

DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL HELD AT MEREDITH, MARCH 19

LARGE NUMBER OF BOTH BOYS AND GIRLS ATTEND ENTER-TAINMENT

PEARL JOHNSON UNION AWARDED
SILVER LOVING CUP
(Old Gold and Black)

On last Saturday night, the B. Y. P. U. of Wake Forest entertained the B. Y. P. U. of Meredith at a very delightful social in the Society halls of the sister institution. At 8 o'clock promptly there were over a hundred fellows present, and several dozen more arrived before many minutes passed. There were approximately two hundred girls as the guests of the boys, and before the time for departure came there were almost as many boys present as girls.

The Meredith Society halls presented a beautiful spectacle as the Baptist youths promenaded here and there. A wonderful spirit of brother-sister fellowship was evident, and the religious relationship of the two institutions was bound closer by virtue of this attitude.

Soon after the crowd of young folks assembled, attractive cards bearing date schedules were presented all present. The cards given to the girls were decorated with Wake Forest colors, while those given the boys were decorated with the Meredith colors. As soon as each person had received his or her card, announcement was made that each person would be expected to seek out and become acquainted with the five persons who appealed to him or her most. Much interest was evidenced at this time, because many conflicts in selections seemed to be noticeable. After a short while, however, all had arranged dates. Then followed a pleasant period of chatting and laughter. Many of the conversations were in tones too low to be heard by others. In many cases some of the folks resorted to whispers.

At the conclusion of the series of five-minute dates all of the boys were gathered together in one hall, while all of the girls were separated from them and gathered together in the other hall. Then the boys organized themselves according to unions, and the girls did likewise. Then one by one the Wake Forest unions were escorted to the hall containing the Meredith

MABEL CLAIRE HOGGARD
EDITOR OF TWIG FOR 1927-28
MEMBER OF STAFF FOR TWO

The members of the Twig staff are quite proud of their new editor in chief. For the past two years Mabel Claire Hoggard from Ahsokie has done faithful work on the staff and altho we knew it was coming all the time, we congratulate her and wish her better success than any Twig editor has ever had. She is admirably fitted for this position, both because of her experience as managing editor this year and because of her natural inclination toward this kind of work. We know that with the coöperation of the students she will make The Twig a real means of expressing student aims and ideas.

SENIOR-JUNIOR GAME
MARKS BEGINNING OF
BASKETBALL FINALS
CLASS OF '27 NEAR CHAMPION-SHIP
FINAL SCORE 53-37

The great day has arrived, yes, and the championship games are with us. We've reached the "home stretch" of the race we've been watching for the past several months.

The initial contest between the Juniors and Seniors was quite an affair. Both teams had been practicing hard and when the whistle sounded they were just rearing to go.

The first quarter, both teams fought as if their salvation was vested in that one game. The Juniors looked like a heavy foe for the Seniors. But even before the first quarter was ended the

CLASSICAL CLUB
PRESENTS LATIN PLAY

A "ROMAN WEDDING" GIVEN IN THE COLLEGE AUDITORIUM

A Roman Wedding, a play in three acts, by Susan Paxon, was presented by members of the classical club in the college auditorium Tuesday evening, March 15th. It was the first Latin play ever given here, and there was quite a large crowd to witness the performance.

A Roman Wedding is essentially Roman in character as it is based upon the wedding scene in the home of Marcus Tullius Cicero whose daughter is given in marriage to Gaius Pliso; hence, it is of great value in portraying Roman life, and showing Cicero in a light different from that in which he is usually regarded. Laura Weatherspoon as Cicero, by means of her dramatic ability, in the very first scene took Cicero out of the students' imagination and made him a real man. In his own home he was practicing his oration with all the fluency and expression of the orator himself. The phrase, "O rem publicam miserabi-

ELECTS PRESIDENT FOR COMING YEAR
MARION FISKE UNANIMOUSLY CHOSEN

At a recent meeting of the class of '29 Marion Fiske, of Moyock, North Carolina, was elected by a large majority to be president of the Junior class for the year 1927-28. In choosing

Marion for this position as leader of the class, we feel that we have chosen one who possesses all the qualities of ideal leadership: attractiveness, tact, a poised and gracious manner, charm and managing ability. She has shown

MADALINE ELLIOTT
PRESIDENT OF B. S. U.
PROMINENT IN RELIGIOUS AC-TIVITIES ON CAMPUS

Madaline Elliott of Edenton, North Carolina, member of class of '28, has been recently elected B. S. U. President for the year 1927-28. As President of the Baptist Student Union on Meredith Campus, Madaline holds one of the highest offices to which one can be elected. She who thus leads all the religious activities must possess executive ability, charm, dignity, influence, and above all, a Christian spirit. In Madaline we find these attributes combined to form what we consider an ideal B. S. U. President.

During her three years at Meredith Madaline has made an ever-widening circle of friends who are wishing her

MABEL JAMES GIVES
PIANO RECITAL
LARGE AUDIENCE PRESENT

On Friday Evening, March 18th, in the Meredith College Auditorium, occurred the graduation recital of Miss Mabel James.

Miss James showed remarkable skill and mastery of technique. She played in an artistic and graceful manner, displaying unusual talent and ability. Her tonal quality was sweet and clear, and even the softest tones could be heard clearly and distinctly in the back of the auditorium.

Miss James was beautifully gowned in yellow georgette, trimmed in pink. She carried a corsage of pink roses and sweet peas.

CLASS OF '29 GIVES
FAREWELL PARTY TO '27
NEAR-BY LAKE SCENE OF THE OCCASION

Seniors have been wearing unusual smiles for a week—why? Just because they came from the post office last Friday with the most cunning little cardboard pig which said:

What does this little pig say?

Grunt! Grunt! Grunt!

What does this mean, I wonder?

We're simply inviting the Senior class

To a barbecue over yonder
At Allen's log cabin Monday P.M.
There's a pond down there
But we're not going to swim
Come in knickers at four-forty-five.
Sorry you'll have to walk
But you just can't ride.

Well, we weren't sorry that we could not ride because the crisp March air made us appreciate a brisk hike, and our sister Sophs were on the back campus ready to join us in it, so our fun began at once.

When we reached the Royallen woods with its mixture of pines and dogwoods and many violets we began to think we had really reached an enchanted forest, but we kept on down the winding road till we reached a charming little log house, and then down another slope and we were at the pond which the invitation had mentioned. The place was certainly most ideal for a picnic of this kind. The water was beautiful, and the bright colored ducks seemed to be having as much pleasure as any member of our party. Then too, the little green canoe made the pond all the more fascinating for us.

Shortly after we arrived at this ideal place, Mattie Lee Eagles, the Sophomore president, called us to assemble in a group on the hillside where she made the announcement that she had heard a rumor to the effect that there were real pirates in the nearby wood, and that perhaps we should see them if we kept watch. Just as she had finished speaking from over an opposite hill came a half-dozen of them hurrying here and there frantically digging for a lost treasure.

MISS BINZELL GIVES INTEREST-ING TALK

Those times are rare, in the hurried schedule of our college lives, when the student feels that perhaps she should lay aside the more scholarly studies of Latin and English, music and art, and devote her college career to the acquirement of knowledge about the human body and the human mind. Those times are rare, I said, but they do come. One of the times was Friday morning when Miss Binzell spoke to us in chapel. Never so forcibly had the need of knowing a child in order to teach him, in either the capacity of
