Believe At Your Risk

Here we are again, students, to get some much-thought-of gripes off our bewitched little minds. Our last column didn't seem to make an impression on our narrow-minded student body. When we came back to school last Monday morning we found that things weren't improved any. That screw that was loose in the fifth seat, fifth row, left side of the freshman section was laying on the floor beneath the seat, and the flag chain has more rust on it than ever!

After much investigation by yours truly, we have found the final resting place for the money spent to fix up the "ole place." It has all been spent to remodelize the teachers' lounge.

We disguised ourselves as visiting teachers so as to get into the teachers' lounge that is located behind the vault-like doors beside Miss Caughman's room.

About this time, a butler came over to get our hat and coat. Boy, we pulled one on him. We didn't have a hat or coat! He asked us if we would like to bowl, or to shoot pool, or to swim, or to play Scrabble, or to play ping pong, or to dance (get this) with one of the good-looking teachers. This was about more than we could stand, but we managed to say that we would look around.

We went into the pool room and saw (now get this) Miss Caughman and Miss Holt shooting pool, and to our horrified amazement, Miss Bankett and Miss Cross were lounging around watching TV in Bermuda shorts. This was toooooo much, so we

Eight Delegates Attend Meeting

Eight members of the local Tri-Hi-Y clubs attended the fifteenth Annual Interstate Tri-Hi-Y Conference held in Anderson, South Carolina, on November 4, 5, and 6. At this conference were more than 150 delegates from North and South Carolina.

The theme for the Conference this year was, "My God, My Plan, My Life." A panel discussion group was held for each of these topics, and Jane Bullock, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. here, was discussion leader for the panel on "My Plan".

Those who represented the local clubs were Barbara Copley and Carolyn Helms, seniors; Ann Stone and Vicki Cranford, juniors; Pat Smith and Carolyn Nicholds, sophomore; Linda Doby and Myra Carpenter, freshmen.

"DURING A TEST in Full Moon English, Mrs. Fry spoke to Ross Mason, "Ross, I don't believe I would look at Pat's paper if I were you."

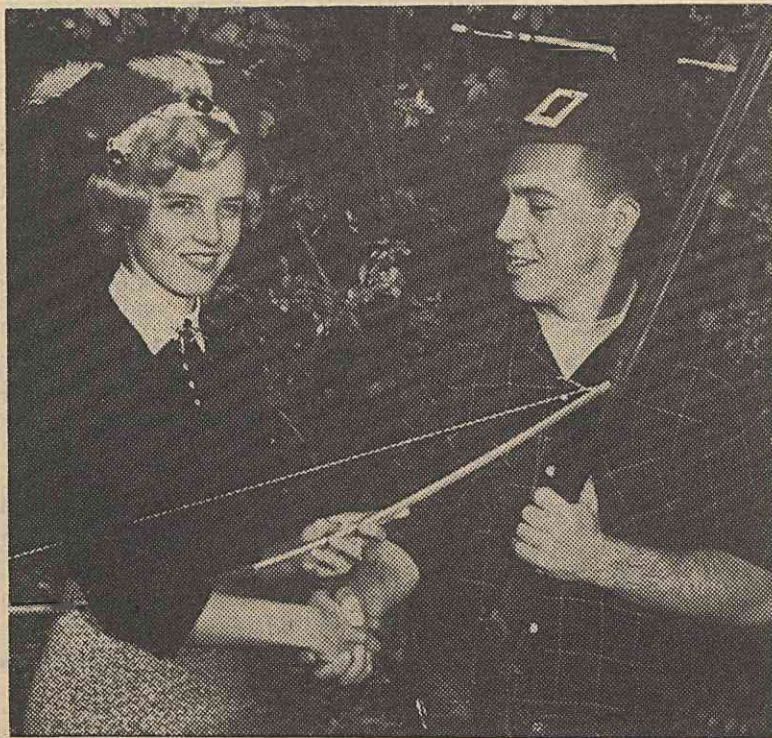

"Well, if I could see it, I couldn't read it," was Ross's reply.

We heard some soft music drifting in from the main ballroom. As we entered, who do you think we saw? Mr. Cashwell had booked Toskinini for three months in conjunction with "Rat" Lisk's disk jockey show. Yes, sir, there was Mr. Cashwell sitting there with a contented smile on his face.

We had to leave after this before we burst out laughing.

Well, students, there's the awful truth as to where our money went. If you would like to comment about this horrid situation, we will accept any comments with deepest sympathy.

-WHO'S WHO-

DOTTY WALKER

"Who is that tall, good-looking blond from Albemarle?" is a question you always hear when you go to an out-of-town football game. The answer, of course, is Dotty Walker. Dotty is a very striking, tall, green-eyed blond, with a personality that just won't quit. These are a few of the reasons why she was elected this month's Who's Who.

At the homecoming game this year Dotty was elected queen of the homecoming, which is something every high school girl dreams of.

Being on the basketball team two years has proved Dotty's outstanding ability in sports. In the afternoon after school, Dotty may be found working on the Crossroads, of which she is assistant business manager, and hurrying to finish so she can get down to the gym for basketball practice.

Dotty, being very outstanding in music, was elected to the Modern Music Master Club in the eleventh grade, and she now serves as co-historian of this organization.

She has held several offices in school and has been Student Council representative from her class two years.

One of the best performances in the junior play last year was given by Dotty. She has been a member of the Black Masque Club two years, and in this time has showed great ability in acting.

Most of Dotty's time is spent playing basketball or listening to popular music. She also especially likes to eat, and her favorite foods are spaghetti and lemon pie.

Next year Dotty plans to attend Eastern Carolina Teachers' College. She will study to be a social worker, which proves her ambition in life—to help others.

LUTHER KIMREY

He's witty, dependable, friendly, and outstanding in everything. These are only a few characteristics of Drag Kimrey, our Who's Who this month.

Drag was tapped into the Honor Society this year and was elected president of the senior class. He is also a member of the Modern Music Masters.

He has always been very active in school, and when he entered the ninth grade he made the varsity football team, which is mighty good for a freshman. He has lettered in football two years and in baseball three years.

Rooting the basketball team along and keeping the scoreboard was his job in the tenth grade.

The Junior-Senior prom committee was another one of Drag's many activities. He spent many hours working to make the prom a success. The same year he made the Mixed Chorus and was treasurer of his home room.

The summer before his senior year, you could see Drag packing his bags for a week at Boys' State. This was a great honor for Drag, but he certainly did deserve it.

Friday nights at the football games you see Drag walking to the center of the field with the referees; this is because he was elected co-captain of the football team.

Student Council representative,

Local Hi-Y Clubs Entertain Guests

The local Hi-Y clubs were hosts to approximately 170 "Y" secretaries, delegates from their local clubs, and leaders from both North and South Carolina at the annual conference November 18-20. Gene Langley served as treasurer for the planning committee and George Lowder as secretary.

Guests arrived early Friday afternoon and after a short visit to the local textile mill were taken to the homes by the members of the Junior and Senior Hi-Y clubs. Delegates stayed in the homes of students and other people throughout the town, with breakfast in the homes and lunch and dinner at the "Y".

At the conference, the boys discussed the various phases of school life, life of the "Y" secretary, and other subjects pertaining to the conference theme, "Finding Myself." Meetings were held both at the YMCA and in the First Street Methodist Church opposite the "Y".

Approximately twenty-five dollars was collected by the Junior Red Cross during their annual drive. The money collected will be used to help entertain the veterans in the Salisbury Hospital and also to send gift boxes overseas.

Mrs. Hauss, advisor for the club, was very pleased with the contributions. The club worked very diligently during the drive.

sports editor of the annual, and feature writer of the Full Moon are some of Drag's activities his senior year.

Just give Drag a good meal, followed by a picture starring James Stewart and June Allyson, and he will be content.

Drag hasn't decided the college yet, but any college he goes to, he will still be just as friendly and well-liked.
