MISS HIGGS IS BRIDE OF WILLIAM EVERETT

Greenville, April 5.—A wedding characterized by simple dignity and unusual beauty occurred at the Emmanuel Baptist church on Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock, when Miss Marguerite Annie Higgs and William Robert Everett, of Scotland Neck, were married. The church was elaborately and effectively decorated and was aglow with the cheerful yellow and white of early spring flowers. The whole pulpit and choir loft were covered with white and were banked with palms, ferns and smilax, and against this lovely background myriads of jonquils, daisies and lillies were arranged. In the center of the pulpit were three tall white wicker floor vases filled with calla lillies and the pews reserved for the relatives and closest friends of the bride and bridegroom were also marked with floor vases filled with calla lillies and smilax and tied with yellow tulle. The whole made a most effective setting for the costumes of the bridal party, which shaded from Chinese yellow to the rich golden brown of the bride's gown.

Miss Bertolett, of the Greenville Teachers' college, played the wedding music, and Miss Helen Higgs, who wore a frock of peach crepe, sang the ever-loved Schuberts "Serenade."

Dr. R. T. Vann of Raleigh, who officiated at the wedding of the bride's parents and also at that of her sister, performed the ceremony, assisted by Dr. T. H. Plemmons, the bride's pastor.

Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as a processional, and at its first notes the ministers took their places. They were followed by the ushers who entered by the three aisles at the same time. They were S. J. Everett of Greenville, and B. B. Everett of Palmyra, brothers of the bridegroom and Shields Alexander, of Scotland Neck. The bride's attendants were her three sisters, Misses Madeline and Elizabeth Higgs entered by opposite aisles. Both wore charming morning frocks, one of sunset silk crepe and the other of Chinese yellow. They wore hats of sunset taffeta trimmed with flowers and brown velvet ribbon and their slippers were bronze. They carried beautiful arm bouquets of yellow daisies and sunset snap-dragon.

The bride walked with her sister and dame of honor, Mrs. John D. Humber, of San Francisco, and they were preceded by the little ring bearer, Jack Lynch, of Duke, who carried the ring in a calla lily. The bridegroom, accompanied by his best man, R. D. Everett, of Durham, met his bride at the altar. The dame of honor wore a satin crepe gown of antique gold and a hat like those of her sisters. She carried snapdragons and daisies. The bride's gown was a lovely one of perfect brown crepe roma trimmed with bronze beads. She wore bronze slippers and brown hat and gloves. Her bouquet was of Bride roses, showered with lillies of the valley.

An interesting feature of the ceremony was the use of the wedding ring of Miss Higgs' grandmother, the late Mrs. Margaret Shields, of Scotland Neck. The bride is the oldest granddaughter and was always a favorite of Mrs. Shields, and it was beautifully appropriate that she should use her grandmother's wedding ring.

The grand march from Tanhauser was used as a recessional.

Mrs. Everett is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Higgs. She is a graduate of Meredith College and of Simmons College in Boston. She has traveled extensively and by her charm and culture and genuine strength of character has won for herself the love and admiration of a host of friends wherever she has gone. She has been very active in the church and club life of her town and will be greatly missed.

Mr. Everett was educated at the University of North Carolina and the North Carolina State College. He is a prominent young planter of Martin County and his popularity and that of his bride was proved by the numerous and handsome gifts which they received.

At noon Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Higgs and Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Everett entertained the wedding party and a number of guests at a breakfast at the country club, after which the bride and bridegroom motored to Rocky Mount, where they took the train for a trip to St. Augustine and St. Petersburg.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding were the following:

Miss Mae Grimmer, Cape Charles, Va.; Miss Mabel Bost, Kinston; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Moore, Kinston; Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Liverman, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Pittman, Frank and Jim Pittman, Misses Rosina and Florence Pittman, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Shields, Shields Alexander, Mrs. Harper Alexander, Mrs. Pauline Herring of Scotland Neck; Oscar Everett, Durham; Dr. and Mrs. Leggett Hobgood; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Everett, Palmyra; Dr. R. T. Vann, Raleigh; Misses Hattie and Margaret Everett, Palmyra; Simon Everett, Robersonville; Mr. and Mrs. N. W. WEDNESDAY CHAPEL GIVEN TO MUSICAL PROGRAM

GIRLS BROUGHT CLOSER TOGETHER BY MUSICAL NUMBERS BY SENIORS

Most of our time in chapel last Wednesday morning was devoted to music. It was given by some of our Seniors, concerning which class we feel sadness while thinking of the parting so near at hand. Yet while they are with us, we enjoy their gladness and their music.

First we had a piano solo played by Geraldine Gower. We always love to her Geraldine play because of the smoothness and clearness and because of the careful interpretation that gives forth a style all her own. Then came some "music by the twins." Thelma Fleetwood sang while Elma played the violin obligato, with Mrs. Moncrief at the piano. It was enjoyed much by all.

Next Miss Zabriski read a Psalm, after which we closed with a prayer, which Mrs. Moncrief sang.

Ellen Marshall and Myrtle Tyson visited friends at the Yarrowborough last week-end.

Irene Averett visited friends in Garner last week.

Student Opinion

A STUDENT OPINION ABOUT STUDENT OPINIONS

There are opinions, and opinions, and opinions! I wish I had a book for every student opinion that has been written or expressed about Meredith College. I would have quite a library. Meredith has been criticised and praised times without number, and what does it all amount to? The sum total amounts to this: Our school is narrow and limited in its equipment, sometimes the girls get careless and infringe upon their neighbor's rights; and yet we love every inch of our dear old school, and, in spite of our personal grouches, there is an undefinable spirit, as we are so often told, which binds us all together and makes up a college worth knowing.

These things are all very well in themselves, but don't we feel something lacking in our column called Student Opinion? What's the matter? We need original ideas! The same girls write opinions every week until their poor brains are simply tortured trying to think up something to fuss about or praise about the dear old school. It is time someone else should play fair and introduce some fresh ideas.

It is rather queer about our spoken and written opinions anyway. When we are asked to write an opinion for THE TWIG, you would think the majority of students were babies with not a thought in the world to furrow its way through their smooth, placid little brains; but you should hear us on the campus and in our rooms. We are so versatile! Come on girls; expend some of your marvelous critical ability in behalf of our weekly paper. If you have been given this wonderful talent of being a critic, it is wrong for you not to do your utmost to develop along this line.

Spring has come now with all its revivifying power. Let's wake up and all work together to make these last few weeks one glorious success.

MEREDITH SPIRIT

Does the student body have Meredith spirit? Each day we see individual loyalty manifested among the girls, also there is the loyalty to the class, the loyalty to the society all of which banded together give us that greater and higher loyalty, Meredith spirit. This is the spirit which draws new girls each year to our college and it is the spirit which in the end will put the bond campaign over the top. For without the cooperation of those for whom the greater Meredith is being erected there will not be cooperation of the state as a denomination. The ten letters written by each girl have wrought wonderful results but, girls, lets don't stop here! let's get our folks at home at work and who knows when and where our influence as the student body of Meredith may end!

LOST AND FOUND

Have you glanced at the Lost and Found case lately? What did you see? Rings, pins, silver pencils, handkerchiefs, gold fountain pens, stamps, gloves, shoes, and almost everything else that can be imagined. To whom do these things belong? The little case with its glass doors has certainly been a faithful home to certain articles, who went astray, for weeks and even months. These things were found at Meredith. They must belong to some of our Meredith folks. They are valuable, too. I wonder why they can't be rescued and put in the possession of the rightful owner?

Have you lost anything from a straight pin up to a hundred dollars? If so, look in our Lost and Found Case, and there you will find the lost article safely abiding.

ENTHUSIASM FOR BONDS AROUSED IN CHAPEL

FACULTY AND STUDENTS BECOME MUCH INTERESTED IN BONDS AS RESULT OF CHAPEL TALKS

The chapel hour on Thursday morning was one of great interest to all the Meredith students when Mr. J. M. Broughton and Mr. Lee McBride White fired them with enthusiasm for the bond project. They told us how much our interest and our cooperation would mean in arousing interest and enthusiasm in the people of the State for Meredith bonds. They called on us to make a few sacrifices in order that we might "start the ball rolling" towards our greater Meredith—this is the crucial moment, and the success or failure of the plan will in a large measure depend on how we "carry on." After Mr. White and Mr. Broughton showed us how much depended on us Dr. Brewer called for speeches from the faculty and from the student body. Several members of the faculty subscribed to thousand dollar bonds each, while the students were not far behind when a member of the Senior class led the student body by pledging a fifty dollar bond then and there. Up to the present time the faculty and students have pledged over nine thousand dollars and the present indications promise that this figure will be raised in next few days.
