Freshman Awarded Hockey Stick

At the chapel program Friday, Mildred Eaton of Charlotte was awarded the hockey stick given by the Junior Class to the outstanding Freshman hockey player of the season. In awarding the stick, Virginia Garnett, president of the Junior Class, said that the award was made on the basis of athletic ability, sportsmanship, teamwork, attitude, loyalty to the team, and co-operation. It is not an award solely for individual stardom, but for all-around ability, and willingness to cooperate with teammates.

The announcement that the stick had been won by Mildred Eaton was received with a burst of applause which readily conveyed the idea that the student body agreed with the decision of the Juniors and were in approval of the general ability of this Freshman player. There is no denying the fact that Mildred is one of the best all-around hockey players on the campus. Coming to Meredith without ever having any training whatever in hockey, she began with determination and soon developed into a fast and accurate player. She first played in the forward line at inner, then was shifted to half-back, and then to full-back, and played all positions with equal ease and dependability. The fact that Eaton was equally good in all positions and readily available wherever needed was one of the reasons that the Freshman team was as strong as it was.

Introducing Varsity Hockey Team Players

This year's varsity, or all-Meredith, team is surely one of all-around ability and versatility. At the chapel program Friday, letters were awarded by Mrs. Sorrell, director of Physical Education, to the following players:

Martha Davis ('34) of Winston-Salem, who won a varsity letter for the third time. She was the center forward and mainstay of the Junior team, directing the play by accurate passing and rapid dribbling.

Vara Lee Thornton ('34) of Dunn, who was one of the best offensive players on the field. Her ability to get down the field ready to receive passes has made her invaluable to her team.

Pat Abernethy ('33) of Raleigh, who played center and inner for the Seniors. She played a steady dependable game, proving equally good in the offensive and defensive.

Mae Marshburn ('35) of Wallace, who played a flashy, dependable game at center for the Sophs.

Hazel Boswell ('36) of Burlington, who alternated at center and forward for the Frosh. She played a dependable fast game and was one of the pivots of her team.

Mildred Eaton ('36) of Charlotte, who won the stick awarded to the most outstanding Freshman player. Her ability to play any position made her invaluable to her team.

Eleanor Rozar ('34) of Raleigh, who won her letter for the first time this year. She played a fast, clean game.

Ella Lee Yates ('34) of Landrum, S. C., who proved an excellent defensive player.

Henrietta Castlebury ('36) of Raleigh, whose steady passing kept the ball in her forwards' territory most of the time.

Virginia Scott ('35) of Clayton, Mich., who has been the leader of the Sophomore defense for two years.

Catherine Hayes ('34) of Mullins, S. C., who played a steady, dependable game for the Juniors through the season.

"Speck" Harris ('33) of Albemarle, who is perhaps the best fullback on the campus.

Katherine Davis ('34) of Winston-Salem, who is another defensive star. Only those who have tried to put a ball past her can fully appreciate the thoroughness with which she tackles.

Ruth McCoury ('34) of Daybook, who is another mainstay of the Junior team. She is also one of the best defensive players on this campus.

Undine Weeks ('35) of Enfield, whose playing at the difficult post of goal-guard has won for her her first letter. She

Basketball Season Opens Monday

With the closing of the hockey season, attention is already being turned towards the opening of the basketball season. Initial squad practices have been held during the past week, and a great deal of good material comes to the foreground.

In spite of the fact that they have lost Sawyer and Hinkly, the Senior team gives promise of being one of the best. Virginia Greene, Catherine Hawkins, Miriam Brady, "Speck" Harris, Pat Abernethy, and Kathleen Riddle are some who have already reported for practice.

The Junior team is probably the strongest on the campus at the present writing. With such players as Martha Davis, "Ginny" Garnett, Miriam Wilson, Eleanor Rozar, Katherine Davis, Peg Legrand, Vara Lee Thornton, Ella Lee Yates, and Ruth McCoury, the Juniors ought to have little difficulty in giving plenty of competition for any team on the campus. Their strongest point is perhaps their abundance of reserve power.

The Sophomores have also been weakened by the loss of two stars in Virginia Ferrell, who was individual high scorer last year, and Dura Jones. However, they still have plenty of pep left and are planning on repeating their victory of last year over the class of '34. Luna Jackson, Marg. Greene, Elberta Foster, Va. Scott, Mac Marshburn, Cattie Moseley, Reba Parker, Alma Kee, Mary Carter Nooe, and Mary A. Lewis turned out for the first practice.

The Freshmen, of course, have the largest squad out. So far, it is still an open question as to who will play the first string positions. They have come out with their usual pep and enthusiasm and promise to give any team on the campus a run for their money. Hazel Boswell, Christine Adams, Mildred Eaton, Catherine Liles and others indicate what material is at hand, and there are numerous others who are in the race for regular positions on the team.

The students of Mount Hermon School recently produced a very interesting Literary Issue of the Hermonite. The greater part of the paper was given over to student compositions, selected by the staff and the English Department. A winning composition will be chosen from each group of Short Stories, Essays, Editorials and Features.
