

MANY ENJOY PIANO RECITAL

All who heard the piano recital given by Miss Clarisse Brooks on Thursday afternoon, April 14, will agree that she is thrice blessed. She has mentality, temperament and technical ability. All this enables Miss Brooks to carry through a varied program with distinction. In the first number, prelude and fugue C minor by Bach, was displayed especially a brilliant certainty of technique. However, the skill of this student was best shown in the Rondo Op. 2, No. 2 by Beethoven.

Program

Prelude and Fugue C Minor.....Bach
Prelude ..... Palmgren
Nocturne ..... Esipoff

Largo, Op. 10, No. 3.....Beethoven
Rondo, Op. 2, No. 2.....Beethoven

Nocturne ..... Field
Impromptu, Op. 142.....Shubert
Andante and Rondo Capriccioso....Mendelssohn

The following were ushers: Kathleen Nolan, Joyce Edwards, Annie Clifford, Gladys Beam, Hattie Sawyer, and Marie Fleming.

AND STILL SHE LIVES

All of the following happened to a modern young girl in a single day, according to her: "It was a perfect torture to get up this morning."

"This room is so hot; I'm cooked alive."

"The light here is so poor, I'm fairly blind."

"I've gone crazy over sitting."

"Speak louder; I can't hear a thing."

"I was petrified."

"Her impudence makes me simply wild."

"Do shut that window; I'm frozen stiff."

"I'm so tired I can't move."

"My clothes are worn to tatters."

"I was perfectly dumb."

"You make me sick."

"I'm completely exhausted."

"It was so funny, I was just splitting."

"I'm simply stuffed."

"That Bill Watkins drove me insane."

"Tennis till I had dropped."

"I nearly had a fit."

"My dear! I'm just DEAD."

"THE AGONISTIC."

CO-OPERATION IS BEST

What makes a college? Its student body you answer. What supports a college newspaper? The student body. If they fall down on the job, what then? Failure. Surely, no new enterprise starts out on its career with failure and disappointment staring it in the face. And "The Twig" has success before it—written in large, glowing letters. But this success depends on you. Yes, you who have paid your subscription fee—Thank you. And equally does it depend on you who haven't co-operated and given the small sum which we need. We'll come through all right, but we want everybody to have a part in the success of our journalistic project. Come on, lend a helping hand. We knew you would. Thank you.

EMINENT MAN OF LETTERS ADDRESSES CLUB

The International Relations Club on Thursday evening, April 21 was fortunate in hearing Dr. Lindsey Rogers, who spoke on "Labor and International Affairs." Dr. Rogers, a man of superior education and brilliant intellect, now professor of government at Harvard University, was formerly connected with the University of Virginia and is rapidly gaining recognition for his authority on labor questions.

In the course of his address Dr. Rogers stated that all present troubles could be traced either to labor or to international relations. These factors are the cause of our disturbed internal and foreign conditions. Burke in 1773 took up the question of international relations both with the colonies and with France. He proved to be a sincere prophet in this respect. It was his distinction to see the storms which were gathering over England at that time. Naturally in the present age conditions are far more complicated and serious. Burke considers only the legal aspect. Now the economic and social are demanding attention. All labor unions favored international peace and yet labor as a whole played no important part in stopping the war. They did their bit at the front, in the factories, on the sea, while peace was made by the higher powers.

Dr. Rogers goes on to say that if the nations as a whole continue to progress, in the next war, women will be eligible for the army as well as men and will carry muskets along with their brothers if muskets will not have by that time become a thing of the past. At the same time the spirit of Liberalism or Democracy has risen and now the proletariat is coming into its own. It is the duty and privilege of labor to come to terms with the leaders, thus all international troubles will come to a satisfactory conclusion.

Dr. Rogers is an interesting speaker, one who presents his topic clearly and with facility. His discussion showed deep thought and precision. Yet withal it held a touch of quiet humor which was highly satisfactory to all.

FRESHMEN WIN FIRST OF TENNIS MATCHES

The first game of the championship series between the Juniors and Freshmen was played at 4:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, April 22d. Throughout the game the excitement never lagged for both teams showed excellent training and the contest was hot.

After an hour and a half of hard playing the Freshmen won the first and third sets. The Freshmen were represented by Gladys Gibbs and Annie Louise Neese, while Sarah Nooe and Beatrice Nye played for the Juniors.
