

KENNEDY APPEARS IN ORGAN RECITAL

Professor of Organ at Chapel Hill Opens Series of Musical Programs

Tuesday evening, January 10, at 8 o'clock, in the college auditorium, the first in a series of musical programs to be presented by outside artists was given by Nelson O. Kennedy, professor of organ at the University of North Carolina. The recital was one of rare variety and beauty, and throughout the program Prof. Kennedy exhibited a masterfulness of his instrument which completely won his audience.

The first part of the program consisted of the following numbers: "Concert Overture in B Minor," by James Rogers; "Cantilena," by Carl McKinley; three compositions by the inimitable J. S. Bach, "Past in the Old Year," "So Fervently I Long for Thee," and "Tidings of Joy"; Andante Cantabile and Finale from the Fourth Symphony by Widor.

The concluding numbers on the program were: the well-known "Sketch in C Minor," by Schumann; "Meditation-Elegie," by Felix Borowski; and the Finale from the First Symphony, by Louis Vierne.

The International Relations Club met Tuesday night, January 10. A short business meeting was held, followed by an informal program, in which current events of various countries were given. Charlotte Gamage, Jean Simpson, Sarah Elizabeth Vernon, and Virginia Garnett discussed the happenings of interest in the last two weeks in the following countries: Russia, France, England, Japan, China, Italy and Spain. Erma Fisher was in charge of the program.

A number of the Meredith girls attended the reception given by the new Governor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. B. Ehringhaus at the Governor's mansion Thursday, January 5.

EXAMINATIONS

The date for matriculation and registration for the second semester will be January 25, on which day there will be no classes.

Candlelight Service Held at Vespers

Vespers were carried out in a very unusual and impressive way on Sunday evening, January 8, when Marguerite Warren presided over a candle-light service.

Everyone upon entering seemed to be affected by a feeling of reverence as the mellow glow of candles and soft music which was being played by Mabel Yarborough seemed to add to the atmosphere.

The meeting was opened with the singing of a hymn, "I Need Thee Every Hour," after which Helen Dozier led in a prayer expressing gratitude for blessings in 1932. The devotionals were led by Annette Donavant and this was followed by a duet sung by Louise Martin and Elizabeth Lee.

Some New Year messages in the form of stories and thoughts were given by Elizabeth Lee, Annie Mae Taylor, and Margaret Andrews. At the end of the service each girl who pledged herself to be a better Christian lighted a candle as a symbol of this. The meeting was very appropriately closed with the song, "Follow the Gleam."

JRS.-FRESH. ASTROS AT HOME TO FRIENDS

New Form of Entertainment Started for Sunday Afternoon

One of the most outstanding social events of the Astrotekton Literary Society was a tea given in honor of the junior and freshmen members of the Society in "Astro" Hall from 4:30 until 5:30 on Sunday afternoon. Quite a large number of guests were present.

During the hour the guests enjoyed several selections which were played on the piano by Margaret Warren.

Coffee, cakes, and sandwiches were served by Rachel Biggs and Katherine Hicks.

CLASSICAL CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The Helen Hull Law Classical Club came together January 6 in the Astro Hall for the first time since the recent holidays. The program, though brief, was interesting. Iris Humphrey read a poem, "The Ancient Roman." Using an article by Jonathan Swift, Martha Viccellio proved that Greek, Latin, and Hebrew are descended from English. The club, led by the song leader, Nancye Viccellio, spent the remainder of the time in learning and singing Latin songs.

The members of the Colton English Club were very fortunate in having Mrs. Frank Castlebury speak to them on Friday evening, December 16, at 6:45 o'clock. Mrs. Castlebury told two very interesting Christmas stories, "The Queen of Sheba" and "The Ballad of My Sweet Pea."

Ring of Third Finger New Fad

Third fingers seem to have played a prominent part in the Santa Claus doings Christmas. This may seem odd to some, but it is a true fact that a few of our fairer sex upheld the so-called power of their sisters and succeeded in getting their third finger "rung"! (On the left hand, of course.) Whether or not this great streak of luck was due to the kindness of that dear St. Nick, who seems to have an air, which overlooks all—this great question yet remains to be solved. Of course, all of the envious sisters stand around and watch the lucky few with great awe and admiration. Why should they have any more seductive wiles than the rest? Too, questions flow with great audacity from the downtrodden mass upon the few who saved the reputation of Meredith. Why, what in the world could they do to succeed

National Student Federation of America Convenes in New Orleans

Amorette Byrd, from Hamlet, N. C., treasurer of student government, represented Meredith College at the Eighth Annual Congress of the National Student Federation of America, which convened in New Orleans, La., from December 28 through December 31. Thirty states and ninety-four colleges of America were represented at this meeting. Of these, North Carolina had the lead with representatives from eight of its colleges.

Amorette reports a very interesting and profitable trip. Besides a series of lectures by such prominent speakers as Rabbi Benstock of New Orleans, Senator Huey P. Long, Mrs. John G. Pratt, president of the National Junior League, and Dr. A. B. Dinwiddie, president of Tulane University, discussion groups were held to consider mutual college problems; and also lavish entertainment was provided for all the delegates.

The delegates stayed in the Roosevelt Hotel; and all the meetings were held there except one in the new Tulane Medical Center, and also one on the Newcomb campus. The guests were entertained at regional dinners which were followed by interesting after dinner speakers, and there was a dance each evening. The New Year's Eve banquet and dance was an especially gala occasion also. Mrs. Ila Field, who has written a number of books dealing with the French quarter in New Orleans, led (Please turn to page four)
