

CAROLINA DEFEATS VIRGINIA

SCORE WAS 14-13

"We're tarheel born and we're tarheel bred"! We're real all Tar Heels, supporters of the blue and white!

About 28,000 people gathered at Chapel Hill on Thanksgiving Day to witness the Carolina-Virginia games. Each year since 1922 Carolina has bowed before Virginia. This year the whole Carolina line seemed to say "They shall not pass!"

Sapp, a Winston-Salem boy, scored the initial touchdown for Carolina. Sapp has succeeded in striking horror into the hearts of several teams. Sapp raced 35 yards to score the first touchdown.

HOT DEBATE ON HIGH SCHOOL FRATERNITIES

EDUCATIONAL CLASS HAS UN-USUAL DEBATE

On last Monday morning there was an interesting debate held on one of Miss Hoagland's education classes. The query was "Resolved that fraternities and sororities are beneficial to the high school." Many of us were very surprised to learn that fraternities are a serious menace to many high schools in the North and West. Our girls want to be well prepared to cope with all new problems that will confront them when they go out to teach; therefore this debate was a very profitable one.

We are taking this means of giving public recognition to a letter received from the manager of the State Theater a few days ago. The offer made was accepted, of course, and was greatly appreciated. The letter appears below, with the hope that members of the student body, other than those of the staff, will be inspired to contribute to THE TWIG.

The letter was as follows:

Miss Mable Claire Hoggard,
Editor, THE TWIG,
Meredith College,
Raleigh, N. C.

Dear Miss Hoggard:

I notice in the November 18 issue of THE TWIG that you select the most interesting article in your paper each week and I would like to offer you two passes to Keith Vaudeville as a prize to the author of this article.

Hoping to have an expression from you on this, I am

Very truly yours,

W. G. ENLOE,
Manager.

DR. POTEAT HERE THIS WEEK

TO DELIVER A SERIES OF LEC-TURES AT PULLEN

GENERAL TOPIC IS "A SCIENTIST'S VIEW OF RELIGION"

Meredith faculty and students are grateful for the opportunity of hearing Dr. W. L. Poteat, of Wake Forest College, in a series of lectures this week at Pullen Memorial Church. His general topic is "A Scientist's View of Religion," but he called attention on Sunday night to the fact that all that he would say on that subject would be based on New Testament teachings, as he interprets them.

Dr. Poteat gave a splendid treatment of his subject for Sunday night—"What is Religion?" Religion, he said, hangs on the peg of love. Jesus told the lawyer that the whole law hung upon the great commandments—love thy God, and love thy neighbor as thyself. Religion is a fact of nature. It is just as much a part of nature as is a sunset. It is not a limitation or restriction imposed on human life by outside authority. There is no structural or functional difference between man and animals which will hold good with no exception—except religion. Religion is an organizing force in human life—both for the individual and for society. It is the mother and conservator of nations. We know the entire earth at last—from North Pole to South Pole and from East to West. Men all over this whole earth have some kind of religion. If a creature has no religion, it is not a man. If it has religion, it is a man. The essential and universal characteristic of religion is apprehension of the spirit world. In the Sixth Century, a great man said, "Love God and do as you please." I will amend that statement. "Love God, do as you please, and think as you please." Religion is not a set of beliefs. Some people say, "I just can't bring myself to accept what a certain authority says on this phase of religion." The beauty of it is that you don't have to believe it. Be content to leave some matters unsolved. Don't be worried about not being a Christian. If you really love God, you are a Christian. You don't have to understand everything. You can find the answer to all your problems in eternity—for you will have ample time then.

SENIORS CONDUCT CHAPEL EXERCISES

MILDRED ALLEN, BESS THOMAS, DOROTHY TURLINGTON AND
MARY BROCKWELL
PARTICIPATE

On Wednesday, November 23, the Senior class had charge of the chapel exercises. After several announcements, Miss Lawrence turned the meeting over to Mildred Allen, President of the Senior Class. The whole group read responsively a passage from the Bible about Thanksgiving. Then Dorothy Turlington sang in her own sweet way "Have You Counted the Cost?" Bess Thomas made an appro-

Evelyn Rhea Wood In Graduating Recital

FIRST RECITAL OF YEAR
A BIG SUCCESS

RECEPTION GIVEN IN PARLORS
IMMEDIATELY AFTER EVENT

Miss Evelyn Rhea Wood gave her vocal graduation recital Tuesday, November 29, at 8:30 p.m.. The stage decoration of palms, white chrysanthemums, and roses was a beautiful and fitting background for Miss Wood, who was attractively attired in red velvet and silver evening dress, silver hose, and red velvet slippers, and carrying a black ostrich fan.

Miss Wood was very enthusiastically received when she appeared for her first group.

Caro mio ben—Giordani.

Serenade—Strauss.

Non so piu cosa son (Le Nozze di Figaro)—Mozart.

The next group was artistically rendered with great depth of feeling.

Lenz—Hildach.

Wanderers Nachtlied—Schubert.

Elégie }
Ariane } —Massenet

WOLF PACK MEETS MICHIGAN STATE HERE SATURDAY

OUR STATE CHAMPIONS EX-PECTED TO WIN

The State College Wolf Pack will meet Michigan State here Saturday, December 3 on Riddick Field. We are proud of State's victory over South Carolina on Thanksgiving Day. The score was 34-0. Hurrah for the Wolf Pack. They are the football team! From comments that we hear on the side we believe that State is slated to beat Michigan. Go to it, we are for you!

GREAT BANQUET AT AHOSKIE

36 LOYAL DAUGHTERS OF MERE-DITH MEET—MANY INTER-ESTING AND LOVE-
LY TALKS

It was great, the West Chohan Meredith banquet last Monday night, the twenty-first, in Ahoskie. Thirty-six wide awake, loyal daughters of Meredith, and Mr. Oscar Creech, West Chohan Campaign Manager, met at the Kiwanis Hall and had a full evening of feasting, renewing of friendships, remembering, and deliberating. They are full of the Campaign and of love for dear old Meredith.

The W. M. S. of Ahoskie prepared the banquet—and it was lovely. The hall and tables were decorated in twigs, oak leaves, and acorns; and white candles in their silver holders gave just the right light for the occasion.

After the blessing, which was expressed by Mr. Creech, the girls told each other who they were, when they were at Meredith, who they are now, and where they live. There were two 1899 girls present, and they were the gayest and youngest of the crowd. While the fruit plates were being removed and the dinner brought in, the girls entertained each other with their memories of Meredith, and you can just bet your life that these were worth hearing. There were stories ranging from the opening of the college without window shades in 1899, through the days of the Crook, and on down to the moving of the college winter before last. There were memories comic and tragic—and every single one was full of gratitude and love and tenderness.

Lettie Parker Snipes talked in a beautiful and interesting way on "What Meredith has Meant to Me." This was followed by a testimony by Mrs. B. Townsend of Murfreesboro, that Meredith has been worthy of the sacrifices of the past and is worthy the sacrifices of the present. Joy Beaman made an impressive and practical talk on "What Part Have Meredith Girls in the Campaign?" They must be eyes, she said, to Inform, Influence, Intercede, Inspire, and Invest.

At intervals throughout the banquet, the girls sang college songs, gave their society calls, and such like. They closed the program by singing the most beautiful and soul stirring Alma Mater

MORNING WATCH ON THANKSGIVING USUAL SERVICE OMITTED

Morning watch last Thursday morning was held in the social room on first floor "A." Faculty and students from all the dormitories met at 7:30 for a few minutes of thanksgiving to God for his many blessings. Needless to say, the meeting was a helpful one.

The usual Thanksgiving service in the auditorium was not held for some reason unknown to the writer. Many of the students were disappointed in not having this observance on Thanksgiving day. We hope that next year we will go back to this old but ever-helpful custom. On a day set apart for such a purpose, we feel that it is but fitting that a service be held for the benefit of those who care to go.

DETROIT STUDENT CONVENTION

MEREDITH TO SEND
TWO REPRESENTATIVES

FOUR THOUSAND STUDENTS TO ASSEMBLE

At Detroit this winter, December 28 to January 1, four thousand students from the United States and Canada will come together to frankly discuss the whole business. If we are somewhat disgusted with the sort of a world we have now—if we think it can ever be molded nearer to the heart's desire—what about this project of foreign mission which is so widely discussed, so important a factor in present world development? Must it be discarded? Can it be improved in certain respects? Can it be made more effective by changing the political, racial, and economic attitudes in this country which are not thoroughly Christian? Can the elements of propaganda be removed from the missionary approach, and sound psychological principles adhered to?

FOUR MINUTE SPEAK- ERS TO GO OUT SUNDAY A.M.

MEREDITH PROUD OF HER REP-RESENTATIVES

Sixty of the Meredith girls will leave early Sunday morning going out to make talks in different towns that are within the Eastern division of the Centennial Campaign. The same girls, who so successfully spoke before, will be again chosen to represent the College and two busses will be used to convey them to their respective destinations.

Madeline Elliott, President of the B. S. U., spent last week-end in Clinton, Piney Grove and Garland Baptist Churches. Marguerite Mason and Janie Burns also made speeches last Sunday in Fayetteville.

Meredith is proud of the impressions that her representatives are making and the good that they are accomplishing. Dr. Maddry is very much encouraged by the progress of the Campaign in Eastern North Carolina.

BEST ARTICLE!

The honors from last weeks issue of THE TWIG go to Margaret, Craig, '30, whose account of the Circus was voted the most interesting article. As a reward for her efforts, Margaret will receive two passes to Keith's Vaudeville, Compliments of State Theater.
