

THE TWIG

Volume IX

MEREDITH COLLEGE, RALEIGH, N. C., APRIL 17, 1930

Number 21

Erin Bloodworth Gives Pleasing Piano Recital

Pupil for Graduation Heard Appreciatively By Large Audience In Auditorium

Friday evening, April 11, at 8:30 o'clock, Miss Erin Bloodworth gave a beautiful piano recital in the auditorium of Meredith College. Miss Bloodworth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Bloodworth of Raleigh. She is a senior and a pupil for graduation under Miss Mae Crawford.

The stage was banked with ferns and decorated with a lovely basket of pink and white roses, snapdragons and carnations.

Miss Bloodworth wore a pink-and-white flowered moiré evening gown which had a draped skirt reaching to the floor. She carried an arm bouquet of pink snapdragons and roses.

The recital was presented excellently and it was received ap-

(Continued on page four)

Dr. Leiby Addresses Barber Biology Club

The Barber Biology Club held its regular monthly meeting in the Astro hall Thursday, April 11, at 6:45, with the president, Evelyn Sherwin, presiding.

The club had as its guest and speaker of the evening Dr. R. W. Leiby, of the State Entomology Department. He gave a most interesting and enlightening illustrated lecture on insects. He introduced his talk by saying that there are over a half million known species of insects in the world and over eight thousand in North Carolina. He divided insects into two large groups—those with sucking and those

(Continued on page two)

Little Theater To Give Play By Oscar Wilde

The Little Theater Dramatic Club has chosen as its major production this year Oscar Wilde's play, "Lady Windemere's Fan," which is to be presented on May 3d. The play, a tragi-comedy, is being coached by Mrs. Blaylock. It is a sophisticated, thoroughly charming story of domestic troubles and it holds the attention from one end to the other. The cast is made up from members of this year's Dramatic Club and from the new members that have just been taken in.

The new members who have been selected by the Little Theater from the dramatic productions of this year are: Active—Elizabeth Ayscue, Oreon Bostick, Kitty Makepeace, Ruth Starling; associate—Jane Jones, Sallie Council, Mary Barber, Birdie Lee Debnam, Martha Vaccelli, Pat Abernethy, Rachel Briggs, Nancy McDaniel.

Wake Forest B.Y.P.U.'S Entertain At Meredith

On Saturday night, April 12, the Wake Forest B. Y. P. U.'s gave a party in honor of the Meredith girls which was greatly enjoyed. All were first ushered into the Astro hall, where punch was served and everybody was heartily welcomed. No sooner had the boys begun to pick their partners, when the group was divided according to the months of their birthdays and one-half of the crowd went into the Phi hall.

Under the direction of James Earp, a lively program, consisting of stunts, Negro spirituals, and stringed music, was given in both halls. Between the numbers the members of each B. Y. P. U. became better acquainted through progressive dates.

Later in the evening all met in the Astro hall again and were served delicious ice cream, cakes, and peanuts. After many peppy yells and songs the guests were bid a jolly goodnight and each left, having had a very pleasant time.

Organization of League Of Women Voters Here

On Friday night, April 11, a chapter of the League of Women Voters was organized on the Meredith campus. This step is one of undoubted advancement on the part of the student body, and one in which the college takes pride, as only four college units are being established in North Carolina. These are to be located at Duke University, N. C. C. W., the University of North Carolina, and Meredith.

At the initial meeting Friday night Miss Keith, in direction, outlined the general plan of organization and work, which promises to be a program of unusual interest. The election of

(Continued on page four)

International Relations Club Holds Meeting

The International Relations Club met Tuesday evening, April 1st. A joint meeting was held with the International Relations Club from State College. Informal discussions of military training in college, naval disarmament, and communistic government were held. The contribution of Mr. Joe Moore to the first topic was especially helpful. Anne Simms spoke on the recent events which have taken place at the disarmament conference. Chloris Kellum discussed Russia and the Soviets. Miss Herndon gave an interesting talk on Communism and Religion.

MISS BRANCH GIVES BRILLIANT CONCERT

Enthusiastic Audience Praises Piano Recital Given April 6

The faculty concert given Sunday, April 6, attracted a large crowd that was enthusiastic in its praise. The concert, a piano recital given by Miss Virginia Branch, was one of the most interesting of the year. Miss Branch has before shown her ability as a pianist, and never had she played with more freedom, mastery, and assurance than she did in this recital.

The program she selected was a difficult one, including numbers by Bach, Beethoven, and Liszt that made tremendous demands on Miss Branch's technique; but all difficulties seemed to be cast aside as she played.

The opening number was Bach's "Fantasia Cromatica," which was played in such a manner as to win the hearty applause

(Continued on page two)

Program By Art Dept. Honoring Senior Class

Monday evening, April 6, the Art Department presented a very picturesque program, honoring the Senior Class. It consisted of interpretations of both paintings and marbles cleverly portrayed by members of the Art Department and several from the student body. The ingenious manner in which these creations were arranged heightened the feeling of admiration which prevails in regard to the professors of art, Miss Ida Po-teat and Miss Mary Tillery. The

(Continued on page two)

Meredith Home Ec. Girls Take Part In Style Show

The eleventh annual North Carolina State College Textile Exposition was held last week, and on the last day there was a style show in which girls from Meredith, N. C. C. W., and Peace competed. The dresses exhibited were made by the girls from the home economics departments of these various schools, and the fabrics were woven by the State College students of the Textile School.

Meredith was well represented by over a dozen girls who modeled dresses, and Ruth Britt won first place among the forty-one contestants. She was crowned "Exposition Queen" and was awarded a beautiful evening gown by a Raleigh merchant. She wore a green-and-white ensemble with accessories of gray.

Other Meredith girls who won places in the contest were Annie Mildred Herring, Billie Sapp, and Jo Broadwell. These received prizes, also donated by Raleigh merchants.

(Continued on page three)

Junior Class Entertains Seniors At Lovely Banquet

Mrs. Norwood To Be Honored By Art Dept.

The Art Department is honoring Mrs. Octavia Norwood, our beloved nurse, on April 24, by presenting to the college on that day an excellent portrait of her, painted by Miss Mary Tillery of the department. Dr. Delia Dixon-Carroll will present the portrait at the chapel hour, and there will also be expressions of appreciation from faculty and students. It is hoped that many trustees and former students who know the valuable work Mrs. Norwood has done for the college will be present on that occasion.

Mrs. Cooper Gives Talk On Woman Suffrage

The feature of the chapel hour on Wednesday, April 9, was a talk by Mrs. Cooper, who was a prominent worker during the struggle for woman suffrage and who has since been a leader in the activities of the League of Women Voters.

In her opening speech Mrs. Cooper spoke of the obstacles, in the way of prejudice and long-established precedents, which the women of the United States were compelled to overcome in their fight to secure for themselves the right of the franchise. Intense zeal and remarkable capabilities were among the qualities which they showed during the struggle, and which went far toward proving their ability as citizens deserving the right to an active participation in the government of their country.

Women, Mrs. Cooper asserted, are needed in politics, because

(Continued on page two)

Cookery Club Gives Dinner For Trustees

Monday evening, April 14, at 6 o'clock, the Cookery Class 21, under the supervision of Miss Ellen Brewer, had as its guests the Board of Trustees at dinner in the dining-room of the Home Economics Department.

Spring flowers and foliage were attractively used as decorations, and a delicious four-course dinner was served. Competent waitresses were secured in Elizabeth Apple and Frances Watkins; the other members of the class had different duties, serving as cooks.

This was one of the first entertainments by the Cookery Class 21, although the Advanced Cooking Class has promoted similar entertainments several times during the past year. This entertainment was one of the most successful, and was enjoyed by everyone.

Upperclass Guests Are Transported To Fairyland In the Light of a Blue Moon

Tuesday night, April 15, the Junior Class entertained the seniors at a most delightful banquet. The theme of the entertainment was the fact that strange events occur "once in a blue moon." That is how it came to be that the seniors were transported to the realm of Faërieland while the Blue Moon shed its light.

Upon entering the dining-hall the guests beheld a blue crescent moon shining down on tables that were lit by blue tapers. Silver stars glinted from the ceiling, that had miraculously become skylike. Butterflies appeared to hover in the air. The scene was one of a woodland glade, for there were many shrubs and trees that added to the fairyland effect.

The program which made known to the guests the plan for the evening was rainbow-hued. Upon the front there was a blue crescent and a most bewitching faërie. The program gave the unique names of the faërie food, which was enjoyed by all.

The toasts given during the evening were:

To Titania's Royalty—Ruth Phillips. Response—Glennie Paul.
To Oberon, King of the Faeries—Evelyn McCall. Response—Dr. Chas. E. Brewer.
To Puck and Robin Goodfellow—Neil Baker. Response—Miss Lawrence.

(Continued on page four)

Student Recital Very Interesting

One of the most interesting numbers of the student recital Thursday afternoon, April 10, was the organ solo played by Leila Holding. The composition, "Melody in A Flat," by Shelley, was a fitting opening number for the program, which otherwise included piano and voice numbers.

The concluding number, too, "Staccato Caprice," by Vogrich, played by Glennie Paul, was one of the best numbers on the program. This was played with a great deal of fiery brilliance.

The program was a short one, but each number was interesting and entertaining. The following numbers were given:

Organ—Melody in A Flat.....Shelley
Leila Holding
Piano—Petite Bolero.....Ravina
Elizabeth Baucum
Voice—Ecstasy.....Beach
Allah.....Chadwick
Bonnie Kate Hardin
Piano—Baracolle in F.....Gade
Mary Lucile Broughton
Voice—Down in the Forest.....Ronald
Little Barefoot.....O'Hara
Marguerite Mason
Piano—Staccato Caprice.....Vogrich
Glennie Paul