

Annual Art Evening Honors Betsy Hartness

Observing an annual custom in honor of the Senior Class, the Meredith Art Department had its Art Evening Saturday night, March 7, with Miss Betsy Hartness, art Senior, as the special honoree. Miss Ida Potcat made the introductory talk and announced the various pictures. The first picture went back to prehistoric times, about 5000 B.C., to portray Shu-bad, the bobbed-haired queen of the Chaldees. Her head-dress was the striking feature of the picture; its original is in the British Museum. Miss Ethel Day represented the queen.

Between numbers Mr. E. McNeil Potcat sang "Devonshire Cream and Cheese" with Miss Galt as his accompanist.

The second picture was a "Primitive Madonna" of the

Many New Books Given To Library by Class of '30

It is of much interest to the students at Meredith College to know that many new books have recently been added to the library. Among them are books purchased with money donated by the Class of 1930, for the Department of Art, Music, Philosophy, and Psychology. There are such books on art as Venice and its Art, by Powers; Meaning of Art, by McMahon, and Leonardo da Vinci by Gronan. Among the new books on music there is Story of Music, by Henderson and Musical Tour Through the Land of the Past, by Rolland. There are books on philosophy and psychology as Prologium, Monologium, Cur Deus homo? by Saint Anselm and Psychological Types, by Jung.

There are also many books on history, science, religion, fiction and biography among the new additions. There is the History of the Franks, by Gregory, Bishop of Tours; Making of Chemistry, by Harrow; New Testament Ethics, by C. A. A. Scott; Washington Square, by Henry James, and John Galsworthy, by Haye-Smith. A more complete list of the new additions is as follows:

Bacon: Jesus the Son of God.
Beale: The Critical Year, a Study of Andrew Johnson and Reconstruction.

Baikie: Sea-kings of Crete.
Blackwell: Lucy Stone, Pioneer of Woman's Rights.

Meredith Delegates At- tend I. R. C. Convention

Duke University was the scene of the eighth Annual Conference of Southern Students on International Relations for a three-day session which began Thursday, February 26. There were two hundred persons, including student delegates from ten Southern states and speakers of national and international reputation.

M. Pierre de Lanux, director of the Paris International Office of the League of Nations, spoke on "The League of Nations" and "The Outlook for Disarmament." Mr. Edward S. Corwin, McCormick Professor of Jurisprudence, Princeton University, spoke on "The Foreign Relations of China." Mr. George Grafton Wilson, Professor of International Law, Harvard University, gave an address on "Limitations in the Effectiveness of Treaty Provisions." Others on the program were Miss Amy Hemingway Jones, Carnegie Endowment for International Peace; Mr. Keener C. Frazer, University of North Carolina, and Dr. C. B. Gosnelle, of Emory University.

M. Lanux said in one of his addresses that the International Relations Clubs in the South are doing more than any other organization to promote the desire for peace.

Meredith Trio Gives Delightful Concert

The seventh in the series of Meredith faculty concerts was given on Sunday afternoon, March 8, by the Meredith Trio, presenting an exceedingly interesting program and doing some of the best playing it has ever done. Miss Martha Galt, at the piano; Miss Charlotte Armstrong, violin; and Miss Alverda Rosel, 'cello, composed an ensemble whose playing was well-balanced, sympathetic, and very expressive.

The program opened with the Mendelssohn "Trio in D Minor Op. 49." The rendition of the first movement, "Molto allegro ed agitato" was a clear and brilliant one, followed by the "Andante con moto tranquillo." Some of their best work was done in the typical Mendelssohnian scherzo with its lightness and vivacity, after which the audience applauded most enthusiastically.

MARY LEE

Elected President of Meredith's Student Body for the year 1931-1932.

STUDENT BODY ELECTS MARY LEE PRESIDENT

The student body of Meredith College made the first step toward electing its leaders for the year 1931-32 when it chose Mary Lee, of Florence, South Carolina, as the president of the Student Government Association for the coming year. The outcome of a ballot vote was announced Tuesday, March 3.

In choosing Mary Lee as the leader of the student body it is the general opinion that a more capable person could not have been selected. Mary has proven her versatility by her duties performed in the different capacities of school activities. She has taken an active part in her class, being secretary in the year 1928-29, and treasurer the following year. She has been a member of the Twig staff for two years, and is now one of the managing editors. Her interest in the religious work on the campus proves her worth as a well-rounded girl. At present she is president of the Y. W. A., one of the leading religious organizations of Meredith.

She is a girl of fine character,

Portrait of a Lady Is English Club Book

Henry James' Portrait of a Lady was the book for discussion at the Colton English Club for its March meeting, which was held Wednesday in the social room, first floor, Jones Hall.

After a brief business session, Dr. Julia Harris told something of the life of James. In a most interesting manner she told of her visit to the vicinity of James'

Authority on Forestry Lectures at Meredith

A most interesting and instructive lecture was given by Mr. Wheeler of the Department of Forestry Conservation and Service in the Meredith auditorium Wednesday night, March 4, at 8:30.

Illustrating his lecture with colorful slides, the speaker gave the principal reasons why we need timber, citing the economic need first. "Timber may be used for anything from newspapers, building purposes, manufacturing rayon and candy wrappings to railroad ties," stated Mr. Wheeler. "Forestry as a reservoir which makes the streams even and of the same depth" was another need mentioned. The third need is the protection of wild animals. The forests save them. "We need public forests for game refuges," asserted the speaker, in giving the importance for animal and bird conservation. The human use of forests for recreation was the final need cited. Dr. Wheeler concluded his delightful lecture with the well known poem, "Trees."

Mr. Holmes of State College introduced the speaker.

Meredith I. R. C. Holds Meeting With State Club

The Meredith College International Relations Club held its second joint meeting with the State College Club Tuesday evening, March 3, in the Astro Hall.

Fannie Bailey gave a brief report of the recent conference of Southern students on international relations which met at Duke University.

The topics of discussion for the evening were South America and Russia's Five-Year Plan. Prof. C. P. Loomis, of the State College Club, led the discussion of the Revolution of the South American Countries.

Miss Nettie Herndon, faculty adviser of the Meredith club, led the discussion on Russia.

Following the first discussion a fifteen minute social period was observed at which time punch and cakes were served.

Glee Club Concert Receives Much Praise

Interest, enthusiastic applause, and hearty praise on the part of the audience proved the concert given by the Meredith College Glee Club on Friday night, March 6, a success in the genuine sense of the word. It needed no more than the first group of songs to show that the Glee Club was one of exceptional merit; and throughout the program the singing of the club was artistic and colorful, showing many fine interpretive touches, the whole program reflecting the great ability of Miss Ethel Rowland as a director and as a musician.

The program was made up of selections noteworthy for their individual loveliness, instant appeal, and interesting contrast among themselves. The first group contained two numbers by

Home Management House Established on Campus

A Home Management House has finally been acquired on Meredith College campus. Who does not like to pass through Vann Hall during meal time and smell the savory odors floating over and around the dormitory? It is quite a temptation, but one can at least console herself to the effect that some one is enjoying or going to enjoy a good meal!

This home management house, that has caused so much excitement far and near, is a problem in home management; and amounts to laboratory work in household management class. The furniture and decorations were planned in the fall by Miss Ellen Brewer and the girls in her class in home management. The purpose set forth by the girls has been to make the rooms used into as an attractive and convenient apartment possible on a limited amount of money. Three suites on first floor Vann Hall were used for the apartment; one for the living room and instructor's room; one for the dining room and kitchen with a butler's kitchen being made out of the bath room between these two rooms; and another for the students' bedrooms.

The living room is very attractively furnished, carrying out the color scheme of mulberry and blue. The sofa, which was loaned, was upholstered by Miss Ellen Brewer and the girls themselves. The rug was a gift, while
