Debating Teams Achieve Success

Albemarle's affirmative and negative debating teams earned victory nods from the judges Friday in the 1958 Triangular Debates for high schools.

Pat Starnes and Jo Parks, the negative team defeated Mooresville's affirmative twosome at Kannapolis.

Lane Brown and Georgette Lampsey, defending the affirmative viewpoint of the debate topic, travelled to Mooresville for their successful verbal bout.

The 1958 topic for debate was Resolved: That United States foreign aid should be substantially increased.

A new rule in the Triangular Debates requires all teams to travel, giving no school the advantage of debating on home territory.

Pfeiffer Students Practice Teaching

Nine students from Pfeiffer are now doing their practice teaching at A. H. S.

They are as follows: Bob Brooks, biology; Jack Clark, world history; Margaret Foster, physical education and health; Preston Holder, world history and U. S. history; Royal Lancaster, world history and physical education; Delmas Petrea, plane geometry and Algebra II; Nancy Thompson, Typing I, office practice, and shorthand; Ed Woodhouse, physical education, health and driver's training; and Iris Young, Typing I and II and office practice.

These students teach for twelve weeks.

Speech Workshop Held At Pfeiffer

Practice debating was the highlight of the Speech Conference held at Pfeiffer College on March 8 and attended by six members of the Debating Club.

Lane Brown and Georgette Lampsey, the affirmative team, and Pat Starnes and Jo Parks, the negative team, accompanied by Roger Laney, Steve Surratt, and Mrs. Little, heard the opening message given by the chairman of the conference, Neal Smith. Mr. Charles Cox of the Pfeiffer College Fine Arts Department explained the importance of the Speech Arts and the opportunities offered by Pfeiffer and other college in this field.

The debating teams were given the experience of debating other schools in preparation for the Triangular Debates held on March 14. The Albemarle teams were victorious in one round of debating and were unsuccessful in another.

Several Pfeiffer speech majors presented dramatic readings and excerpts from the Greek play, Hippolytus of Euripides.

Pat and Jo traveled to Kannapolis Friday to debate the Mooresville affirmative team, while Georgette and Lane met Kannapolis' negative debaters in Mooresville in the Triangular Debates held March 14.

The debate topic was as follows: Resolved: That United States foreign aid should be substantially increased."

Bible Club Gives Three Recognition

Three people in the Bible Club were recognized as having been outstanding members during the first semester.

Harry Whitley, Gene Starnes, and Kitty Almond were awarded prizes for superior participation in all Bible Club activities. They had devoted much time and interest to the Bible Club, a fact attested to by their prodigious number of points.

The Bible Club point system is a measuring stick by which members receive credit in the form of points for work on Bible Club projects, for attendance at Bible Club and prayer meetings, and for participation in club meetings or club-sponsored assembly programs. The people with the largest number of points are recognized at the end of each semester, thereby encouraging all members to be active.

School-wide observance of the World Day of Prayer was promoted by preparing an appropriate table display in the lobby and by having all the students pray together the Lord's Prayer on the morning of February 21, the World Day of Prayer.

"IF OUR BOYS win over Ashboro, who will we play next?" Betty Holt asked Carolyn Nichols.

"Maybe Statesville, since they won tonight," Carolyn answered, and then after thinking awhile exclaimed, "Oh, no, they can't play the girls!"
