Chamber of Commerce Holds Annual Dinner at Meredith

The annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce, the 48th similar event of the organization, was held in the dining room of Meredith on Friday evening, January 26. Included in the approximately 375 present were many prominent guests, a number of whom were from out of town.

The dinner was in charge of the following committee: R. S. Busbee, Dallas Holoman, C. H. Robertson, Jonathan Daniels, and John A. Park. The invocation was given by Dr. C. M. Townsend, Pastor of the Hayes-Barton Baptist Church.

H. Clarence Howell was installed as president of the Chamber of Commerce for this year. The other officers elected were: W. H. Weatherspoon, first vice president; Vick C. Moore, second vice president; George Marsh, treasurer; and H. B. Branch, secretary.

F. H. Weatherspoon, vice president, introduced Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus who in turn introduced Honorable O. Max Gardner, the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Gardner, former governor of North Carolina, gave an interesting address on "North Carolina and the" (Please turn to page four)

DR. RALPH S. HARLOW ADDRESSES STUDENTS TWICE ON TUESDAY

Smith College Professor Speaks to Meredith Students on NRA

Dr. S. Ralph Harlowe, professor at Smith College, Northampton, Massachusetts, spoke to the Meredith students twice on last Tuesday. At the chapel exercises he spoke on the power of Christ in foreign countries. In the afternoon he spoke to the League of Women Voters on the National Recovery Act. Quoting Harold Lasky he praised the American students for their great knowledge of public affairs, but as to responsibility, no group of students felt that less than those of this country. His discussion of the NRA was from a human interest point of view rather than from an academic point of view.

Roosevelt was praised for his sincerity, courage, and the fact that he has done something. There are five enduring contributions which Dr. Harlowe pointed out and explained: that the workers of America have a right to organize, the new attitude toward child labor, the changing psychological attitude of the multitudes of people in our country toward distribution of wealth, the President's recognition of the greater unselfishness necessary in building an economic order, and the organization of the C. C. C. Camps and public works as temporary measures for immediate relief.

On the other hand the NRA is failing to take the roots of the trouble away. As long as the profit system is at the heart of the NRA there is not going to be any lasting recovery. There are also certain features which may enslave the workers of the country, as well as the tendency in the direction of Fascism, and these are, to the speaker's opinion, the chief criticisms.

The nation needs to be brought face to face with the human factor, and until the service motive in business is substituted for the present profit motive there is no hope for recovery.

Five Meredith Girls Selected for Howler

Charles Harris, Jr., Editor of the Howler, the annual of Wake Forest College, has recently announced the personnel of the beauty section. For this section, five Meredith girls out of the entire number of ten, have been selected. These are: Emily Miller and Mary Lois Parker, seniors; Edith Bowden and Meredith Whitaker, juniors; and Jo Broadwell of the class of '33.

R. N. Simms Delivers Address On "Meredith Foundation"

Speaker of the Day

MR. R. N. SIMMS

Brief Service Held at Grave of Thomas Meredith; Other Programs for Rest of Day

The Founders' Day program for this year was begun this morning at 10:30 with exercises in the college chapel. An organ prelude, Psalm XIX, by Marcello, was first played by Mr. Spelman, after which a hymn was sung by the entire audience. Dr. B. W. Spillman delivered the invocation and Scriptural reading. After the Dedication Hymn, written by Russell Broughton for the choir and student body, was sung, Dr. Brewer presented greetings from the alumnae.

Mr. R. N. Simms, a member of the board of trustees, was the principal speaker. He chose as his subject "The Meredith Foundation," a title suggested to him by an article on Founders' Day published in The Twig. Mr. Simms first spoke of the foundation of Meredith in terms of its purpose and usefulness; he said that the founders of Meredith had in mind four cardinal purposes to which the institution has remained true—learning, culture, christianity, service. Next he called attention to the foundation of Meredith in resources, both tangible and intangible. Among tangible resources there are of course included any property or endowments, amounting to about half a million dollars, and the buildings or physical properties of the institution. Its intangible resources are of great and immeasurable value, and are in nature very real. Human affection is one of these intangible resources. In thinking of the love and devotion of the founders of (Please turn to page three)

Meredith and Wake Forest Do Publicity Work in Winston

On Tuesday, January 30, representatives from Meredith, including Miss Ethel English, Peg Le Grand, and Katherine Davis, and also some representatives from Wake Forest College visited the R. J. Reynolds High School in Winston-Salem. Their purpose was publicity work in the interests of their respective schools.

The Meredith alumnae, with Marguerite Mason, '30, president, entertained Tuesday afternoon at a tea the high school girls and boys who (Please turn to page two)

FOUNDERS' DAY HYMN DEDICATED TO MEREDITH AND SUNG BY COLLEGE CHOIR FOR FIRST TIME

The Dedication Hymn which was sung at Founders' Day exercises was written by Russell Broughton, and has been dedicated by him to the Meredith College choir. At the meeting of the American Guild of Organists in Chicago last summer, several of the organists remarked on the fact that there had never been a hymn written especially for Founders' Day. As a result of this discussion, Mr. Broughton, who is director of the music at a church out from Cleveland, Ohio and has done quite a bit of composing, decided to write a Founders' Day hymn.

The Hymn which was sung yesterday for the first time any where by the Meredith faculty and students is soon to be published by Oliver Ditson Company as an official Founders' Day Hymn for colleges.

S. W. Meyer has written the following appropriate words to accompany Mr. Broughton's music:

We build our school on Thee, O Lord
To Thee we bring our common need;
The loving heart, the helpful word,
The tender thought, the kindly deed.

We work together in Thy sight,
We live together in Thy love;
Guide Thou our faltering steps aright,
And lift our thoughts to heav'n above.

Hold Thou each hand to keep it just,
Touch Thou our lips and make them pure;

If Thou art with us, Lord, we must
Be faithful friends and comrades sure.

We build our school on Thee, O Lord
To Thee we bring our common need;
The loving heart, the helpful word,
The tender thought, the kindly deed.
