Editorial

Exams being a thing of the past, our minds are finding themselves in a bit more stable and orderly condition, and thus THE TWIG is gradually assuming its customary position. It is the sincere desire of the staff that they, not the printer, be held accountable for the "topsy-turvy" condition of last week's issue. Such exclamations as "What on earth has happened to THE TWIG!" leads us to explain that the disturbing effects of Exams upon the mind were merely demonstrated in the confused collection of news. It was only a temporary defect of mind—nothing permanent, we trust.

The new term has begun with such a rush that already some of us slower ones are about to be left behind. With concerts and lectures to attend, holidays to celebrate, a certain amount of "socializing" to be included in our already too-full program, when are we expected to catch, to say nothing of studying, classes? Never permit your studies to interfere with your social life," is a favorite maxim of Wake Forest students, and it is becoming quite a popular one at Meredith.

Meredith girls who previously have dreamed of someday winning renown for bravery as a Red Cross Nurse on some far-flung battle field, evidently must either redirect their ambitions or prohibit Mr. Sherwood Eddy from visiting State College and other campuses where there are large numbers of young men. Should

LOCALS AND PERSONALS

Miss Davie Belle Eaton spent the week-end at her home in Winston-Salem.

A number of girls attended the Paderewski concert in Greensboro last week.

Miss Lucille Martin of Fayetteville, who attended Meredith last year, spent the week-end at the college.

Mrs. Cary Mumford, formerly Miss Cleone Cooper, '27, was a visitor at the college Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Mumford are now making their home in Raleigh.

Miss Mary Herring visited the college Sunday.

Misses Mary Louise Huffman, Nelle Baker, Edna Mae Duvall, and Roberta Royster were hostesses at a floating tea Thursday. The guests, upon arriving went down a receiving line and were then ushered into the next room where refreshments were served. Many girls enjoyed their hospitality.

Miss Kathryn Maddry spent Sunday in town with her parents.

Miss Bessie G. Gill and Alice Dowd spent the week-end at their homes.

Sunday afternoon, January 22, Misses Virginia Crawford and Evelyn McCall entertained a few of their friends at a tea. Chicken salad, sandwiches, pickles, tea and cake were served to Misses Mary Barber, Salinda Perry, Grace Hipps, Sara Cullom, Kathleen Durham, "Tillie" Duvall, Nelle Baker, Roberta Royster, and Mary Louise Huffman.

Sara Oliver of Smithfield, member class of '27, returned Monday after a week's absence due to the illness of her sister, Mildred. "Millie" is a Meredith graduate of the class of '27, and we were indeed sorry to hear that she his Pacifist Doctrine produce the desired effect, there would be no ailing soldiers in need of the nurse's soothing touch.

Very few young people today are longing for war—the ill-effects of the last one are yet too obvious; but the statement that there has never been a war which could not have been prevented, in a rather broad and bold one.

Notices have been received from the Post-Mistress that henceforth only two girls may have a P. O. Box together. Although as far as some of us were concerned, four to a box worked quite nicely, we are not complaining: Probably the change is due to the fact that one box does not offer sufficient space for the quantity of mail which other quartets receive.

has suffered an attack of appendicitis. While here "Millie" made a host of friends, all of whom are wishing for her a speedy recovery.

A group picture of the entire student body was made on Friday afternoon. Dr. Brewer frequently has expressed the wish that he could get a group picture in which "every single student" would appear. There is a fair possibility that he will see his wish realized in this picture—twenty minutes the photographer waited and still they came! Pictures will be on sale for $1.50 and they will be well worth the price. Here is the chance for the girl who likes to collect "oddities"—she will never find another picture just like this one!

With exams, a thing of the past, our minds and energy are being directed toward the Centennial campaign with renewed interest. On Saturday, Feb. 4, 25 girls will leave in a special bus for the western portion of the state. Stops will be made at Lexington, Thomasville, Statesville, Salisbury, Concord and Charlotte and from these points girls will be sent to special towns and churches within a short distance. "Meredith—what it has meant to me and will mean to the Baptists of the state," rather the history of Baptist Education in North Carolina, is to be the subject for the 4-minute speakers on this trip.

We are glad to report the return of Professor Riley, who was called home last week because of the death of his father. Our sympathies are with him in his sorrow.

Miss Helen Price, head of the Latin and Greek department, entertained her Greek Literature Class at tea on Friday afternoon, immediately following their examinations. The invitation was extended to all members of the class who "felt offended" after taking the examination: every member was present. Delightful refreshments, consisting of two varieties of sandwiches, cookies, cake, tea, hot chocolate and mints were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Mary Graydon. Upon their departure, the guests rated themselves wise in selecting a course in Greek, and Misses Price and Graydon charming hostesses as well as sympathetic instructors. Those enjoying Miss Price's hospitality were Misses Doris Tillery, Mabel Claire Hoggard, Madaline Elliott, Mary Lee Sears, Elizabeth Rogers, Louise McComb, Alice Lawrence, Grace Honeycutt, Lois Ross and Lillian Wheeler.

The Dramatic Club held its meeting January 30 at 4 o'clock. The program was in charge of Janie Burns and Howard Mumford. There is much interest being shown in this new organization.
