Spec-Talo-Scope IV

Talent Steals The Show

The Junior Class presented Spec-Talo-Scope IV, their major money-making project for the Junior-Senior Prom, Friday evening, November 13 in the auditorium at 7:30 p.m.

Becky Jo Clark won a trophy for her presentations in the song category. She sang "Where is Love" and "Cabaret". Mike Bunting accompanied Becky Jo on the piano.

The Enmity Circle, featuring John Clark, Joey Russell, Mike Sides, Robert Whitley, and Cy Winecoff, came out on top in the instrumental category. The group performed "Closer to Home" and "Born to be Wild".

The ballet dance performed by Lou Ann Mills to "Lover's Concerto" captured first prize in the dance competition.

A comedy act entitled "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" presented by Libby Adams, Meg Anderson, Sue Ellen Beal, William Hill, Marlyn Massey, Carolyn Nance, Steve Sinclair, and Reid Squires, grabbed first place in the comedy division.

Judges for the occasion were Dr. Richard Brewer, Head of the Music Department at Pfeiffer

College; Roger Gramling, President of Student Government Association at Pfeiffer and President of Southeastern University Student Government Association; and Mrs. Jane York, dance instructor from Albemarle.

Following intermission, held after the first nine acts, the Junior Class presented their two class sponsors, Miss Sharon McKenzie and Miss Susan Smith, with a dozen red roses and a gift.

Also featured in the song category were Anne Harris, singing "Leaving on a Jet Plane," accompanied by Linda Almond on the guitar; Carol Connell, "End of the World," accompanied by pianist Joan Hatley; Sharon Baucom, "I'm Never Gonna Fall in Love Again," accompanied by Joan Hatley on the piano; and Yvone King, "Born Free," accompanied by Sam Andrew on the piano.

The second group entered in the instrumental section was The New Error. This group, composed of Linda Bogle, Jimmy Boyd, Debra Bryson, Ann Cauble, David Gore, Randy Gore, Jackie Holt, Phillip Lowder, Perry Montgomery, Beth Smith, Ellen Still, and Philip Whitehead, performed two numbers, "Port-au-Prince" and "Tijuana Brass".

Other performers in the dance category were Joy Early and Lorraine Thompson dancing the Charleston; Jan Mills, Lou Ann Mills, and Cheryl Sikes, performing a gypsy medley; The Globetrotteretts, composed of Linda Almond, Susan Andrew, Susan Blalock, and Sharon Russell, performing a tap dance to "Sweet Georgia Brown"; and Patti Hopkins and Andrea Lowder dancing to "The Night They Raided Minski's".

Other comedy acts were "The Hub Sorority" featuring Teresa Price, Peggy Morton, Becky Smith, Linda Poplin, and Donna Smith; "On the Good Ship Lollipop" by Sheila Flowe; and "Frontier Mortician," starring Anne Copeland, Deborah Earnhardt, Jeff Gaskin, Ellen Mabry, Sally McLester, Beth Smith, and Reid Squires.

The Dekades, a combo composed of Jimmy Boyd, Ken Burselson, Bobby Dobbs, Phillip Lowder, Tony Morton, Tony Oettinger, and David Sutton, performed thirty minutes prior to the opening of the show.

The group also played for the sock hop held afterwards in the gymnasium. Admission for the dance, which lasted until 11:30 p.m., was 25c per person.

Stage crew members were Tim Fesperman, Mike Hatley, Mike Laton, lights; Donny Hamilton, Glenn Lowder, Julian Rogers, Dana Ross, Danny Ross, and Steve Whitley.

Dance committee chairman was Linda Almond. Anne Harris, Cindy Kelly, and Peggy Youngblood worked on the publicity committee. And, Sharon Russell headed the decorations committee.

Although the representation was not limited to Senior Class members, only senior girls were considered as candidates for the honor.

The judges, who were members of the Albemarle Junior Chamber of Commerce, selected the winner by viewing individual pictures of each senior candidate.

The winner was announced Thursday, November 19.

Each nominee will ride in the Christmas parade Monday, November 30.

Moonbeams

Lion and Rotarian

Student Lion for the month of November is Steve Blalock. Doug Pinkston is Student Rotarian.

State Represented

Representatives from North Carolina State University will present an assembly program Thursday, December 3, second period.

The entire student body will view the program entitled "The Atom World." The representatives will remain to speak to Mr. Burkhardt's fifth period chemistry and sixth period physics classes.

Sit-in at SAT

The second and final date that SAT will be administered at Senior High this year is Saturday, December 5. Both seniors and juniors may participate.

Achievement tests will also be given on that day. Only seven of these tests, American History and Social Studies, Biology, Chemistry, English Composition, Mathematics Level I, Mathematics Level II, and Physics, are available for this school.

Every senior should check the catalogs of the schools where he plans to apply for admission next year to see which achievement tests he will be required to take.

If these tests are not available here, the student should see Mrs. Smith to find out when this test will be given at the nearest location to this area.

A Musical Note

The Choral Department will give a Christmas concert Saturday, December 5.

Thursday, December 10 is the date for the Concert Band's performance of Christmas music.

Carolina Counsels

Mr. Bently Renwick, a representative of UNC-Chapel Hill, will meet with all seniors who are interested in attending Carolina Wednesday, December 16, at 2:00 p.m. in the auditorium.

Award At 'Steak'

Senior girls will compete for the title of "American Homemaker of Tomorrow" and the Betty Crocker Award December 1.

On this date, the comprehensive knowledge and attitude test will be given in schools across the country.

The test measures general information and understanding of such subjects as family budgeting, buying, home furnishing, child care, and involvement in community life.

The Betty Crocker Search is on the National Association of Secondary School Principals' advisory list of contestants and activities for 1970-71.

Now in its seventeenth year, the program has already provided more than $1,700,000 in college scholarships to deserving senior girls.

Participation in the Betty Crocker search offers senior girls the opportunity to earn a college scholarship of $500 to $5,000, awarded by General Mills. The national winner will receive $5,000 with $4,000, $3,000, and $2,000 awarded to second, third, and fourth place national winners, respectively.

First place winners in each state receive $1,500. A $500 prize is given to the state second runner up. The girl rating highest in each school will receive a pin presented on Awards Day.

All high schools in the fifty states and the District of Columbia are eligible to participate.

Crossroads On The Way Up

The 1969-70 Crossroads, notified Wednesday, November 4, ranks fourth in Columbia Scholastic Press Association competition.

The yearbook received 612 points out of a possible 1000. Last year's annual was graded on motif, layout, and other areas.

Carolyn Nance now serves as editor-in-chief of the 1970-71 yearbook. Susan Chandler and Steve Blalock are assistant editors, and Sue Ellen Beal is business manager. Miss Ann Thomason serves as advisor for the group.

Other staff members are Marcia Carlson, Gail Harrington, Teresa Phillips, Lew Smith, Ginny Deese, Missy Campbell, Ellen Kelley, Susan Dry, Debbie Neel, Linda Almond, Debra Madaris, Harold Overcash, Beverly Sanges, and Donna Smith.

Selected Seniors Stand Out

Nominees for the 1971 Outstanding Teenagers of America are Becky Jo Clark, Nancy Weydell, Steve Blalock, and Doug Pinkston.

Chosen from the Senior Class, these four are in competition with students from high schools across the state. One North Carolina winner will be chosen to compete with 49 other state winners.

All nominees must be students "whose actions and efforts bear the mark of excellence, and whose service to their schools and communities is exceptional." Basis of selection includes leadership ability, unusual talents, academic achievement, and community service.

The purpose of this program is to single out students of talent and ability and to encourage them toward the highest degree of development.

Bob Hope salutes these Outstanding Teenagers. "It is with great pleasure that I salute each of you chosen as Outstanding

The following senior girls were candidates for 1970 Miss Merry Christmas: Paulette Barrier, representing Boosters Club; Cynthia Coble, Future Homemakers of America; Lydia Fields, Monogram Club; Kathleen Harbers, Junior Civitans; Betsy Harrington, Modern Music Masters; Pihka Leppanen, National Honor Society; Debbie Jo Lowder, DECA; Susan Lowder, Future Teachers of America; Marlyn Massey, Forensics Club; Peggy Morton, Library Club; Gail Waller, Health Careers Club; and Carol Spence, VICA.

This year, for the first time, each club sponsored a nominee for Miss Merry Christmas.

Teenagers of America. You have achieved a high honor of which your country, your parents, and I, personally, are proud. Possessing recognized talents and leadership, you are now on the threshold of setting new goals for yourself — goals that will shape not only your future but the destiny of your country."
