

A hundred years ago a forest stood here;
A man with powder in his gun went forth to hunt a deer;
But now the times have changed somewhat; they're on a different plan—
A "dear" with powder on her nose goes forth to hunt a man.

A college paper is a grand invention,
For the school gets all the fame;
The printer gets all the money,
And the staff all the blame.

He: I'll be yours on one condition.
Sue Layton: That's easy. I entered college on six.

She: I'm glad I don't like lemons.
He: Why?
She: Because I hate lemons, and if I liked lemons I'd have to eat them.

There is a club in New York devoted to the laziest men in the world. Any attempt on the part of a member to hurry is punished with a fine. One day a member was seen driving by the club committee at a fast rate of speed. Summoned before the committee he excused himself by saying that he was too lazy to take his foot off the accelerator.

IT USUALLY WORKS

"Do you know how to make a peach cordial?"
"Sure, send her some candy."

A new clerk, dictating a few days ago, was in doubt as to the use of a certain phrase, so he said to the stenographer:
"Do you retire alone?" and the wistful-eyed one replied rather sleepily:
"No, I sleep with mamma."

"Are you the groom?" asked the bewildered old gentleman at a very elaborate wedding.

"No, sir," was the reply of the embarrassed young man, "I was eliminated in the preliminary try-out."

"Whom did you vanquish today, O Octavius?"
"Great Caesar, you got your Gaul!"

Early to bed
And early to rise
Makes most fools miss
The best of their lives.

Old Lady to Prisoner: "What do those numbers on your back mean?"
Prisoner: "That's my pen name."

"Is your roommate in love?"
"Is he! He's so bad he makes me wake him up every fifteen minutes after he's gone to bed so he can go to bed again thinking of his girl."

"I'll have you know—hic-hic—that I'm a part of the Standard Oil Company."

"And what part are you?"
"Hic—one of the tanks."

"Goodbye, my dear; I must leave you."
"How much?"

Love is like hash—you have to have plenty of confidence in it to enjoy it.

WAKE FOREST GLEE CLUB PLANS SEVERAL TRIPS

Under the leadership of their director, Prof. K. T. Raynor, the boys are making great plans for the spring season. Trips are being arranged for the Eastern and Western parts of the State. The first trip of any length will be to Waynesville, and at this time the club will be gone for three or four days and will give at least four or five concerts in that section of the state.

MUSINGS ON THE WEATHER A LA WALT MASON

a silver lining! Somewhere in the world the sun's a shinin'! The goodness knows I wish it would shine here awhile.

This is being writ during study hour. You know what that is? Well, I'll tell you. It's the time you are 'sposed to study. But here's what happens: You go to see the people on your hall. If they are not studying you stay and talk to them because you all don't have anything else to do. If they are studying you stay and talk, to 'em because you don't think it is good for them to study. It might hurt them. That's study hour. They have some "Busy" signs that look real sweet on the doors.

Do write to me. I can see clear to the dining room—there's my mail box all the time.

This isn't much. But you know news is a scarcity. (That doesn't mean I'm scairt of it!)

Love,
MYRA.

When Mother puts out the light, tiny Katherine says: "Put it back, it makes my eyes dark!"

KATE JONES TAYLOR, '14.

T. C. was naming several planets, and mentioned Uranus.

Robert (aged two) spoke up: "It's not Uranus, T. C. It's Unc' Remus."
GERTRUDE HORN WAGSTAFF, '13.

Joy, aged five, was feeling very tenderly of a little scab on her knee, when Mother came into the room.

"I'm just debating with myself whether I'll pull this scab off," she remarked.

LOUISE BENNETT SATTERWHITE, '14.

A deaf woman entered a church with an ear trumpet. Soon after she had seated herself an usher tip-toed over and whispered, "One toot and out you go."

Student: You say you don't feel well? I'll bet you've got acute indigestion.

Co-ed: Aw, g'wan! I'll bet you say that to all the girls.

"I hear Mr. Jones left everything he had to the orphans' home."

"Is that so? What did he leave?"
"Twelve children."

"Cutting class, eh?"
"Yes, illegal holiday."

NOT SUPPOSED TO BE POETRY

"Had Been Chose" came out last week
Made us feel as weak as weak
But everyone knows—
That a typographical error was
"Had Been Chose!"

"Has Been Chose"

They say to write on "Has Been Chose,"

I really can't guess why.

I have worked whatever brain I have, I'll feel as if I shall die.

It's a "typographical error," they say, (If you happen to know what they mean);

At least it's something about something That once it seems has been.

And it seems as if all this silly fuss Is 'cause some one forgot "lee"—

It's only a little mistake, you see, But if it was wrong—what then?

You don't see much sense in this, do you?

I can't say it's very big—

But as I say it's an error

That appeared in last week's Twig.

So after this to avoid a fuss,

And such a silly rhyme,

As well as all these foolish words, And wasting perfectly good time,

The next time you are writing for THE TWIG,

And you speak of "Has Been Chose,"

For heaven's sake don't forget "lee"— It's important! With that I close.

THE FAMILY MENAGERIE

Remarked little Tommy: "Everybody in our family is some kind of an animal."

"What do you mean?" asked his mother.

"Why, mother, you're a dear, you know."

"Yes, Tommy."

"And baby is mother's little lamb; I'm the kid; sister is some chicken, and dad's the goat."—Ex.

STYLE GARMENTS

more or less intimate- - -

Fashion tells us that the new outer apparel demands that underdress be in strict accord with both costume and occasion. Style, texture, color, comfort and fit . . . all contribute to that well-dressed look and feeling.

Hosiery, too, is an important feature. Hosiery is a real style influence this Spring, so choose carefully these units of your dress ensemble. At this store are these wearables—"different," in new styles, of good taste—right in quality.
