

PERSONALS

Miss Mary Willis, '28, and mother, Mrs. C. C. Willis, of Asheville, spent Thursday night at the college.

Dr. Brewer is in Lexington, Ky., where he is attending the meetings of the Southern Association of Colleges.

Miss Evabelle Covington, formerly dean of women, who is now teaching sociology at Salem College, spent the Thanksgiving holidays at the college.

The following invitations have been received by members of the Wingate Junior College Club:

"The season approaches,
In fact it is here;
But ere we depart
Away from here,
Let's spend an evening
Right jolly and free
In memory of dear old W. J. C.
Meredith College, Dec. 7, 1929, 8 p.m.
R. S. V. P."

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas, of Rocky Mount, were guests at the college during the week-end.

Miss Ruth Starling spent the week-end at Salemburg.

Miss Irma Rogers, '31, spent the week-end at the college with Miss Blanche Sharpe.

Miss Alma Carter spent the week-end at her home in Fayetteville.

Miss Eleanor Covington spent the week-end in Raleigh with her mother.

Miss Frances Whitehead spent the week-end at her home in Ramseur.

Miss Margaret Durham, '24, and Miss Elizabeth Nash, '24, were guests of Dr. Julia Harris during the past week-end.

Miss Mildred Morris, of Charlotte, had her mother as a guest during the week-end.

Misses Harriet Frances Madry, Ruth Winslow, Mary Lucille Broughton, and Rachael Marshburn spent the past week-end in Hertford.

All social items must be in the Publication Office (Room 3, Dormitory A) by 6 o'clock each Monday evening.

COLLEGE RECEIVES GENEROUS DONATION FOR MISSION WORK

Announcement has been made by President Gaines concerning a generous donation to the college recently by Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Roop, of Wake Forest. This donation, a sum of $6,500, is to be held in perpetuity as a special fund for the promotion of missions and is to be disbursed, according to the terms of the gift, in the following manner:

1. As a special fund for the education of candidates for the mission field; or
2. For the further training of missionaries on furlough or leave; or
3. For the stimulation of interest in the actual problems of missions, either in the countries where missions are now being carried on or may at any future date be undertaken.

This donation was made possible through a very generous and altruistic spirit. The gift came as a result of the sale of a laundry in Louisburg, the proceeds of which sale were given to the college. Mr. and Mrs. Roop could have done this only with the consequence of sacrifice of personal interest.

A very peculiar circumstance is associated with the donation, since Mr. Roop is not a Baptist, nor is he an alumnus of this institution. His action proves a very keen interest in this college and the work which it is doing, as well as in missions.—Old Gold and Black.

KEEP AGOIN'

If this school is all run wrong,
Don't go 'round and sing that song;
Keep it to yourself and hurry on,
Just keep agoin'.

If all your work is hard for you,
Don't cry around and look so blue;
Just stay at your task and see it through,
An' keep agoin'.

If the teachers don't suit your taste,
On them words you needn't waste.
Just get to work an' find your place,
An' keep agoin'.

If all your grades aren't 'very high,
'Tain't no use to sit and cry;
Just pick up your books an' say you'll try,
An' keep agoin'.

If some students you don't like,
And want to scorn them just for spite,

Just pick up your temper an' hold it tight,
An' keep agoin'.

If your room has gone to waste,
Don't go 'round with a sulky face;
Hunt up a broom an' clean the place,
An' keep agoin'.

If the meals aren't of your kind,
'Tain't no use to fuss an' whine;
Just take your share of all you find,
An' keep agoin'.
