Everywhere we have been constantly hearing people discuss the financial depression which the country is facing. And, as Meredith students, it is the financial crisis which North Carolina Baptists are facing that we are most interested in.

It seems to me that this is just another instance which shows a "blessing in disguise." The depression has brought hardships and troubles, but at the same time, it is serving as a means of binding together the Baptists of North Carolina with ties that can never be broken.

It is a consolation to a student for her to realize that it is a powerful force that is back of Meredith. And we know that the State Convention won't fail us.

What gorgeous weather! Why not walk to town, or anywhere, in fact? It seems that some one has thought of it and thinks that as a practical idea, it's "not so hot."

THE KAMPUS KAT

There's really nothing to be catty about this week. Things are peculiarly quiet. If I wished to be apprehensive I might twirl my whiskers knowingly and term this time a lull before a storm.

Valentine's Day came and went as such things will. I felt quite cheerful that day, for I haven't seen so much curiosity evident in many days.

Time is marching on and I think soon something will spring a surprise on us. I have to be careful strolling about these days. The wind is a gay play-Perhaps wearing good old oxfords instead of high-heeled pumps would lessen that writer's blisters and fatigue, and greatly increase her enjoyment of walking.

Now having disposed of the objector to walking-to-town (for the present, at least) I shall proceed to get out in the fresh spring-like air and sunshine and to go hiking gayly along for miles and miles seems to be an urge which many girls are having.

And besides the good that it would do our constitutions and souls, think of the help it would be to the poor pocketbook! So let's get out the good old oxfords and sally briskly forth and walk to town!

Meredith students are certainly grateful to those who made possible the presence of Dr. Alfred Porter on the campus during the past week. He has certainly been a benediction to all who have heard him.

The students at Meredith realize the unusual favor that was theirs in having for their revival a preacher who is so much in demand. They realize their good fortune especially in that they have had Dr. Porter for the second year in succession.

fellow with absolutely no respect for dignity or position. At least I think he must have a delightful sense of humor. He makes these people look so funny, clutching their permanents that wave in the breeze.

If anyone discovers any news around here I wish I could find it out. I've often thought of starting a Katty Komment Klub, but I sometimes fear the consequences.

But, I must kurtail my komments and since I am not an artist you can draw your own konclusions.

Your critic, eral times every week to the University of Virginia students. Their loss was without a doubt Meredith's infinite gain. The girls want him back again next year!

every pass. She took every balance pass coming her way. It was very unusual too, that a squad could go through a season without making a foul.

Elma Currin, manager and forward for the Juniors, did the chief scoring for her team. Her shots were well directed and hardly ever missed the goal.

Virginia Green represents the Sophomore team on the squad. Virginia, by virtue of her height, has an unusual advantage in getting the ball. She was quick, agile, and dependable.

HONOR SOCIETY REVISES GROUP'S CONSTITUTION

ality will be considered only when records are identical; i.e., when two people tie for the election to membership. The scholarship record for three years will be considered, two years of which must have been spent at Meredith, although a one year's record from a college of equal standing will be recognized.

FACULTY NOTES

Miss Carolyn Peacock was a visitor in Wake Forest last week-end.

Miss Alice Keith was the week-end visitor of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mayo in Tarboro.

Miss Lattie Rhodes spent last week-end in Wagram visiting her father, who is seriously ill with influenza.

Miss Mary James Spruill spent the past week-end in Rocky Mount with her brother and his family.

Mrs. B. W. Cooper, who has been spending some time in New York with her son, has recently returned to Meredith College.

Miss Madaline Elliott addressed the members of the Wake County Interdenominational Young People's Sunday School Conference last Tuesday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church.

Professor Huggins and Mrs. Lillian Wallace attended the dinner at State College last week, which was attended by a large number of college professors. The meeting was presided over by Dr. D. B. Bryan of Wake Forest, and the course of study for the state elementary education was the main topic for discussion.

property. "Good faith, once lost, cannot be repaired," according to Mr. Broughton, who referred to the making of the bonded obligations at Gastonia in 1923, in Baptist leaders pledging the present on faith in the future. It was impossible to foresee the condition of 1930 and 1931.

EXCHANGE

Guilford College's chief claim to fame now rests on its A Capella Choir which is being widely recognized by musical authorities. It is appearing at N. C. C. W. this week under the auspices of the Lions Club of Greensboro.

Agnes Scott College in Decatur, Ga., is unusually lucky. Admiral Byrd is to lecture there on February 26. Meredith's Senior Class should hear him and see his pictures of the South Pole!

The Salem College Salemite dedicates this past week's issue as a memorial to Bishop Rondthaler and contains sketches of his life and tributes paid him by many people, such as: Gov. O. Max Gardner, Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, Mr. Josephus Daniels.

There's a very orthodox account of a wedding in the Wake Forest Old Gold and Black which ends up with the statement—"after the ceremony the victims left for an extended wedding tour."

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BANQUET AT MEREDITH

as the speaker of the evening. Mr. Legge is the chairman of the Federal Farm Board, and was formerly president of the International Harvester Company. He was heard with a great deal of interest by the large number of guests that attended the banquet.

During the evening music was furnished by the Sir Walter Hotel orchestra, and also several selections were given by the Meredith College Glee Club. Raleigh's famous entertainer, Sherwood Brockwell, was also present to add greater entertainment to the occasion.

A large number of Meredith girls served as waitresses and were greeted with great applause as they entered the dining hall. As a fitting close for this occasion, a rising vote of thanks was extended to these girls as well as to Dr. Chas. E. Brewer and the faculty for the dining room, the excellent dinner served, and the music furnished.

LIBERAL SUM IS RAISED ON CAMPUS HERE

Wake Forest College faculty and student body took up this matter at the chapel hour the day before and made a generous and sacrificial offering for the Mother Convention in the critical hour of her need. President Kitchin and his colleagues together with the student body of Wake Forest have made a great demonstration of the loyalty and devotion of this, the oldest child of the Baptist State Convention.
