PHI TEA

The Philaretian Literary Society entertained Sunday afternoon from four-thirty to five-thirty at a tea given in honor of the new Phis.

In the receiving line were Reba Parker, president, Martha Ann Riley, vice president, Emily Hoyer, Nancy Bunn, and Elizabeth Barker.

Louise Correll presided at the punch bowl. Cookies and candies were arranged attractively in Hallowe'en colors. Frances Jones, Elizabeth Davidson, and Kate Covington assisted in serving.

Music was furnished during the afternoon by Mae Marshbanks at the violin accompanied by Dorothy Lowdermilk at the piano.

PARTY AT MRS. FARMERS

Mrs. J. S. Farmer entertained a number of her friends with a party given at her home on 202 Ashe Avenue, Saturday, October 13, at three o'clock. Games and contests of all sorts were an enjoyable part of the afternoon's entertainment. The two girls winning prizes were Mary Johnson MacMillan and Lucy Jackson.

A delicious salad course and hot chocolate were served later in the afternoon.

Coughlin Advances Plan to Employ Some Young People

Washington, D. C. (NSFA)—Following an interview with President Roosevelt, Reverend Charles E. Coughlin, popular radio commentator and pastor of the Church of the Shrine of the Little Flower in Royal Oak, Mich., indicated that the President was interested in and considering the "desperate plight of youth."

Father Coughlin discussed with the President the hopes for 100,000 College graduates unable to find work in vocations they have been trained for. "There are," he reported, "25,000 young people employed in the government's service. I discussed a plan with him to employ more."

"Briefly, it would allot so many hundred white-collar jobs to each major college president. The college head would designate his young men and women and they would be placed in government posts. Of course, there couldn't be 25,000 placed each year. The number would be nearer 5,000." At National Student Federation headquarters, President John A. Lang commented, "Father Coughlin's plan is interesting but is only a short step along a further road. By employing as many young people as it has, the Roosevelt Administration has indicated its sympathy with Youth's employment problem. We must now extend this sympathy to industry."

Meredith Hostess to State-Wide Delegation at Banquet

half-apologetic terms" if Christians are to present their cause forcefully.

George Noel, Jr., of Wake Forest College, presided. The service in the auditorium was opened by a prayer led by Dr. Forrest Feezor, followed by a selection, Ave Maria, by Brahms, sung by the college choir. Miss Winnie Rickett, Young People's Leader of North Carolina, introduced the speaker.

In the dining room the following colleges were represented and recognized: Wake Forest, Chowan, Wingate, Boiling Springs, Campbell, W. C. U. N. C., Mars Hill, and Meredith.

B. S. U. Notes

On Sunday evening, October 14, Mrs. Edna R. Harris, State Executive Secretary of W. M. U., made a very interesting talk at Vespers.

The Banquet, after which Dr. Dunning of London, England, spoke, was a big feature of the week.

A large Meredith delegation has gone to Memphis. Here's to our girls; may they get much information and inspiration!

At Vespers Sunday evening, October 21, Miss Lattie Rhodes gave a very interesting travel-talk on her trip to Europe last summer.

A group of Meredith girls of the B. S. U. gave a program at Wake Forest under the directorship of Alice Bryan. They were entertained at dinner at the Wake Forest Hotel by the Wake Forest B. S. U. Council and the B. Y. P. U.
