Thank You

We wish to thank the members of THE TWIG staff of this year for the hearty coöperation which they have always given. Their willingness to give much time to the writing of articles and securing ads has been a worthy and indispensable part in the publication of this paper.

It is with a feeling of regret and yet with satisfaction that the present staff gives way for the new. Regret because we have not accomplished so many of the things which had been planned at the beginning of the year and parting with such helpful workers, yet with satisfaction in that we feel the new staff will be able to carry out the work in a creditable and efficient manner.

We also wish to express our appreciation to the advertisers and the printers for their hearty support and kind interest in the paper. Their part is also a vital factor in this publication.

The staff retires wishing every possible success for the staff of 1933-'34.

—MAE CAMPBELL.

From the New Staff

With the present issue, the new staff is semi-initiated in its work. With the following commencement issue, the staff "elected for the year 1933-'34" accepts the full responsibility of this publication.

Every staff, having in mind its constituency, has the idea of sustaining and improving its paper for best purposes. In order to achieve these ends, the coöperation of the student body is again solicited.

In Appreciation

The large and beautiful print of the Sistine Madonna given to Meredith College by Dr. A. B. Hunter is deeply appreciated by Faculty and students alike. Dr. Hunter is Rector Emeritus of St. Augustine's College and a beloved citizen of Raleigh. As a lover of the beautiful and a collector of wide experience, he has shown generosity to various schools which will keep alive his memory in our community, and the spiritual beauty of the Raphael Madonna at Meredith will influence all who see and appreciate it.

value to civilization, which is indeed a high aim for life.

The concluding session of the meeting was held at ten o'clock Saturday morning, at which time reports from the various committees were heard. The Association will meet next fall, at East Carolina Teachers' College, Greenville, N. C.

The State College Newspaper, The Technician, was awarded first prize in the larger college newspaper section for the second time in succession. The Old Gold and Black of Wake Forest won first place for the smaller papers. The Chanticleer of Duke won first place in the college annual contest, the Wake Forest Student in the humorous magazine section, and the Duke University Archive in the literary magazine section.

Dan A. Torrence, of State College was elected president of the association for next year. Miss Frances Mallard was elected secretary and Hoke Norris, of Wake Forest, treasurer.

Hunting For Crook Proves To Be New Fad On Campus

the procession of celebration. However, the tables were turned at exactly one forty-six o'clock Monday morning, May first, when the Sophs and Seniors started the great hunt. And whatta hunt! Every senior and soph from the smallest to the biggest started turning rock, stones, benches upside down.

Whatta hunt! Whatta week! And whatta Crook!

of Greek was essential for people interested in reading the letters on fraternity houses. The judges for the debate were: Dr. Price, Nancy Viccellio, and Dorothy Merritt.

TWIGLETS

If it is still permissible to discuss the crook, there are several "cracks" (not literal ones, although there are a plenty now) about it which are most amusing. Someone was telling it around that Mary Laura Vaughan had found it. A junior asked what she had done with it. The reply was that she had painted it blue.

We hear that B— B— finished a telephone conversation very abruptly that Sunday night (just as the junior president did) because she thought there was a real crook loose on the campus.

Did you notice an article in the past Twig about a copy of the Sistine Madonna having been given the college? In the first "proof" copy that article was placed under the picture of the May Queen, and you can imagine how that looked!

At The Theatres

STATE THEATRE

George Arliss, probably the greatest of stage and screen luminaries of the present day, comes to the State Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, in his latest picture, "The Working Man."

A musical comedy "Tea for Two," a sports novelty "Over the Jumps" and a Sound News completes the program.

PALACE THEATRE

Sixteen husky young women, all six feet tall and weighing an average of 160 pounds each, serve as the Queen's Guard in "The Warrior's Husband," the second Jesse L. Lasky production which plays at the Palace Theatre Monday and Tuesday. "Should Crooners Marry?" Comedy, and Sound News completes the program.

Victor and Edward Halperin, young independent producers, who startled Hollywood with "White Zombie" and several other pictures on weird themes which proved box-office successes, are now working for Paramount.

First of the pictures they have produced for the company is "Supernatural," tale of the spirit world which plays at the Palace Theatre, Wednesday and Thursday.

"You're Killing Me," Comedy, and "King Salmon," Act, completes the program.

Maintaining a swift pace from the very beginning, is George O'Brien's latest picture, "Smoke Lightning," which will play at the Palace Theatre Friday and Saturday.

"Birthday Blues," Our Gang Comedy, "Down Among the Sugar Cane," Lillian Roth Musical Act, and Sound News completes the program.

Beer has become so much the chief topic of discussion that one of the Latin classes couldn't even read a passage about a man on his funeral bier and keep serious.

We suggest that henceforth the junior class adopt as its class song "Coming Through the Rye."

A certain dignified faculty member in the science department was in Charlotte in a store which had a feature candy sale. She was looking at the candy and remarking "I want some of that." A kind hearted young gentleman (perhaps a college boy) heard her and came up and gave her $.15.

It has been suggested by many famous "clothes authorities" around the campus that "Dophy" Merritt has a trousseau. "Fess up! Why all the new clothes?"

MRS. SORRELL PRESENTS ANNUAL MAY DAY FETE

of Autumn. After she laid her offering at the feet of the Queen, the Queen was crowned by her attendants. She was followed by the dance of the Chrysanthemums and Gypsies. One of the most striking features was the solo dance by Elberta Foster, who represented Jack Frost. She was dressed completely in white and came as a forerunner of Winter, driving away Autumn and her attendants. Winter was represented by Louise Turlington. The band of Russian ice skaters who followed her were particularly good.

Virginia Garnett, as the spirit of Spring, gave one of her usual excellent performances in her solo dance. She was accompanied by the four Winds, the Sunbeams, Hazel Boswell and Dorothy Dockery, who were very brilliant in their golden costumes, and by the Rainbow, composed of seven girls clad in the appropriate rainbow colors.

Marguerite Warren, as Summer, gave as her offering to the Queen, her Flower Garden, a group of freshmen representing a number of different flowers in bright colored paper costumes. The two Dragon Flies, Betsy Bizzell and Agnes Moore, who fluttered around the flowers, were most originally and interestingly dressed in green with wings and other necessary features to represent dragon flies.

The old-fashioned quadrille by members of the Physical Education sixty-one class was very well done, being one of the best dances in the program. The Maypole dance by sixteen sophomores which brought the program to a close was carried out in all its complexity without a mistake.

Music for the dances was

Vocations for Women Discussed in Chapel

For the past week, the Baptist Student Union of Meredith College has observed "Vocational Guidance Week." A group of speakers from Raleigh talked on various vocations open to girls at the college chapel exercises throughout the week.

On Tuesday morning Dr. Bessie Lane, an alumna of Meredith and one of the leading physicians of the state, spoke on "The Openings for Girls in the Medical Field."

Miss Susan Bursen, State Superintendent of Home Economics Education, was the speaker on Wednesday. Miss Bursen pointed out various fields of work open to students of home economics.

Warren Beck, artist for Edwards & Broughton Printing Company, spoke to the students on Thursday morning on "How to Commercialize Your Artistic Talents."

On Friday Mrs. W. H. Bunch, secretary of the First Presbyterian Church in Raleigh, spoke on "Fields of Religious Work Open to Women."

On Saturday morning Miss Mary O'Kelley, who is the staff pianist for Radio Station WPTF, spoke on "Fields in Radio Work Open to Women."

Athletic Glances

The interest in tennis right now is at its height with six real good players still in the race for singles. Those holding their own are: "Kitten" Boswell, Mary Allen Lewis, "Lil" Uher, "Jo" Arnette, "Kat" Davis and Eleanor Andrews. The doubles have been quite as interesting with "Pat" Abernethy and "Jo" Broadwell, "Lil" Uher and "Kitten" Boswell, Ruth McCoury and "Kat" Davis still in the limelight. The players will be kept on their toes as the semifinals and finals are expected to be played by the end of the week. Only time will tell who will be the Champions of '33.

played by Helen Dozier, Jo Turner, Virginia Lambert, Mildred Moore, and Marguerite Warren.

Emily Miller, as Jester again, furnished much amusement by her antics and capers throughout all the dances.

The May Day exercises have been an annual presentation of the Physical Education department since the college moved to the present location, and much credit is due Mrs. Gertrude Roster Sorrell for the programs she has worked out and directed so many years.
