LAMAR STRINGFIELD APPEARS IN CONCERT

Appearing in Raleigh for the first time in over four years, Lamar Stringfield, flutist, composer, and conductor, Saturday night, February 28, presented an exceedingly interesting concert in the school auditorium. In his program, which was sponsored by the Senior Class, Stringfield was ably assisted by Adeline McCall, pianist; D. A. McPherson, violinist, and the University Faculty Chamber Orchestra.

The program opened with the Lolillet "Sonata in F Major" for flute and piano, a work extremely interesting from a musical standpoint and, in addition, being written by a flutist, well adapted to showing off the beautiful tones which Stringfield can draw from his valuable Lot flute. This was followed by Cui's "Fine Petite Duets" for flute, and violin, with piano accompaniment, which were noteworthy not only for Stringfield's fine playing but also

Miss Emma Leachman Is Speaker at Chapel

On Friday morning, February 27, Miss Emma Leachman, field secretary for the Southern Baptist Convention, addressed an eloquent plea to the student body of Meredith College for the aid of home missions. In opening her talk Miss Leachman said "All things come to him who waits—if he waits long enough. Now, I've been waiting a mighty long time for an opportunity to speak to the girls of Meredith College and at last the chance has come."

Going directly to the heart of her address, Miss Leachman said "There is a great need for witnesses right here in North Carolina as well as all over the Southland. In the United States alone there are forty-seven million people over ten years of age who have made no confession of

DR. SPILLMAN WILL COME TO MEREDITH

Dr. Bernard W. Spilman, noted Baptist preacher who recently celebrated his sixtieth birthday, will arrive at Meredith College Tuesday, March 10, to make a month's visit. It had been planned for Dr. Spilman to spend his birthday here at Meredith; but how glad every one is that he will be able to make a "genuine" visit.

Dr. Spilman is a very active Baptist worker in the state; and it is quite fortunate for Meredith that he has been able to accept the long-standing invitation. He will take an active part in all the religious organizations here at Meredith during his stay. As

GLEE CLUB CONCERT OBJECT OF MUCH INTEREST

Dramatization of Nevin's "Venezia" is Beautiful Feature of Program

The Meredith College Glee Club will give its annual concert in the Meredith Auditorium on Friday evening, March 6, at 8:15 o'clock. The club consists of twenty-two members beside the accompanist, Gaynelle Hinton, and the director, Miss Rowland, the voice teacher at the college.

The program this year will be different from any recent program of the club, for it will contain a novelty. After the formal part of the program, which consists of many songs of varied types, and a duet, and a piano solo, the club will present in costume a dramatization of Venezia, by Nevin.

Venezia is a cycle of four songs and has been arranged by Spross for three voices, with words by Frederick Martens. The club

MEREDITH'S DEAN HAS RETURNED TO CAMPUS

Miss Caroline Biggers, dean of women, returned to Meredith College last week after an absence of over six weeks, and every one welcomed her return very warmly.

Miss Biggers was away on account of the illness and death of her mother, who was matron at Mars Hill College. Mrs. Biggers was one who was loved and admired by every one whom she came in contact with. She was an utmost and devout Christian in her daily living; and her beautiful personality will be missed by every one. Her influence was very outstanding in both the col-

Two Piano Numbers Are Features of Recital

The twelfth recital of the season given on Thursday afternoon, February 26, by the students of the Music Department was unusual for its variety and was greatly enjoyed. Contributing much to the pleasure it gave were the two-piano numbers, one played by Miss Martha Galt and Margaret Bridger, the other by Sarah Herring and Margaret Preslar. The program ranged from the depth and beauty of a Beethoven sonata and the tonal loveliness of Grieg's "Mystine" to the buoyant humor

EMERGENCY FUND IS SUCCESSFULLY RAISED

The Baptists of North Carolina went "over the top" in response to the emergency appeal which was sent out on February 8. The drive continued from then until February 22 in which time the required amount of money was raised. Each church was asked to give a certain amount, and in many instances, this amount was far surpassed.

This finance drive, which was made in order to pay a debt of the Baptist State Convention to the Bank of New Orleans on March 1, held a special interest to every one since it not only affected our denominational schools, but also the credit of the Baptists of North Carolina.

Meredith, of course, had her part in this great drive. Money was raised by the different classes which amounted to $333.17. Also an amount of $1,902.00 was raised by the faculty which gave a total of $2,235.17 contributed by Meredith to this great emergency fund.

Phi Society Presents "Springtime" Program

"Springtime" was the topic of the interesting Phi program Monday night, March 2. Mary Lee read Alfred Noyes' "The Barrel Organ," expressing the poet's thought of spring. This was followed by the short story writer's idea of spring, exemplified in O' Henry's "Merry Month of May" which was expressively read by Bessie Stephenson. Alma Dark concluded the program with the song "Springtime" by Oley Speaks.

In the short business session preceding, the president, Kathleen Durham announced that the Phi play is to be "The Whole Town's Talking" and will be given some time around the middle of April. Votes were taken for the coach and Miss
