly significant about the performance was the fact that the Albemarle High School Mixed Chorus is the first choral group in the state to be featured with the orchestra, and Dr. Swalin bestowed lavish praise on the group and congratulated Mr. Fry on the splendid work he is doing in the music department at the high school.

Larry Hartsell, president of the Senior Hi-Y, then presented a check in behalf of the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs for $100 to pay for the slide projector which was a combined project of the Y clubs.
