

A New York model with poise and charm
 Is Mary Frances Webster so don't be alarmed.
 You'll see her face on books galore
 For as a model she surely did soar.
 Turn your dial and hear her sing
 For Elizabeth Burleson is a second Bing
 A radio star with hair so red
 That's why Lib has gotten ahead.
 While his wife stays home and prepares his meal
 O. D. Leach works with strength and zeal
 He's busy inventing un-breakable china
 So when a dish is thrown his cuts will be minor.
 Mrs. Joy Stroud in home so neat
 Likes to wash, clean and cook.
 Her husband thinks she's smart and sweet
 They're happy in their own little comfortable nook.
 A career girl—smartest in Paree!
 Frances Foster—well known is she.
 Her work brings her admirers galore
 That's why the other girls at her are sore.
 Filing nails and waving hair
 Is what Margaret Burney does with skill and care.
 Visit her shop just any time
 She'll fix you up so you'll be divine.
 A busy photographer who was blessed with luck
 Pay him a visit and get "your beauty struck"
 Wray Hutchens with his million dollar smile
 As through his doors the customers file.
 Making beds and rolling dough
 That's how Mrs. Carrie Dell's housework goes.
 A loving wife with sweet disposition
 Realizing at last her great ambition.

Oh, who in riding habit do I see
 Managing Sedgefield's Riding Academy?
 Mary Alice Johnson—could it be
 Who's continually shouting "whoa" and "gee"?
 None other than our own dear Phyllis McGehee.
 She's very experienced—her advice please take
 And don't marry the wrong one just by mistake!
 Beech-Nut chewing gum is Georgia Kersey's hobby
 As she distributes samples in New York lobbies.
 Her costume is flashing, daring and gay
 And her smile so white as she bids you good day.
 An old maid school teacher so pretty and wise
 Is teaching her pupils to tell no lies.
 Miss Evelyn Cuddle must be sincere
 Or she wouldn't pass the men by year after year.
 Wearing clothes so smart and a bright smile, too
 Mary Frances Crowell is a typist new—
 Her boss she likes— isn't that nice?
 To say she's engaged—won't that suffice?
 Martha Raye Spencer so easy on your eyes
 Is now at home making Harold some pies.
 She enjoys married life and thinks it is nice
 And hopes it will always be "sugar and spice"?
 Some worthwhile advice to Jean Donaghy I send
 Don't hit O. D. with your rolling pin.
 He's a sensitive man—so I am told
 And must be always "to have and to hold"!
 A familiar face bursts on my sight
 As I walk through Duke Hospital on this lovely night.
 It's Rosella Modlin in a head nurse's gown
 Quietly taking her patients' charts down.
 A "lady of leisure" with riches and wealth
 Is travelling in Switzerland just for her health.
 Ruth Thornton in person, that tall brunette
 Is sick of her husband—what do you bet?
 Pumping gas at his filling station
 Is Eloral Hennis' daily occupation.
 His gas is cheap and good to use
 A write up about it appears in the "News".
 She's busy at Woolworth's selling booties
 And also little stockings to cover their knees.
 'Tis Louise Landreth selling goods for the baby
 And her favorite song is that popular "Maybe".

You may call it "trucking" or the "Susie Q"
 But driving a truck is what he likes most to do.
 Junnie Hester as he sits at the wheel
 Is always hungry for a homecooked meal.

She'll drape your windows for a neat little price
 She's an interior decorator whose work is so nice
 Miss Fleta Mae Richardson so blond and so fair
 Who carries her head with a professional air.

Wearing a uniform a string of pearls
 Louise La Prade is seen twisting curls.
 Yes, a beauty parlor operator—no doubt of that
 She's curling your hair for that new summer hat.

Typing letters both accurate and neat
 Is Harriet Murray so charming and sweet
 She's making progress for typing's her din
 But for the newspaper staff she often does wish.

A pitchin' hard for Cincinnati's Reds
 Is James Stewart that midget black-head.
 He's made a fortune and is liked by all
 That champion pitcher of dear baseball.

Painting houses both red and white
 That W. C. Mangum sure is a sight.
 He's climbing the ladder to fame we know.
 And to the top he's destined to go.

Frances Turner so tall and slim
 Spends her time keeping house for Jim.
 He has gobs of money to throw away
 And Frances helps spend it every day.

Tho voted lazy by the Senior Class
 Lois Neese is at work at last.
 She's washing plates at Tony's Cafe
 And her fame is growing day by day.
