Editorial

We are always glad to hear of the success of any of our friends of the newspaper field. Congratulations are now in order for Mr. H. L. Hester, Editor Chronicle, Duke University, who recently was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

Human beings are universally endowed with the instinct of obstinacy or love of domination. We note with surprise the strike on the part of the students of St. Augustine's school. That age long spirit of conflict of will between students and faculty! When will co-operation step in to supplant it, and to bring peace on the campus and goodwill between faculty and students?

Great and wondrous things are to be expected from the Wake Forest boys, who returned Monday after a rather extensive Thanksgiving holiday. A rest thus gained, while their fellow-students of Duke, State and Meredith diligently struggled with Latin, Physics, and the like, should result in renewed energy for their task and possibly a shortened Christmas holiday.

LOCALS AND PERSONALS

We are all glad to learn that Miss Biggers, who has been confined in the infirmary during the past week, is able to be out again.

Mary Virginia King whose father recently died, has returned from her home in Wilmington.

Mattie Lassiter had as her week-end guests in Smithfield Elizabeth Deans, Salinda Perry, Frances Barnhill, and Sara Oliver.

Catherine Coon has returned from Gastonia where she was called on account of her father's illness.

Mattie Lee Eagles and Margaret Jones spent the week-end in Henderson.

Pauline and Marguerite Freeman spent the week-end at their home in Raeford.

Dorothy Gillie spent the week-end at Robersonville.

We are glad to know that Mary Browning has come down from the infirmary where she has been confined for the past week.

Mary Louise Huffman spent the week-end at Davidson.

A number of girls and members of the Faculty attended the Carolina-Virginia game at Chapel Hill Thursday.

Mary Rodwell Hunter and Mabel Claire Hoggard spent the week-end in town with Katherine Maddry.

Miss Price and Miss Harris entertained several girls at a very formal tea in Miss Price's sitting room Tuesday. The guests were cordially welcomed by the hostesses and were introduced to a receiving line composed of several charming young ladies, Mrs. Fisk, Mrs. Taft and Miss Graydon. The room was exquisitely decorated with lovely autumn flowers. The centerpiece was made up of Autumn leaves and Chrysanthemums. Sweet strains from the portable victrola added much to the enjoyment of the evening. Miss Price, assisted by Miss Harris served a delicious sweet course with chewing gum. Miss Margaret Trotman was presented with a lovely and most attractive corsage of Petunias, in honor of her 37th birthday.

Among those present were Misses Pauline Freeman, Mabel Bagby, Margaret Trotman, Margaret Craig and Pauline Kitchin.

Mrs. Beeker spent the holidays with Mebel Beeker.

Mrs. W. W. Kitchin is spending several days in Raleigh, visiting her daughter.

Margaret Lucas, who was injured on Society Day, has returned to school.

Margaret Eagles visited the Colleges Thanksgiving.

Miss Pauline Freeman entertained at tea in her room Sunday night.

Julian Grimes spent the week-end at her home in Mt. Olive.

Misses Ruth Leary, Laura Weatherpoon, Lorena Helms and Marguerite Harrison visited the college Thanksgiving.

HINTS ABOUT OTHER COLLEGES

Billy McNally was once asked to write a short description of a boy; this is what he handed to his teacher:

A boy is a wild animal like me. A boy is always a girl when he's a baby, for his mother makes him wear dresses, and he does not want to. Sometimes he stays a girl for a whole year, but as soon as he gets pants on he begins to feel like a man, and he is one when he is twenty-one. A boy is a queer article, anyway you take him. He don't like the girls much 'till he's grown, (only some of them like girls ever since they weren't girls). A boy loves his Pa and Ma a whole lot more than they do sissy girls but he is more devoted to cap-shooters, air-rifles and stopper-guns than to anything else. The only trouble with a boy is that he can't be a man fast enough.

Billy McNally, age 10.—The Chalk Line, E. T. S. T. C., Johnson City, Tenn.

HOT DEBATE ON ON HIGH SCHOOL FRATERNITIES

Laura M. Haywood, Lora Dills, and Louise White upheld the affirmative while Alice Dowd, Marion Fiske, and Alberta Atkinson were on the negative side of the question. At times the speeches called forth much laughter and giggling. The whole class acted as judges. The negative side won by a score of 12-8. We wonder if the girls were influenced by their opinions or really voted for the delivery and worth of the speeches?

SENIORS CONDUCT CHAPEL EXERCISES

private talk on Thanksgiving, naming some of the numerous things that we have to be thankful for, and telling us why we should be always thankful and appreciative. The last number on the program was a violin solo by Mary Brockwell. She played beautifully "Valse Treiste."

Martha McCullen spent the week-end with Nell McCullen.

We extend our sympathy to Mrs. Norwood, whose brother was killed last week.

Hesta Kitchin and Frances Fulghum spent the week-end at Carolina.
