

Where Is
The Missing
Full Moon "F"?

THE FULL MOON

For More
Details, Look
On Page 3

Vol. 25 — No. 3

Albemarle Senior High School, Albemarle, N. C.

November 25, 1959

Ann Taylor Reigns As Queen Of Homecoming

As the highlight of the 1959 Homecoming celebration at ASHS, Ann Taylor was crowned Homecoming Queen by Joe Stoker, president of the senior class. Although rain was falling during the halftime celebration of the Albemarle-Landis game, it did not seem to dampen the spirit of the fans. Everyone cheered wildly when the band struck up "Hail To the Varsity" and the dainty crown was placed on Ann's head. The new queen also received a beautiful bouquet of red roses.

To open the Homecoming game, the Bulldogs crashed through a paper bulldog painted by members of the Boosters' Club and ran through a funnel formed by the band.

During halftime all the sponsors walked through a crown and appeared in a spotlight. The band played "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" as the seniors were introduced.

The senior football players and their sponsors are as follows: Charles Brown, Louise Eford; Neil Eford, Mary Jo Winn; Frankie Fenters, Joyce Smith; Ronnie Harwood, Pam Truette; Steven Hill, Becky Basinger; Vance Huneycutt, Sylvia Smith; Larry Hunsucker, Lydia Hearne; Stanley Lambeth, Luray Hatley; Pep Mabry, Ann Whitley; Don Mauldin, Brenda Morris; Joe Medlin, Sylvia Wall; Larry Palmer, Bonnie Lowder; Dudley Roache, Ann Taylor; Ronald Russell, Diane Butler; Johnny Saunders, Becky Helms; David Scarborough, Sharon Smith; Jimmy Stonestreet, Landis Miller; Paul Welch, Susan Ausband; Bobby Whitley, Katherine Montgomery.

Junior football players and their sponsors are as follows: Bill Burbage, Karen Herndon; Jimmy Burris, Trina Holt; Mike Fusonie, Susie Napier; Steve Isenhour, Nancy Langley; Kent Montgomery, Nancy Smith; Craig Morgan, Edith Smith; William Walker, Pam Sells; Mike Wolfe, Linda Haynes.

Sophomore football players and their sponsors are Steve Burleson, Ann Bell; Lloyd Crisco, Kathy Freeman; Bill Crawley, Sharon Lane; Joe Franklin, Pauline Furr; Johnny Furr, Loretta Holt; Tony Furr, Pam Trece; Roy Harker, Pat Black; Lane Lowder, Cecilia Roache; Terry Mabe, Frances Sides; Tommy Mauldin, Rowena Kluttz; Jimmy Nance, Vivian Smith; Raymond Perry, Bobbie Atkins; Arthur Sells, Patsy Turner; Jerry Smith, June Whitley; Larry Solomon, Kaye Laton; Jeff Underwood, Janice Hearne; Kenneth York, Sherry Pegram.

Managers and their sponsors are Bobby Harris, Peggy Jordan; Edward Lowder, Brenda York.

Homecoming events began with a bonfire at Rock Creek Park on Thursday night. Friday was color day, and everyone wore blue and white to school. The cheerleaders had lunch on the Square Friday at noon, and there was a parade through town after school.

The Homecoming Dance was held in the student lounge of the Senior High after the ball game. Decorations included silver footballs with each player's number in blue.

Committee chairmen for Homecoming were: Decorations, Gary Whitley and Marie Snuggs; Parade Committee, Nelson Smith and Jimmy Morris; Halftime Decoration Committee, Luray Hatley and Linda Hayes. The hard work of the Boosters' Club made Homecoming of 1959 one that students will remember.

ASHS Choristers To Sing 'Messiah'

Members of the Senior Mixed Chorus have received an invitation to participate in the presentation of several selections from "The Messiah" at the Memorial Auditorium in Raleigh on December 1.

The presentation at this time marks the culmination of Music Day of Culture Week as sponsored by the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs.

A.S.H.S. singers will join with college singers throughout the state to form the chorus for this spectacular performance. Soloists will be prominent North Carolina artists; guest conductor will be Mr. Earl Slocum of the University of North Carolina. The group will be accompanied by a fifty-piece orchestra.

The entire A.S.H.S. Mixed Chorus will travel to Raleigh that day by chartered bus, and return to Albemarle that night immediately following the performance. The choristers will learn the music before leaving Albemarle, and will arrive in Raleigh in time for lunch and the first rehearsal of the massed chorus at 1 o'clock.

As it would be impossible for the entire chorus to be similarly dressed, the attire for the performance will be dark street dresses and suits, according to Mr. Paul B. Fry, who is a committee member of the North Carolina Federation of Music Clubs.

County And City Students Respond To College Day

College Day, held last Tuesday in the ASHS gym and student lounge between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., saw the seniors and juniors of the high school and their parents meeting with the representatives of well-known colleges, universities, hospitals, business schools, and military institutions.

The representatives came prepared to answer questions on entrance requirements, tuition, extra expenses, curricula, student aid, self-help programs, extracurricular activities, and social life.

Attending College Day with the students of ASHS were members of the senior classes of Norwood, Aquadale, Endy, New London, Millingport, Ridgecrest, Mt. Gilthead, Stanfield, Badin, Oakboro, and Troy.

The gym and student lounge were decked in bright college pennants and insignia, and the hall bulletin boards displayed college announcements and scholarship information.

The annual event is sponsored by the local chapter of the National Honor Society, and is carried out by the members of the honor group. Faculty co-sponsors of the NHS chapter are Mrs. Frank Westerlund and Mrs. Mildred Deese.

By Their Words

"I missed that extra point against Harding because it was froggy."—Johnny Saunders.

"I think Sharon Smith looks the best in her clothes."—Don Mauldin.

"Let's go to the water fountain and get something to eat."—Brenda Herrin.

"How car was that fast going?"—Susan Cashwell.

"I can see triangle ABC but I just can't seem to see triangle CBA."—Stanley Lambert.

"I feel so low sometimes that I have to reach up to touch bottom."—Pat Clemmer.

"I'm going to tell you which superlatives we have and how to vote."—Elaine Morris.

"Oops! Here comes the road."—Landis Miller.

"I hear somebody listening to me."—Mr. Hatley.

"There will be an F.T.A. tea in the teachers' lounge after school today."—Kenny Furr.

"Are people really dead when they are skinned alive?"—Vance Huneycutt.

"I'll come to your funeral and then you come to mine."—Ann Taylor.

ASHS HOMECOMING QUEEN

Miss Ann Taylor, head majorette of the Albemarle Senior High School Marching Band, was crowned Queen of the Homecoming celebration Friday night during half-time festivities of the ASHS-Landis football game. She is shown above receiving her crown from Joe Stoker, senior class president.

—Cut Courtesy Stanly News and Press.

City Government Invasion Accomplished By Students

Albemarle's city government was taken over November 13 by a group of energetic and eager seniors and juniors from ASHS.

This invasion of the normally peaceful city was planned and executed under the supervision of the Albemarle Optimist Club and the Noon Optimist Club. Leading juniors and seniors were selected to take over the various city offices for a day so that they might learn something of their operation.

Taking over the job of mayor was Jimmy Stonestreet. His city council consisted of Harry Whitley, finance commissioner; Mike Ross, police commissioner; John Burchette, fire commissioner; Joe Stoker, street commissioner; and Paul Welch, utilities commissioner. These boys spent the day touring their various departments of government and saw firsthand how they worked.

Working on the law enforcement staff for the day was Police Chief Neil (Jessie) Eford, who, with the help of patrolmen Craven Morton, Johnny Shelton, and John Troublefield, kept the town peaceful and quiet. Johnny Stonestreet kept the police station in order as desk sergeant.

Court was taken over by Judge Charles Brown and Solicitor Kenny Furr.

After spending the day learning the various city government operation, the new officers put their knowledge to good use by drawing up and passing an ordinance to keep Bob Richards, well-known hotel manager from calling his establishment the "Little Waldorf". A warrant was sworn out and he was arrested by Police Chief Eford, who brought him to city hall to face the charges! Bob was tried on charges of "using milk in place of cream for coffee, using oleomargarine instead of butter, serving olives without toothpicks, having airholes in the ice cubes, using wild strawberries on the strawberry shortcake, having natural (open window) air conditioning, undue pressure on customers, misrepresentation of the courses served (one instead of five and beg for the second), and last but not least, undue boredom to customers by corny jokes of said manager." After some discussion, it was decided that since it was all in fun, the charges would be dropped and Mr. Richards was acquitted.

All in all, the day was one that will be long remembered by those who participated.

CITY FATHERS FOR A DAY

Seated around the council table, left to right, are: Joe Stoker, street commissioner; Mike Ross, police commissioner; Paul Welch, utilities commissioner; Mayor Moose; Mayor Jimmy Stonestreet;

John Burchette, fire commissioner, and Harry Whitley, finance commissioner.

—Cut Courtesy Stanly News and Press.