Dr. and Mrs. Brewer Honor Seniors

Members of the senior class of Meredith College were dinner guests of Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Brewer on Thursday evening, May 6, in the college dining room.

The guests of the evening were received in the parlors by Dr. and Mrs. Brewer and Miss Ellen Brewer.

Dinner was served at individual tables centered with miniature may poles and china doll dancers. Rainbow colors of the old class were used in the table decorations.

Breakfast for Juniors At Old Chimney

On Monday, May 1, at 7:30 a.m., the freshman class entertained their big sisters, the junior class, at a breakfast. Each little sister conducted her big sister to the old chimney west of Stringfield Hall and acted as hostess to that person particularly. Annie Mae Taylor, president of the freshman class, welcomed the juniors. Frances Calloway made a speech of appreciation to the juniors for their friendly interest and kindness.

The menu consisted of apples, bananas, pigs-in-blanket (roasted by the own fair hands of every freshman for her big sister), rolls, doughnuts, and coffee.

Josephine Arnette went to Roxboro Tuesday night, May 9, to assist in a piano recital at the invitation of Mrs. Mable James Wood, '27.

Wake Forest-Meredith Have Joint S. G. Banquet

The old and new Student Government councils of Meredith and Wake Forest had a joint banquet at Carolina Pines on Monday evening, May 8. Addison Hewlett, president of the Wake Forest student government, was toastmaster of the occasion. Toasts and responses were made by Addison Hewlett, Virginia Garnett, Mary C. Shearin, Howard Phillips, Fleming Fuller, Miss Biggers.

The speaker of the evening, Haywood Weeks of Carolina, was introduced by a toast from Amorette Byrd. Mr. Weeks spoke on Student Government.

Mars Hill Club Picnic

The Mars Hill Club of Meredith College entertained the Corresponding Club of Wake Forest College, Saturday afternoon, May 6, at a wiener roast in the grove. An enjoyable afternoon was brought to a close by the singing of Mars Hill songs. Other invited guests were Misses Kelly, English, and Biggers.

Dr. Harris Entertains Class at Carolina Pines

Dr. Julia Harris, head of the English department, entertained her class in literary criticism at a breakfast, given at Carolina Pines, Sunday morning, May 7. Those present were: Rachel Biggs, Charlotte Hooper, Pat Abernethy, Frances Maynard, Mrs. Ruth Couch Allen, and Lula Belle Highsmith.

Emily Miller and Peg Le Grand spent the week-end in Shelby.

Gorham Silver Company Gives Exhibit Here

The Gorham Company presented a display of fine art in sterling at a tea given in honor of the senior classes of Peace, St. Mary's and Meredith in the College parlors on Friday afternoon from four to six o'clock. The exhibition included lovely pieces of flat silver, Arrentine ware, the original having been made in 100 B.C., the Unfinished Masterpiece, a $5,000 silver service, and formal and informal dinner tables which were beautifully appointed.

Mr. Edward Talbot, Jr., was in charge of the display which has been put on at many large women's colleges throughout the south. The Home Economics Department of Meredith cooperated with the company in serving the refreshments.

Lithographs by Artist On Display in Parlors

The collection of lithographs on display in the parlors of the College is the work of Mabel Dwight of New York City, an artist of international reputation. Lithographs are late comers among prints, and only recently have they really been appreciated.

Miss Dwight's character sketches are particularly interesting because of the humor and truth which they reflect. Her entire work possesses a depth of tone which renders it unusual as well as delightful. The artist has studied abroad and has presented exhibitions in Paris and other leading cities of Europe. One of her prints being shown here was selected by the National Society of Graphic Arts as among the fifty best of the year.

Miss Florence Hoagland Wins Prize at Cornell

Miss Florence Hoagland, Meredith faculty member who is on leave of absence taking graduate work at Cornell University, has recently been awarded the Hiram Corson Browning prize for the best essay on a Browning subject. Her essay was on "The Jew in Browning's Poems."

This is the second time this honor has come to a member of the Meredith faculty, Dr. Mary Lynch Johnson having won it several years ago on "The Grotesque in Browning."
