Fall Will Bring Changes To AHS

Next fall AHS students will find some changes in their classes and subjects.

All ninth graders will be required to study geography two days a week, and the freshmen who are weak in their reading will be given a reading course in connection with their English. The entire tenth grade will be compelled to take world history.

Instead of five class periods and a homeroom period, next year's students will have six periods. Each of the four classes will have homeroom period at a different time during the day.

Rising Freshmen Visit High School

Ninth grade students played host to the eighth graders from the four grammar schools in Albemarle in a "get acquainted" campaign last week.

"The purpose of these visits is to acquaint the rising freshmen with the building, teachers, and changing of classes," stated Mr. Cashwell.

Each ninth grader was assigned to show an eighth grade student around for an entire day from first to fifth period. Given to each pupil was a mimeographed sheet listing all the subjects which he is to take during his four years of high school.

The following eighth grade classes participated in this program: Mr. Clark's room, West Albemarle; Mr. Whitley, Mrs. Saunders, Central; Mrs. Boysworth, Miss Lambert, North Albemarle and Mr. Carter, East Albemarle.

Practice Teacher Is Learning Trade

Mr. Lewis Hagood Owens, a recent arrival to AHS, has been observing and teaching in the Science Department for the past several weeks.

Mr. Owens is a graduate of Duke University, where he received an A. B. degree in Chemistry. He is one of forty-six teachers who have been sent out all over North Carolina and Virginia to do supervised teaching for six weeks. In June, having finished his teaching, Mr. Owens will be qualified for a teaching certificate.

Mr. Owens is still single and makes his home in Durham. The students and faculty at AHS are glad to welcome Mr. Owens to Albemarle and our school.

ROSS: "FISHER, WHY is the sea so restless?"

At that point, Fisher started a long scientific digression, but before he could finish, Ross injected, "Well, you'd be restless too if you had rocks in your bed."

30 Mixed Chorus Members Attend Greensboro Festival

Thirty members of the Mixed Chorus represented Albemarle High School's music department at Greensboro, in the North Carolina Music Festival held on April 26 and 27.

One thousand choral members from all part of North Carolina were divided into two choruses. The Albemarle singers were in group one and were directed by Mr. Don Craig. The second group was under the direction of Prof. Hugh Hugobloom.

Both choruses combined on April 27 in presenting a concert at Aycock Auditorium. The concert was televised on station WUNC, Channel 4.

The festival is sponsored by the North Carolina Choral Association and takes the place of the State Choral Contest.

Making the trip from Albemarle were the following: Benny Russell, Eugene Burris, Kenneth Barbee, Wayne Eudy, Johnny Renger, Aaron Lowder, Joe Klutz, Franchot Palmer, Jimmy Almond, Mickey Green, George Lowder, Gene Langley, Charlie Ross Smith, Punk Gantt, and Marvin Morton.

Also Barbara Copley, Susie Culp, Peggy Furr, Sandra Poplin, Hilda Campbell, Linda Duke, Dotty Walker, Maxine Harwood, Janis Westerlund, Barbara Holt, Betsy King, Peggy Lisk, Lois Harwood, and Patsy Blake.
