

Cashwell, Carter Voted To Positions

Two Albemarle High School teachers, Mr. J. L. Cashwell and Mrs. J. M. Carter, have been elected to important positions recently.

Mr. Cashwell has been elected vice president of the Principal's Section of the North Carolina Education Association.

He will hold this office during 1958-59 and, under the usual procedure of the group, will probably be elected president in 1960.

Mrs. Carter has become the first president of the South Piedmont District of the North Carolina Education Association, a newly-formed district.

She was installed at a meeting in Asheville.

Miss Bankett was appointed secretary of the South Piedmont District of the North Carolina Education Association.

AFTER MR. BRASWELL had assigned his Algebra II class about two pages of homework, Ruby Morton said, "How can you sleep at night, Mr. Braswell?"

Initiation Is Held For New Members

Four girls who came to school March 7 dressed as Bible characters were not Bridey Murphey's followers.

Instead, Mickey Doby, Gail Vanderburg, Linda Doby, and Myra Carpenter were garbed in flowing robes and bright turbans to satisfy the initiation requirements as new members of the Bible Club. The girls wore their Holy Land habits all day Friday.

The second semester initiation party for Bible Club members was held at the Youth Center March 8. "March Winds", the theme of the event, found expression in the decorations, featuring umbrellas perched from wall to wall, and in the weather.

Ivan Sibley directed the recreation and distributed candy to the winners of the games. A team game emphasizing cooperation and carefulness tested the group's skill at carrying lighted candles across the floor. The object was to finish the relay first with the flame still burning.

Cokes and an array of homemade cakes were served for refreshments.

National Library Week Is Observed

Freshmen concluded National Library Week, March 16-22, with an assembly program.

Mike Fusonie acted as Master of Ceremonies.

Book talks were given by Chad Howard, Wayne Honeycutt, Suzanne Swindell, Karen Herndern, Nancy Smith, Dan Walter, Eddie Wilson, Mary Hill Hatley, Bill Burbage, Edith Smith, Linda Haynes, Kennie Beavers, and Jan Barrier.

Pam Treece also gave a book talk ended with a song.

Diane Butler, Florence Morton, Martha Burlison, Jean Rabon, Brenda Thompson, and Miriam Wilhoit accompanied by Bryan Fox sang several songs in connection with the book talks by other students.

Miss Michael helped in the planning and organizing of the program.

KATHRYN MORTON ASKED Sandra Burlison at the dinner table one day, "Do you like ambrosia?"

"I'm not sure. Who's it by?" replied Sandra.

28 Seniors Top Honor List; Sophomores Next With 23

The seniors, in spite of the epidemic of spring fever, led the honor roll for the first six weeks in the second semester with 28 students making it. The sophomores were close behind with 23.
