

EXCITING DAY NEXT SATURDAY AT WAKE FOREST COLLEGE

MEREDITH GIRLS LOOKING FORWARD TO SOCIETY DAY—GALA DAY OF EXERCISES—DEBATES, FOOTBALL GAME AND RECREATION

News comes from Old Gold and Black this week as follows:

Society Day is again to become a classic day in the history of Wake Forest College.

Saturday, November 19, has been set aside by the faculty as a holiday. The morning exercises will consist of a debate, and in the afternoon there will be a football game against High Point College. In the early part of the evening there will be orations and an address by Dr. Gaines. Immediately following this exercise the society halls will be thrown open for a reception.

Dr. Chas. E. Brewer, president of Meredith College, has consented to the attendance of the young ladies from Meredith in order to make Society Day the greatest success possible. In cooperation with the Society Day Committee, Graduate Manager Carroll has made it possible for each student to carry one young woman on his student ticket to the game. Thus it is believed that Society Day will be a great success owing to the incessant labors of the Society Day Committee and the cooperation of the faculty and Dr. Brewer. According to Dr. Brewer and E. P. Thorne, chairman of the Society Day transportation committee of Wake Forest, Meredith girls will come to Wake Forest to attend the Society Day program November 19, in large motor buses chartered for the occasion.

Each girl, before she may leave Meredith, must have a personal in-

EXTEND SINCERE SYMPATHY TO ANNIE RHEA MCGOUGAN

LEFT FOR HER HOME SATURDAY—FATHER DIES EARLY SUNDAY MORNING

We regret to announce that Annie Rhea McGougan, member class of '28 has been called to her home in Cordille, Ga. because of the death of her father. Annie Rhea left for her home Saturday, upon receiving news of her father's critical condition. He died early Sunday morning before she had reached his bedside.

The entire faculty and student body, extend their sincerest sympathy to her in this, her time of sorrow. The members of the Senior Class were particularly grieved to hear of the sorrow of one of their number, and are thinking of her during her absence and wishing for her a speedy return to the college.

TWO INTERESTING SPEAKERS AT Y. W. MISS WALSWORTH TELLS OWN EXPERIENCES

Those who attended the vesper services Sunday evening had the pleasure of listening to two interesting and helpful talks. A traveling secretary of the Student Volunteer Movement told us of a meeting of College Students at Detroit sometime soon. He expressed the wish that Meredith might send delegates to this promising meeting, where problems of the foreign mission fields will be discussed.

Miss Walsworth, one of our music faculty, told us what she knew of the Jews from her own personal experience. She pictured them as money-mad, dirty, and prejudiced against the Gentiles. She also made the serious statement that probably and almost surely their prejudice toward Gentiles is due to the Gentiles themselves, since we represent, to them, their former persecutors. Miss Walsworth's opinion is that the only remedy to the Jewish problem is through their children. May we consider this problem seriously and try to do our part in making relations more friendly between Jew and Gentile.

GLEE CLUB TICKETS FOR SALE

Tickets for the Meredith Glee Club Concert are being sold at 50c (fifty cents) under the auspices of the B. Y. P. U. All profits from the concert, as well as all money made by other concerts during this year, will go to the Centennial Campaign. Let's back up our Glee Club and the Campaign by attending the concert in our auditorium Friday night, November 18.

MISS ALDA GRAYSON AN INTERESTING AND WELCOME VISITOR HERE FOR FEW DAYS

SPEAKS AT B. Y. P. U. MEETING WEDNESDAY NIGHT—TALKS AGAIN AT CHAPEL THURSDAY

INSPIRATION GAINED

Miss Alda Grayson, a graduate of Meredith College and a missionary in China, has been a welcome visitor here for a few days. She was with us at the meeting of the B. Y. P. U. in chapel Wednesday night, and spoke for a few minutes on "Christ lives in us." When the B. Y. P. U.'s separated, going to their individual meeting places, Miss Grayson joined the members of the union which bears here name.

Miss Grayson spoke before the entire faculty and student body Thursday morning at the chapel hour. In her own charming way, she told us a few facts about the missionary work in which she is so vitally interested. "There are many political conditions which would be interesting, but other things are more important. We have, at present, in China many influential religious leaders among the Chinese, themselves. The time has not come, however, for Americans to turn over the missionary work in China entirely to the natives of that country. To my mind, that time will never come. The people of China are eager to learn of the love of Jesus. Bibles are being given away on condition that those receiving them will carry them everywhere and read them daily. These Bibles are being taken gladly by students, sailors, political leaders, and others. There is a challenge for each of us, under these conditions, to do more for the work of Christ. I do not say

MYSTERIOUS PREPARATION FOR B. Y. P. U. PARTY

THRILLING TALK BY DR. J. A. ELLIS ON ARMISTICE DAY

CHAPEL EXERCISES MADE INSPIRING BY SPEECH AND MUSIC

Dr. J. A. Ellis, pastor of Pullen Memorial Baptist Church, made a very appropriate talk in chapel Friday morning, November 11, in commemoration of the signing of the Armistice nine years ago.

Dr. Ellis was a chaplain in the army, and was "at the front" when peace was declared. He told of the joy in the hearts of the soldiers as they threw down their guns and embraced each other, and of the gladness of the French as they cried, "La guerre est fini!" Those that were back home in America had in their hearts and on their tongues only one phrase—"The war is over!" He spoke of the work of those back home, and likened their bravery to that of the boys who went "over the top."

As he was standing one evening at one of the many burial grounds "over there," and was watching the bodies of the dead soldiers being carried in, he asked the Captain how many bodies he supposed were buried there. The reply was: "Eighteen thousand chaplain; seven hundred more buried here today!" Dr. Ellis said he knew in his heart then that it was not right—that the great tragedy of the World War was all wrong!

He did not dwell long on the injustice of the past war—"the war to end wars"—but his plea was that there be no repetition of such a beastly thing! Whether we have war or not, he thinks depends entirely on the decision of the churches. If there is another war, it will not be a political one—it will be laid at the door of the church. And if the churches decide that there will be no more war, there will not be!

Dr. Ellis does not approve of military training in the schools, he does,

BEST ARTICLE

The write-up of the stunt "In Dutch," presented by the class of '31, was decided to be the most interesting article appearing in last week's issue of The Twig. Although it was only a news article, the interesting, newsy manner in which it was written won the decision. The article was written by Matilda Hollomon, class of '31.

MEREDITH GIRLS GIVE CHARMING PARTY IN GROVE—PARTY VERY ORIGINAL AND ENJOYED VERY MUCH BY ALL

A moonlight night and a Treasure Hunt! What could be more thrilling and exciting—when the participants are from Wake Forest and Meredith?

Every girl fortunate enough to be a member of the Meredith B. Y. P. U. was planning to attend! And so was every Wake Forest boy! We heard of mysterious preparations being made. Now what, for instance, could those boys and girls be going to do with all that wood they were dragging out between the chapel and the grove? Oh, that's no longer a secret. It's for the huge bonfire about which marshmallows and weines are to be toasted.

At the door of the chapel, two young ladies were handing out odd-shaped cards with words written on them. These, we found later, matched with other cards to form miniature daggers. What fun it was to find a partner!

The very interesting program was impromptu on the part of most of the "entertainers." Miss Platt, Meredith's dramatic director, initiated several marked young gentle-

GAY GINGHAM DRESSES AND BLUE OVERALLS TO BE IN EVIDENCE SATURDAY NIGHT

MEREDITH JUNIORS AND SENIORS INVITED TO UNIQUE AFFAIR AT STATE COLLEGE

LOOKING FORWARD TO A GOOD TIME

Meredith Juniors and Seniors are all agog with excitement! And, there is reason a plenty! On November 19, from 8:30 p.m. until 12 the State College will entertain at its annual Barn Warming. Hence, the excitement.

The girls dressed in gay gingham dresses will meet their overall clad farmers at a narrow, crooked path. They will be ably helped over a log across a stream or an "old timey" zig-zag fence. Then out into the open, or should we say, barn? and the full glory of the scene meets them. Gay autumn branches, bales of hay and cotton around the walls, corn, pumpkins and other signs of fall fill the room. High above is ingeniously arranged an orange harvest moon and a far, faint twinkle of stars.

The country air is carried out and the farmerettes and farmers take part in hog-calling contests, dog-calling contests, rolling a wheelbarrow while blindfolded and the crowning of the Barn Warming Queen.

So, Meredith girls are already diligently practicing calling wandering hogs and they are all ready to show the State boys just what fine farmerettes they can make and just how much they can enjoy a good time.
