

EXPLOSION IN COLLEGE KITCHEN

 piece from piece, breaking out all the window lights in the kitchen, and knocking Douglas completely down. Douglas, however, was unhurt and went for Miss Welch, the dietician, at once.
 Tom, on the other hand, had been struck heavily on a bone in his forehead by a piece of the stove. He was knocked senseless, of course, and his brains were even visible. The covering of his brains however was not broken. He was having convulsions when the doctor arrived and was thought sure to die at first. He was taken at once to St. Agnes Hospital, which is run in connection with St. Augustine school for training colored nurses. Late Sunday afternoon, Tom had regained consciousness. By Monday noon hope of his recovery was expressed. We regret the accident and sincerely hope that Tom will soon be completely well and able to take up his work again.

CAVINESS CLASS LEADS FOR THIRD TIME

 phasizing the percentage of the Sunday School Classes too much, but if we are making high grades in school work why can we not strive toward this end in the Sunday School Work?
 Let's wake up and move on to a greater and more efficient Sunday School Department.

MADALINE ELLIOTT VISITS WINSTON-SALEM

 here she hurried to Madison, was met by Mr. Martin, and spoke in the church services. Miss Elliot was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Brown for lunch after which they immediately began a long mountain drive to Ayresville where Miss Elliott gave another talk.
 In Winston-Salem Miss Elliott had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Martin and afterwards caught the 9 o'clock train for Raleigh bringing with her a box of candy and a magazine.
 The enthusiasm and interest of the people was shown in the publicity of Miss Elliott's work. Two Saturday papers ran her picture and an announcement of her speaking engagements.
 We have the good news that Mayodan Church has gone over the top and that the same results are expected from Madison. The last report-supper of Madison Church will be held February 28 in Winston-Salem. However, Mr. Martin says it will be the last provided they go over the top also.
 We know that good work is being done for the campaign in the western part of the state by the wonderful spirit of coöperation shown by people.
