

International Organization Uncovered

The Full Moon staff has uncovered a mastermind plot to take over the United States Government.

Che Moutous, better known as Jorge Eduardo Moutous, foreign exchange student, started his mission by hijacking a plane from Argentine to Cuba. There, he received special instruction from Fidel Castro in person.

Camouflaged in an AFS plane, he arrived in New York and joined other infiltrators to execute their plans for the takeover.

Each of these infiltrators went to different schools all over the country to carry out their masquerade. As foreign exchange students.

Che Moutous came to Albemarle and established the headquarters at the residence of a family noted for leading war protests and aiding communist inclinations in this area.

Working together, these public enemies carried out their fiendish plan to over-throw the democratic government of Stanly County. During the first part of the year, Che played the role of a genuine foreign exchange student to perfection. He participated in some "innocent" activities such as football, and track, working his way into the hearts of the faithful fans of ASHS, by his demagogery abilities received in Cuba, he wormed his way to the vice presidency of the National Honor Society, president of his homeroom, and sergeant-of-arms of the Monogram Club.

Under this camouflage was the terrific plan of undermining the public security.

His principal area of activity was Morrow Mountain State Park, where supposedly riding horses purely for pleasure, he contacted the different lower leaders of underground movement.

His arsenal increased every minute. Since it was impossible for him to keep his weapons in his headquarters, he found another Kakeiwnfm oekdmc, xk dm-wueiwoqp ejikl ekwoq ekwoqmc place: the Morrow Mountain State Park outhouses.

The unofficial information we have received is that after Easter Vacation, April 4 or 5 (date not yet set) the "guerilla" commands will attack Albemarle Senior High school, riding Che's special trained war horse. They will bomb the office of Mr. Warren Hawkins, known throughout the world for his cooperation in fighting communism and considered one of the brightest brains in the American Intelligence Service.

All of the information about Che Moutous's devious underground movement has been obtained by secret bugs of the Full Moon Staff.

All students should join to prevent their outrageous show of diplomatic interference by foreign agents.

CIA Chemists In Action

Chemistry lab can be a shocking experience-especially if you lick your finger and stick it in the socket.

Various experiments can be performed with the use of precision laboratory equipment. Operations include delivering babies with delivery tubes, toasting marshmallows over a bunsen burner, drinking contests (water, dears!) out of graduated cylinders. John Baugh-tomless pit holds the world's record with 200 milliliters at one gulp.

A sign remained posted over the sink that says "BEWARE OF THE HORNE-Y SPATULA." Need gas? - report to the chemistry lab. Got gas? - report to the restroom.

THE FOOL MOON

Vol. 179, No. 17 Albemarle Sr. High School, Badin, N. C. April 1, 1972

FACE IN FOCUS

Wendy Lister is the March "Face In Focus". Wendy lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Lister, and her sister, Karen on Valleyview Drive.

A senior, Wendy is an important member of the student body. She is a member of Student Council and National Honor Society. In her third year of German, Wendy is a member of the German Club. She is also co-editor of The Clairvoyant.

An active member of the Boosters' Club and the varsity Cheerleading Squad, Wendy is very school-spirited. She is also captain of the Gymnastics Team. Wendy placed first in the A.A.U meet at Lebanon in the balance beam competition, and placed third in the state finals.

Minicourses At NSHS

Eddie and his band of merry redskins had an Indian uprising last week. (Note: There will be no last names in this story. For those who took part, you know who you are.)

It all started in Spanish Class. (Being part Indian and your favorite on the-spot reporter, I just had to take part.) Mrs. O'Guin, being the teacher that she is, said something to Eddie that upset him very much. She found this out as she hung upside down outside the window. After calling together all our fellow followers and a few white sympathizers, we met in a war council. At the suggestion of Gil, alias Sitting Bull, we proceeded to the office.

Our gallant leader, Crazy Horse, on his trusty steed Charlie, went back to pull the teacher back inside. He returned shortly, dragging her behind him.

We had planned to burn her at the stake outside Mr. Hawkins office, but by this time she was unconscious and it wouldn't have been any fun. After another council, we let her go in favor of a more promising victim. We really did the school a service when we made up our minds.

Buddy Red Cloud suggested we string up Reid Squires, and let his flapping tongue flap awhile in the breeze as he hung on the flagpole.

Three Indians: A blond, a brunette, and a redhead went to capture our unsuspecting sacrifice. Just as we brought him back, the Seventh Calvary blundered down the halls, Sarge "Poncho" McKenzie at their head. Reid broke away and ran screaming down the halls as his rescuers drew closer.

Chief "Julian" Rain-in-the-Face led our attack. We quickly surrounded the bewildered Army and drove them outside and down the Palestine Road. As we returned to the school, we were greeted by the cheers of onlooking students.

Charlie, for his part in the uprising, received a great award.

He was installed as the new president of the Student Body. Reid will take Charlie's place as the horse of Crazy Horse. It was heard that he would make a better horse than president.

Lynn, for her concern and for being the only real squaw (she just happens to belong to Eddie!) was given the best prize of all: the scalp of Poncho to hang in her wigwam by the river Git-cheegomee to keep her warm on those long winter nights when her crazy Crazy Horse goes riding off into the sunset to save more of his fellow men.

Anyone For Tennis?

Look out, Dick Clark! One of Albemarle's own is moving in on you!

The Fool Moon staff unanimously voted Norton Pease as "Albemarle's Oldest Teenager," mainly because there is no one else his age here to take the title.

For those of you who don't know Norton (also known as Nort and Nor-ton), he is the spectator who yells the loudest at the ball games. This may not seem significant, but just sit in front of him at a game and you'll understand.

A 1965 graduate (?) of ASHS, Norton was president of the NAANP. This fine organization was the National Association for the Advancement of Norton Pease. Forerunners of today's hippies, the NAANP members spent most of their time thinking up ways to get out of work, to sneak out of school, and to make it hard on teachers.

After graduation, Norton served four years in the Air Force. Fifteen months of this term he was at Elmendorf Air Force Base, Anchorage, Alaska.

However, the government transferred him after his attempt to sell refrigerators to the Eskimos. The only hitch was no electrical outlets in the igloos.

Norton and his fantastic flying machine, as his blue Corvair is sometimes called, can be seen just about anywhere at anytime. However, he is usually never where he's supposed to be and always where he shouldn't be.

In his off hours from classes at CPCC, the Norton hangs out at the Mall, the YMCA, and Prince of Pizza. During the summer, his favorite spot is the local Putt-Putt, where he runs "Norton's Friendly Putt-Putt Club." Only people he can beat at Putt-Putt are eligible for membership.

Norton is also the star catcher for the West Albemarle Baptist Church Softball Team. Showing true devotion for his team, he duck walks everywhere he goes to keep in shape. It's a little rough going off the diving board in that position, but that's just an example of real loyalty.

Norton is a friend to all students at ASHS. He helps many with their problems, mostly the girls (we won't mention any names). He gives them advice, does undercover work, and is an all-around pal.

Nort is very qualified for the position of "Albemarle's Oldest Teenager." He is now searching for someone to take his place, should he decide to give up his acclaimed title. We can only hope he will stay around a little longer to brighten up the scenery of our fair town, and contribute something to everyone's day. Keep up the good work, Norton!

(Since this illustrious character is my brother and I have lived with him for 16 years, I feel proud to write about him. He's really a great guy, and the best brother a girl could have. And that's the truth!)

Mrs. Mildred L. Deese, French teacher at ASHS, has been selected as a participant in the Summer Institute for teachers of foreign languages to be held at Appalachian State Teachers College, Boone, June 19-August 11, 1961.

The purpose of the institute is to improve the audio-lingual proficiency of the high school teachers and to introduce them to the newest teaching methods and techniques.

Mrs. Deese was one of the 48 participants chosen out of a group of over 200 completed applications. It is considered an honor for any teacher to be selected for this work.
