WAKE FOREST TO BE SCENE OF BI-ANNUAL N.C.P.A. CONVENTION

J. F. Matthews Announces Program for Fall Meeting

The annual fall convention of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association will be held at Wake Forest College during the week-end of October 27-29, 1932. A. V. Washburn of Wake Forest is president of the Association this year.

J. F. Matthews of Wake Forest, who is chairman of the program committee, has announced the program for the convention. Registration will take place in Wingate Hall Thursday afternoon, at which time the delegates will be entertained at a tea. At 6:30 that evening a wiener roast will be given in the golf cabin, when Dr. H. E. Porter, Dr. T. D. Kitchin, Dr. W. L. Poteat, and Dr. D. B. Bryan will be the speakers.

Friday morning Dr. Benjamin F. Sledd will speak at the general session, after which individual meetings of the annual, newspaper and magazine representatives will be held. The delegates will be the guests of the Castle Theater in the afternoon.

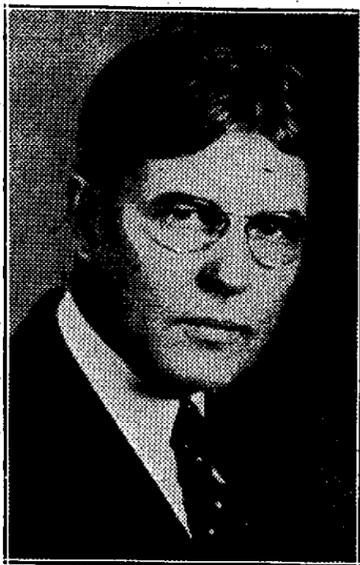

The Honorable Josephus Daniels will be the speaker at the banquet to be given in the Carolina Hotel Friday evening. The final session will be held Saturday morning.

Trip to Hades Made by New Classical Club Members

With the new members as passengers the Helen Hull Law Classical Club made its annual trip through Hades Friday, October 7. Sophie, in a weird costume of gray with a red cross and purple and red head dress, acted the part of Charon, receiving the passengers after they had marched blindfolded around the court. The descent to Hades by Avernus was made in Jones Hall, Hades being located in the underground corridor of Faircloth Hall. On arrival the travellers confessed their sins to Pluto, Carolyn Wray, and were sentenced to various punishments. They rode on the wheel of Ixion conducted by Martha and Nancy Viccellio; ate the food of Tantalus, presided over by Alyne Reich; drank the water of Lethe, administered by Iris Humphrey; were lashed by Tisiphone, Dorothy Merritt; carried water

Prof. B. H. Tyner, former Dean of Winthrop College, replaces Mr. M. A. Huggins as Professor of Education.

L. P. Spelman to Give First Organ Recital

Monday evening, October 17, at eight o'clock, Prof. Leslie P. Spelman will be heard in an organ concert, the first in a series of programs to be presented by members of the music faculty this year. While organist at the American Church of Paris, during the past two years, Prof. Spelman gave monthly concerts which were attended and enjoyed greatly by increasingly large audiences. The faculty members and students of Meredith, as well as outside citizens of Raleigh, are very fortunate in having the opportunity to hear such a program as will be presented Monday evening, and the other programs which will be presented at various intervals during the year by Prof. Spelman.

The concert Monday will include the following numbers:

Sketch in C Major, Schumann.
Chorale Preludes, J. S. Bach.
"O Sacred Head, Once Wounded."
"Sleepers Awake!"

Sanctus, Gounod.

DOZIERS LEAD VESPER SERVICE

Mr. & Mrs. Edwin B. Dozier Tell of Mission Plans in Japan

On Sunday evening, October 9, the Y. W. A. had the pleasure of hearing Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Burke Dozier, who are on their way to Japan. Mr. Dozier will work in the boys' high school and seminary.

The service was appropriately opened with special music, "The Evening Star," by Miss Aileen McMillan and Miss Alverda Rosel.

For the devotional Mrs. Dozier read several passages from the Bible which showed the effect of the light of God's countenance shining on the world. She stated that their purpose in going to Japan was to try to help those people who are in darkness, realize that the light of the King's countenance is shining in the world. She compared this light and its effects on the soul to that of a violet ray treatment. The results of this light, as she gave them were peace, assurance,

Dr. George L. Watkins Trustee of Meredith Dies

Dr. George L. Watkins, pastor of Grace Baptist church of Durham, died at his Trinity Ave. home at 9:30 o'clock Saturday night, October 8. Death followed a two weeks illness.

Dr. Watkins, who had been prominent in Baptist circles over the State for two score years, was a member of the board of trustees of Meredith College.

His Alma Mater, Wake Forest, conferred the honorary degree of D.D. upon him at the 1931 commencement exercises.

First Lecturer

Dr. Charles Lee Smith, authority on political and economic conditions abroad was a speaker at Meredith Monday night.

Meredith Hostess to Wake Forest B. Y. P. U.

The Meredith B. Y. P. U. was again hostess to the B. Y. P. U. of Wake Forest at the annual Fall social of the two organizations, which was held Saturday night, October 8, in the two society halls of Meredith. Both organizations were well represented, and the members of each seemed in just the mood to enter into the spirit of the affair and do their very best to make the entire evening one of enjoyment and good, wholesome fun.

The guests were received in the Phi Hall by Mary C. Shearin and Melba Hunt, who pinned a number on each boy and girl as they came in. It was then up to each person to find his or her partner by searching for the corresponding number to the one he or she had. After the couples were arranged, they were shown into the Astro Hall where chairs were arranged for a progressive game of "get-

DR. CHAS. LEE SMITH DELIVERS LECTURE ON WORLD AFFAIRS

International Relations Club Sponsors Lecture on Conditions Abroad

"The United States, at present, cannot afford to adopt an independent disarmament policy, but decidedly needs a standing army and navy until there is a change in the European situation," Dr. Charles Lee Smith told the Meredith girls in a lecture sponsored by the International Relations Club Friday evening, October 6.

Speaking of Europe as a whole, Dr. Smith said that throughout the entire continent there is a feeling of distrust, of animosity toward the League of Nations, and an effort to avoid the payment of the war debt. Russia, he continued, has as her prime object the destruction of everything. She wants class revolution and the dictatorship of the proletariat. He was told by a prominent Russian refugee in Paris, that when three persons were seen talking together on the streets of Moscow you might be sure two were spies—so prevalent is their distrust of each other. Russia's whole plan is one of destruction, and Dr. Smith warned the girls about the insidious attempts to spread Russian propaganda in American schools and universities.

Turning next to Germany, Dr. Smith spoke of the Communists on one side and the National

Student Council Members Discuss 'Loyalty'-'Honor'

The Student Government Association were in charge of the Wednesday chapel program. The council members were assembled on the stage, and Frances Harris, vice president, presided. The regular monthly report of the council's activities was read by the secretary, Louise Thomas. The student body sang "Alma Mater" and after a devotional led by Frances Harris, Vera Lee Thornton and Martha Viccellio addressed the student body. Vera Lee spoke on Loyalty, and stressed the need of Loyalty on the part of every student to make Meredith "the best college possible." Martha Viccellio gave a comparative discussion of the honor system, outlining the general plan, purpose, and advantage of students working together with the honor system as the basis of their policy in student government. She ap-

Miss Catherine Allen, Delegate of University Women, Tells of Trip to Edinburgh, Scotland

Miss Catherine Allen, Professor of Modern Languages at Meredith, who went as a voting delegate to the International Association of University Women held in Edinburgh, Scotland, this past summer, reports a most interesting time spent entirely in the British Isles. While in England, she made her home in Crosby Hall, Headquarters of the British Federation of University Women.

An automobile trip was made for a week by Miss Allen into Somerset, Devonshire, and old Cornwall, one of the loveliest parts of rural England.

A never to be forgotten experience was Miss Allen's privilege of visiting Stratford-on-Avon where two plays of Shakespeare, "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and "King Lear" were greatly enjoyed in the new Memorial Theater. The university towns of Cambridge and Oxford with their associations of Coleridge, Wordsworth, and Southey, and the old Abbey at Whitby where the poet Caedmon, the earliest of English song writers, lived, were visited.

In discussing her trip, Miss Allen said, "The border country with its unforgettable connection with Sir Walter Scott, Abbotsford, Melrose, and Dryburgh abbies tempted one to linger long in these delightful places because of their historical and literary significance.

"Glasgow, the seat of Glasgow University is the greatest
