

W. T. Bost Addresses Colton English Club

Talks on "Writing" Friday Night of Book Week

Mr. W. T. Bost, reporter for the Greensboro Daily News and other daily papers and also a prominent citizen of Raleigh, spoke to the Colton English Club on Friday evening, November 18, on "Writing."

"Newspaper writing is not literature" said Mr. Bost "but it is concerned with the events of the day and not always with the truth of the day. There is a great difference in writing facts and in writing the truth. Literature in a democracy is almost an untried thing."

Mr. Bost said, "a good book is a good friend and a library is a collection of good friends. A good thing about a library is that a person can go in and select his friends. If he desired romance and chivalry he will read Scott, if he wishes to know about the spiritual world he will read Dante, and for all forms of knowledge he will find no better book than the Bible. "This," said the speaker, "is a library in itself."

"The Bible is the greatest style book for use in writing," he stated. He said that reading must precede writing. Furthermore he said, "the great listeners make the great writers and when we become a listening nation we will become a writing nation."

Faculty "Take-Offs" Benefit Library

In response to the urge to satisfy intense curiosity aroused by the appearance of mysterious posters about the campus, quite a group of students and faculty members attended, on Saturday night, November 19, a program of a type not quite original, yet always interesting, an impersonation of several members of the faculty. It was difficult to judge by the actions of the audience, which group was most amused, faculty or students. Practically all the parts were very well done, however, if one may judge by the reactions of the audience.

The entertainment was planned and sponsored by the library assistants as a part of the annual celebration of Book Week. The proceeds are to go for the purpose of starting a rental collection in the library. This plan was thought of by

Faculty Trio Renders First Recital of Year

The second in the series of faculty concerts to be presented this year was given by the Meredith Trio, Monday evening, November 21, at 8:15 o'clock in the college auditorium. The trio is composed of Miss Charlotte Armstrong, violinist; Miss Alverda Rosel, 'cellist; and Miss Aileen McMillan, pianist. A delightful program of variety and beauty was rendered to the large and appreciative audience which attended the concert.

"Trio in D Major" by Haydn, including the Allegro, Adagio, and Allegro, ma dolce movements, displayed the lucidity, perfect finish, and animation which characterize Haydn's works; and the artistic manner in which the trio rendered the number made it doubly enjoyable to the hearers.

"Trio in E Flat Major," opus 1, by Beethoven was made up of three movements also, Allegro, Adagio Cantabile, and Finale Presto.

The last group was made up of compositions of a type entirely different from those of Haydn and Beethoven, some of them being by contemporary composers. "Nina," by Pergolesi-Kreisler, an arrangement of an old Italian love song, possessed simplicity of style and yet was rich in emotionalism.

"Valse Triste" by Sibelius proved to be one of the favorites

Hockey Championship Gives Juniors Cup

Juniors Defeat Seniors With Score 4-1

One of the fastest, hardest games of the entire hockey season was played Tuesday afternoon by the Juniors and Seniors. This was the last game of the season and was won by the Juniors who had to put up a good fight to get their 4-1 victory over the fighting Seniors. Some of the best defense work of the season was seen in the playing of "Speck" Harris and "Kat" Hawkins for the Seniors and Katherine Davis and Ruth McCoury for the Juniors. At the forward lines, Pat Abernethy, Helen Bennett, Vara Lee Thornton, and Martha Davis played a good game—with Thornton scoring 2 of her team's 4 goals. The Juniors by right of their win have the championship of the season and gain possession of the hockey loving cup for this year. This makes the third trophy now in the possession of the Junior Class.

Student Government Gives Carnival

The members of the Student Government Association were hostesses on Tuesday of last week when they entertained the students of Meredith and their friends at a carnival in the auditorium.

The auditorium was transformed, from its usual sedate appearance, to a gala carnival ground. Colored streamers flowed from the top of the auditorium, thus giving a very unique appearance. Of course, confetti was thrown in great masses and everyone, in a very

The recital was the first of the graduation recitals to be presented this year and was attended by a large number of local and out of town people.

Throughout the recital Miss Yarborough displayed an ease and assurance at her instrument, which, along with her charming stage personality, completely won her audience. The program was one of variety and beauty, and the artistic manner in which it was rendered proved it to be one of unusual enjoyment to all who heard it.

Largo from Concerto in C Minor by Beethoven displayed the deep emotional quality so evident in the composer's works. The orchestral accompaniment to this number was played on a second piano by Miss Crawford.

The second number was Sonata in C Minor by Mozart, including the Allegro, Adagio, and Allegro Assai movements.

Twig Reporter Eavesdrops on "Romancers"

I was unseen and unheard but did I see and hear! What about Freshman play? That's all right. When 8:30 o'clock, December 3, comes you want to be there and see for yourself.

Ann Bradsher and Kathleen Johnson have the leads as the "Romancers"—Sylvette and Percinet. They plot against their fathers, who overhear them in the garden and who make some plots of their own. These are none other than Annie Mae Taylor as Pasquinet, Sylvette's father, and Susan Emma Sloan as Bergomin the father of Percinet! Supposedly they're mortal enemies, but really they're the best of friends. To aid the young lovers they plan an abduction. The lovers find later that this is false. The fathers fall out. Here comes a strange reversal out of all these complications in plot and—but I mustn't spoil it by telling all the secrets. There are lots of good points I haven't even mentioned. You couldn't miss seeing Katy Sams—alias the bravo Strafarel, and Martha Ann Riley as Blaise, the gardener.
