Hatley, Smith Tie For Valedictorian

Libbie Hatley and Peggy Smith, having made identical high school records, are the top students of the Class of 1958 and thus co-valedictorians, according to Mr. Cashwell.

Less than a full point behind these two are four others with records that vary less than one-tenth of a point: Kitty Almond, Joyce Burris, Yvonne Chandler, and Becky Coble. These have been named co-salutatorians.

Graduation exercises for the Senior Class will be held on Monday night, June 2, and the Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered on Sunday night, June 1.

Dr. Guy B. Phillips, director of the summer session at the University of North Carolina and also member of the State Board of Education, will be the principal speaker for the commencement exercises on Monday night. After his address approximately 120 seniors will receive diplomas.

The Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by Rev. Eric D. Colie, pastor of the Christ Episcopal Church.

Libbie Hatley Has Sonnet Published

Libbie Hatley has won a "Best High School Writing Award" given by the N. C. English Teachers Association.

Two of Libbie's writings were submitted. One, a sonnet entitled "The Veil of Immortality", was the winning entry and has been published in the Student Issue of the NORTH CAROLINA ENGLISH TEACHER.

In all, 444 manuscripts were submitted in the contest this year. Out of this number only 33 entries were chosen to be published.

Rip Van Winkle Dreams Of A.H.S.

The work of the annual staff is almost completed for the year. The 1958 CROSSROADS were distributed on Wednesday.

The theme carries the Seniors through four years of high school, and old Rip Van Winkle and his faithful (bull) dog are right there in each section.

Five hundred and fifty year books were published this year. Pictures from the annual will be on sale next week to members of the student body.

Science Fair Displays Vary From Nerve Meters To Jets

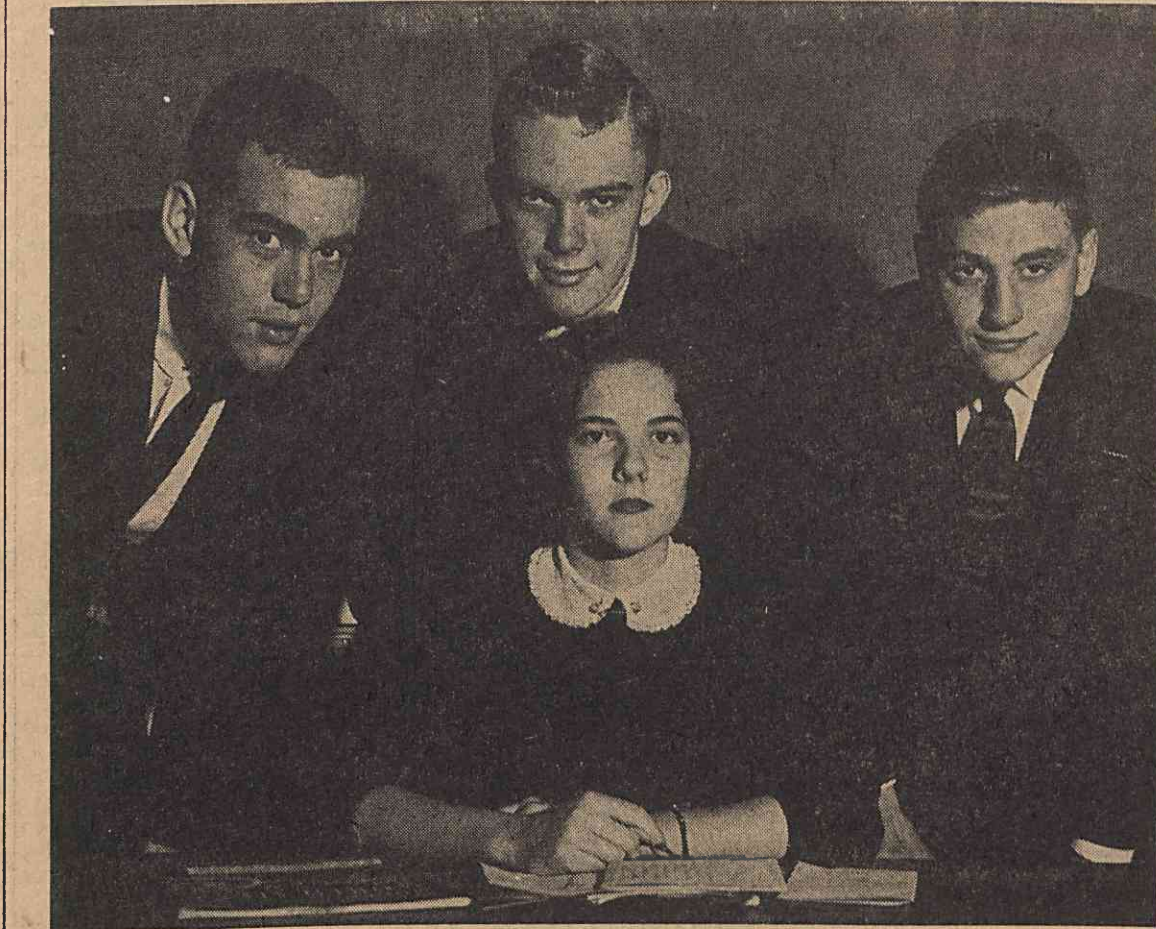

The annual Science Fair, held in the AHS gym on last Friday, Sunday, and Monday, featured displays from the general science, biology, chemistry, and physics classes.

In the general science division, displays, consisting of projects and posters, showed their studies of simple machines, automobiles and their parts, electricity and its use, and atoms and their structures.

Featured in the biology section were posters, collections, and displays on fungus, chick embryo, evolution, cultures, tropisms in plants, corals, animal tracks, utilization of wood, and a model of a dam and a fish pond.

The chemistry section summed up their studies with posters, collections, and various working models. Some of the displays were a collection of plastics, a collection of oils, a model of a filter bed, a home-made "Rocket" launcher, and a model showing the Frasch process of refining sulfur.

In the physics division were

Parks, Tucker To Head Publications

Jo Parks has been chosen to be the editor of the FULL MOON next year. Douglas Eury will serve as business manager.

Named at the same time were Sue Tucker, who will be the editor of the 1959 CROSSROADS, and Jimmy Klutz, business manager.

These four students have been outstanding in both school work and extra curricular activities as well as leaders in their class.

They will replace Kitty Almond, editor, and Wade McSwain, business manager of the FULL MOON, and Pat Starnes, editor, and Kay Swindell, business manager of the CROSSROADS.

The newspaper staff will be chosen next fall from those who enroll in FULL MOON English. The annual staff will be chosen from applicants and announced later this spring.

Eight Outstanding Juniors Tapped Into Honor Group

Eight outstanding members of the junior class were tapped into the National Honor Society at the annual spring tapping, Friday, April 11.

The students who were tapped were Jo Parks, Billie Jo Barrier, Janice Morris, Lane Brown, Ann Smith, Nancy Jo Ivester, Martha Smith, and Jimmie Miller.

Preceding the tapping, Yvonne Chandler presented a short devotional. Brief speeches on the ideals of the society were made by Wade McSwain, Peggie Sue Lisk, Martha Huckabee, and Becky Coble. After the tapping Superintendent Claud Grigg administered the oath to the new members.

Jo Parks has been a member of the AHS debate team for two years, a majorette, and a commencement marshal, as well as being a member of several school clubs, including the Modern Music Masters Society.

Billie Jo Barrier has been an outstanding member of the Rainbow, a member of the junior play cast and ninth grade operetta, and has participated in various civic drives.

Janice Morris, an active participant in several clubs, is now (Continued on Page Six)

How Do You Break The Fast?

Does the breakfast that one eats have anything to do with what he becomes?

Two reporters, set the task of finding out, interviewed athletes, musicians, honor roll students, and just plain people.

Joe Miller, pitcher of a no-hitter, never misses a well-balanced breakfast consisting of an egg, a couple pieces of bacon, milk, toast, and maybe jelly.

Honor Society members, writers, and debaters show variety in their breakfasts. Sue Winn and Lane Brown like eggs, bacon, and orange juice or milk. Myra Carpenter usually eats cake. When asked what she eats, Jo Parks exclaimed, "I don't!"

The faculty members also have to eat. Mrs. Westerlund likes her frozen waffles, coffee, and orange juice for breakfast. Wheaties, eggs, and bacon, or grits with hot chocolate or milk and sometimes coffee, is the ideal breakfast for Mr. Hatley.

Want to be a good wrestler? Well, according to Al Fusonie you should eat bacon, eggs, milk, and cereal, which must have bananas on it. Kenny Furr recommends an egg, orange juice, and Wheaties.

Peggy Smith, student president, prefers a boiled egg and toast and loves cake to begin her day. Omitting the eggs, Jimmy Klutz, junior class president, eats the usual breakfast of bacon, toast, oatmeal, and milk.

Artists such as Marney Lowder, Sammie Holshouser, and Rita Morris like eggs, bacon or maybe ham, toast, coffee or milk, and Rita must have her vitamin tablets.

Pam Treece, Libbie Hatley, and Jerry Lou Holbert, great assets to the music department of AHS, have a well-rounded breakfast. Pam has variety breakfasts, but her favorite is waffles, orange juice, and bacon. Libbie has eggs, bacon, milk and juice, toast, not to mention the jelly. Jerry Lou has a light breakfast of cereal and orange juice.

James "Jungle" Johnson eats the usual things for breakfast, only more of them. He has pancakes or a couple eggs with grits, meat (bacon, sausage, or ham), bread, and a couple glasses of milk.

Ann Bell, a typical ninth grader, likes only toast for breakfast, unless she can eat a bacon sandwich. David Stiller, a tenth grader, on the contrary, always eats toast, eggs, and coffee. Sara Henderson has only a cup of coffee and Gale Whitfield likes saltnines with peanut butter and marshmallows.

These are only a few of the usual or odd breakfasts of AHS students.

Another 'Smith' To Govern AHS

For the second consecutive year a "Smith" will head the AHS Student Council, only instead of a dainty musician named Peggy, it will be a husky football player named Roger, brother of the Smith (Wade) who was president in 1955-'56.

Six hundred and thirty students, an unusually large number, registered to vote in the student elections which made Roger Smith president, Neil Efrid, vice-president; Suzie Napier, secretary; and Sherrill Williams, treasurer of the AHS student body for 1958-'59.

Elections were preceded by campaign speeches, in which the candidates for offices were presented to the students.

Opponents of the winning candidates were Jimmy Miller, president; Charles Brown, vice-president; Suzanne Swindell, secretary; and Bonnie Lowder, treasurer.

The new officers will be installed next fall, at which time they will begin their official duties.

New Senior High Nearing Readiness

The new senior high school is expected to be ready for occupancy in September, all except the gym, according to Albemarle School Superintendent Claud Grigg.

Mr. Grigg also said that the move to a system of junior and senior high schools makes reorganization necessary.

Mr. J. L. Cashwell has been named principal of the new senior high school.

Mr. H. T. "Toby" Webb was elected principal of the junior high school, which will be located in the present high school building. Mr. Webb will continue to work with the football team this fall, however.

The senior high school will consist of the tenth, eleventh, and twelfth grades. The junior high school will include the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades.

The new building will cost in excess of $750,000 and will be one of the best equipped in this area.

BY THEIR WORDS

"Are you going to have a wedding when you get married?" — Molly Holbrook.

"Reggie is the kind of boy that would stay up all night to study for a blood test." — Bill Swan.

"Mickey, I'm going to throw you so far it'll take a six-cent stamp to bring you back." — Coach Webb.

"A fellow that learns by the inch and talks by the yard ought to be kicked out by the foot." — Mr. Hatley.

"Don't blow smoke in my face! You'll fog up my eyeballs!" — Diane Butler.

"When you get married you automatically give up all your rights." — Tim Dry.

"Mrs. Hearne is a woman everyone looks up to." — Charles Delk.

"Over yonder's where we were when I asked if we were coming here." — Max Morgan on the Asheville trip.

"It's what you learn after you know it all that counts." — Reggie Crowell.

"I'm a fugitive from a bean field." — Marie Snuggs.

"The Lord knows what job is good for us, and he told me, 'Nell, teach school.'" — Mrs. Westerlund.

"Jeff, you are in line for being the first one murdered today." — Mrs. Fry.
