FIFTH GRADE NEWS

Since this is Book ~~Week~~ the fifth grade wanted to celebrate it. Last week was National Education Week so the fifth grade dressed up as some of their favorite characters in some of their favorite books.

We celebrated it in National Education Week so that everyone could get ready for Book Week.

We went to all the rooms and they thought we were funny.

Jack Crisp said a very nice poem called "Books." It was written by Marjorie Knapp.

That day all of the fifth grade had fun.

FOURTH GRADE NEWS

We are now studying about the first Thanksgiving. We have been coloring some very pretty pictures. Also we have been memorizing some poems.

Margie Edwards brought a story book about the first Thanksgiving. We are working out a play on Thanksgiving.

Douglas Potts attended the football game at Clemson, South Carolina. He sat in the upper deck.

Wallace has just celebrated his tenth birthday. His uncle gave him a watch. He enjoyed it in spite of being ducked four times.

Jimmy Bryson reported a good time on his visit to White Water Falls, Sunday. The falls are about 500 feet long.

FIRST GRADE NEWS

Our class has a Writing Hospital. In the beginning everyone was a patient. We have spent a great deal of time and effort on mal-formation, power alignment and incorrect spacing!! You should see those capital and small letters. Two-thirds of our patients have recovered and have been discharged from the Writing Hospital. Now they are serving on the hospital staff, the boys as doctors, the girls as nurses.

The remaining patients are improving. With such an efficient staff complete recovery is assured.

MRS. BROWN'S FIRST GRADE NEWS

At this time there are twenty-four little boys and girls in our first grade. We have lost four boys and one girl. Ralph moved to Florida, David to Ohio, Terry and Gerry to Virginia and Gladys is attending Glenville School. We are working hard learning to read, write, and do number work.

Shirley is going to be one of the mascots this year.
