Vol. 36 — No. 3

Albemarle Senior High School

Nov. 5, 1970

Generation Gap Bridged

Robert Crowl, Darryl Wagoner, and George Lewis of North Stanly, and Carolyn Nance, Libby Adams, David Carpenter, Brian Garber, and David Adams of Senior High, attended a special Youth Day Program of the Albemarle Rotary Club, Thursday, October 16.

The program, a highlight of a special Youth Appreciation Week, featured Assistant Chief Ed Webster of the Albemarle Police Department as program speaker.

Webster's topic, "Is Drug Abuse a Local Problem?" dealt mainly with the use of marijuana around Albemarle. Giving recognizable results, Webster explained where the drug comes from and how to deal with it.

A question and answer period followed the program.

Also present for the special program was Mr. Don Frey, new Juvenile Officer of the Albemarle Youth Bureau.

Jay Dustin, student Rotarian for October, also attended the Youth Day Program.

Phika Takes Part

Pihka Leppanen was guest speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon Thursday, October 22, at the Heart of Albemarle Motel.

After an introduction by Susan Dry, Pihka spoke about life in Finland centering on their government, school, and dress.

The dinner was buffet style.

Also present was Jay Dustin, student Rotarian, who spoke on school activities for the coming week.

Delegates Report

Anita Russell of South Stanly and Julie Deese of Senior High presented a program to the Albemarle Civitan Club Tuesday, October 27.

The girls, guests at the group's dinner meeting, spoke to the members concerning the Civitan Youth Conference, which they attended this past summer the week of June 14-21.

Julie explained the daily schedule and the week's special groups and activities.

Anita concluded the presentation by revealing to the club members exactly what the conference provided for every individual who attended.

The local club sends one delegate each from Senior High, South Stanly, and West Stanly every summer as their representatives to this conference. Youth attend from North and South Carolina.

Julie and Anita attended last year, along with Terry Eford of West Stanly.

Seniors Win Candython

The Class of '71 succeeded in gaining first place in the annual World's Finest Chocolate Sale. Sophomores ranked second in sales; the Junior Class came in last.

The sale which ended Thursday, October 15, topped the annual goal of $5000 with a sale of $5,300.

Mrs. Sibyl Brown's homeroom ranked first in homeroom sales, and the class is now planning a trip to Charlotte as their prize.

Debbie Parker, selling $252 worth of chocolate, earned the first prize of $30.

Linda Sides with $180, and Wayne Eury with $138, earned second and third prizes of $20 and $15, respectively.

The six fourth place awards of $5 went to Brenda Patterson, selling $64 worth, Renee Brown, $53.50, Debbie Newton, $50.50, Debbie Lowder, $48, and Perry Montgomery, $47.50. Peggy Morton and Beverly Sanges tied for the final $5 prize. Both girls sold $36 worth of chocolate.

Paul Hudson, William Hill, Ivey Smith, and Jimmy Boyd

Student directories, compiled by Susan Blalock and typed by Mrs. Gehring's typing II classes, went on sale Thursday, October 21 at the school store.

The students mimeographed 200 copies. The price of the production is 25 cents a copy.

The booklets provide names, mailing addresses, and telephone numbers of the school board, administration, faculty, and students of Senior High.

Lynn Chvington designed the front cover of the directory, which shows a Bulldog talking on a telephone.

The school store, which moved from the student lounge to the lobby, also provides pencils, paper, rulers, and many other school supplies.

received $4.50 when they each found a Mystery Buyer.

The money from the chocolate sale goes to finance student council and club projects.

October's Faces In Focus are Susan Lowder and Doug Hahn.

Susan, who is serving as chief majorette this year, played in the band for three years before she became a majorette in her sophomore year. As a student council representative, Susan is chairman of the bulletin board committee for the student lounge.

Susan is an inducted member of the National Honor Society and Modern Music Masters. She is also serving as a chaplain of F.T.A. And, she is a marshal.

Doug Hahn is a member of the Boosters' and Science Clubs.

Doug, who served on committees for the prom and homecoming, continues to use his art talents to serve his school.

He voluntarily made a Bulldog mascot, which is displayed at the pep rallies and the games.

Doug is also on the service committee of the student council.

Two moderators, preferably one black and one white, will be selected. These positions may be permanent or alternate.

If it is necessary, the council may elect an advisor. The principal may attend meetings if invited.

Kelley Captures Crown

Football Homecoming Queen 1970, elected by the Varsity team, is Ellen Kelley, senior. Sponsoring Hal Brown, co-captain, she reigns over her court.

The Booster's Club selected Janis Holder, sponsoring Bill DeTorre, and Teresa Price, sponsoring Roger Hudson, to represent the Senior Class on the court.

Peggy Wagoner, sponsoring Donnie Eddins, and Marianne Crisco, sponsoring Tony Morton, won positions of junior court.

Singers Solo

Ten Varsity Singer students traveled to Garringer High School Tuesday night, October 20, to audition for an upcoming choral clinic.

Mrs. Gene Dry and Mr. Paul Fry, director, drove Cy Winecoff, Pihka Leppanen, Cathy Sinclair, Steve Sinclair, David Mauney, Sally McLester, Becky Jo Clark, Sandra Pollard, Kenny Tucker, and Ellen Mabry to the site.

Students performed individually by singing either a solo or a part in a song. Two judges decided the most outstanding presentations. They will notify winners by mail.

Vocalists most eligible for the future Mars Hill Choral Clinic will be chosen from these performances. February 5-6, 1971, a two-day program will honor the best singing groups in the entire state.

Anne Eudy, Federal Pacific; Elaine Scott, Stanly County Hospital.

The VICA Club, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bourne, met at Olympic High School in Charlotte for a District Conference, October 20.

Moonbeams

Speed Breaks

The city of Albemarle began a campaign against parking lot speeders Monday, October 12. The city added speed-breakers to slow down the movements of cars in the school parking lot.
