

Students Learn And Earn

Need a loan? some cabinet work done? or how about an insurance policy?

If you applied for a loan from Friendly Finance Co., you would probably see Shirley Klutz working there as an office worker. If you need some cabinet work done, take it to Page's Cabinet Shop and you'll probably see George McManus. Now, how about an insurance policy from Jefferson Standard Insurance Company? While Phyllis Andrews may not sell it to you, you can't miss seeing her there.

On the other hand, you'll find Pat Mauldin and Carolyn Mabry working in the office at Central Elementary School, while Jewell Bunting is busy earning her wages at East Albemarle, and Sylvia McDuffie is earning hers at North Albemarle.

Drop in at Power City Bus Lines and Carol Little will be busy there. Barbara Kimery doesn't want to be left out, so she has a job at Boone Cleaners and Laundry.

This office work program which makes it possible for students to go to school part of the day and work part of the day is under the direction of Miss Inez Bankett.

"I'd bet my life Carolina will beat State." — Mr. Robinette.
 "You seniors think French is just a big joke this year, don't you?" — Mrs. Deese.

The Music Goes Round and Round

This year the A. H. S. Band is bigger and better than ever. There are 75 members of the marching band and an extra attraction of two new majorettes — Anne Whitley and Ann Taylor.

The band was fortunate enough to be given a new band hall, located in half of the student lounge. They have refinished the room and made the nicest part of the school. This room is sound-proof. They also made a private room for the director Mr. Hauss.

The band has a new drum major, Jimmy Miller, who is doing a very fine job. Jimmy is now a Sophomore and has two more years as drum major.

The band plans to attend all the out-of-town ball games and to play for the half-time shows. There have already been three football games and the high school band has participated in all the half-time activities. So far they have made figures in their drills: W for Winecoff, a banjo and a guitar, an A for Albemarle, K for Kannapolis, a circle with an L in it for Lexington, and a treble clef.

An extra feature was the fire baton twirling of the majorettes at the Lexington game.

Senior Officers Are Already Busy

Officers of the senior class have already been busy conducting the Carrousel Princess election and leading the class in sponsoring a dance after the football game September 21.

The officers who will guide the senior class through its activities this year are president, Burnie Miller; vice president, Garrieth Pendergraph; secretary, Glenn Talbert; and treasurer, Wayne Eudy. Miss Caughman is class advisor.

Enrollment in the senior class this year is 128.

The boys outnumber the girls 77 to 51. In each homeroom except Miss Bankett's the number of boys is greater than the number of girls.

Yankees, Rebels Study Together

New faces were seen often around the school on September 5 as thirty-three students representing many different states became members of the student body.

The new students from Pennsylvania are Gerry Currier, Gail Buck, Barbara Hoey, Trudy Kotter, Barbara Reall and Nancy Trimmer, while Dohn Martin comes from Tennessee and Timmy Fatkin from New Jersey. Twenty-six other students represent various parts of North Carolina.

Although the six new seniors, ten new juniors, six new sophomores, and eleven new freshmen were new the first day of school, they have now taken their places among the A. H. S. students and are already taking active parts in classes and school activities.

School Shows Improvement But Is Crowded This Year

Juniors lost no time in getting their year's work started.

At their first class meeting September 10 they elected Miss Lillian Misenheimer as their sponsor for the coming year. Miss Misenheimer has served as Junior class sponsor for a number of years and will again this year lead the Juniors in undertaking projects for the Junior-Senior Prom.

In order to make money for the Junior-Senior Prom held in the spring, the Juniors are selling pencils with the Albemarle High School football schedule printed on them.

These attractive pencils, which sell for ten cents, are white, with each game the Bulldogs play stamped in blue.

Measuring for class rings was the main item of business for the Juniors at their second class meeting September 19 in the auditorium.

Mr. Bealle, representing the L. G. Balfour Company in Massachusetts, measured each Junior's finger and helped him find the correct ring size. A five dollar deposit was paid by each Junior ordering a ring.

The class voted to have the traditional red stone this year without an "A".

Mr. Bealle reported that the rings will probably arrive around Christmas.

Many new improvements have been made this past summer at school.

All the desks in the building have either been replaced or refinished.

An enlargement of the gym for dressing rooms is being completed.

Part of the old student lounge has been sectioned off into an attractive band room. The room is attractively built with elevated floors for chairs on which the students sit to practice.

The machine shop has been enlarged to include the old dressing rooms formerly used by the football team.

One section of the eighth grade from Central is now conducting classes at A. H. S. due to the lack of room at Central.

Mr. Knotts's homeroom is in the library, and some of the gym classes are meeting for health in the auditorium. Mr. Cashwell also teaches geography to the ninth graders in the auditorium on Tuesday and Thursday of each week.
