

BIOLOGY AND WORLD HISTORY NOT TO BE REQUIRED

Beginning with the class of 1966 two of the now requisite sophomore courses will no longer be necessary for graduation. This announcement was made by Mr. Wade Mobley, county superintendent of schools. He also stated that two new courses will probably be offered to take care of any students who will not choose biology or world history during their sophomore year. Mr. Mobley stated that a more fully detailed report would be submitted by the county school board at a later time.

LONG PLACES SECOND AT SCIENCE FAIR

Richard Long won second place in the Senior Piedmont Science Fair held Saturday, March 21, in Charlotte.

The title of Richard's project is "The Analysis of Rare Earths by Use of a

JUNIOR-SENIOR THEME OUT

From all indications, it looks like those Juniors are in full swing getting ready for an enchanting evening on April seventeenth. Although everything is supposed to be top secret, some things are just too BIG to keep.

Upon arrival at this exotic night spot, each Senior girl will receive a baby orchid imported directly from Hawaii, while each Senior boy will be presented a red boutonniere. These new ideas are being carried out because of excessive funds of the Junior Class.

Through inside connections with a recording company in Chicago, the Juniors have engaged some nationally famous entertainment. After dancing to the fabulous orchestra of Lawrence Welk, a floorshow will be presented in honor of our Seniors. Feature attractions will be that terrific song and

STUDENT PRIVILEGES

The principals of East and West Montgomery recently met to discuss possibilities of joint student privileges. During their conference many ideas were exchanged but one was finally preferred by both men. Their suggestion is that both senior classes be allowed a total of five school days during which they may take some enlightening and worthwhile trips, each school separately or as one body if the classes so choose. Historic New England, Washington, D.C., and New York City were three possibilities mentioned.

In order for anything of this nature to be feasible, the principals stated that a certain percentage of students must plan to go and that number must also be willing to make up before and/or after any school work missed during their absence.
