

B. S. U. Notes

"A friend is one who shares your joy
And doubles it for you—
A friend is one who shares your woe
And cuts it right in two!"

For the past week, "Friendship" has been the topic at morning watch. Roommates and Suitemates have taken parts on these programs. Bits of poetry, mottoes, little proverbial sayings, and short talks have constituted these programs.

On Sunday, November 11, Wake Forest boys came over to Meredith to present a program at Vespers. Those participating were: Jay Anderson, George Griffin, Al Martin, John Lawrence, Ed Swain, Ollin Owens, A. K. Cheek, Woodrow Jones, Hugh Archie Matthews, Harry Wood, Carl Owsley, O. E. Shause.

We welcome the boys. One has no idea how the attendance increases when Wake Forest comes over for Vespers!

On Monday evening, November 12, at 7:30, the members of the Mooneyham Class were entertained at the Tabernacle Church by the women of that church. Cars were sent to Meredith for the girls. There was a special program by four girls from the Methodist Orphanage. After the program, punch, cakes, and candy were served.

He most loves who thinks most, feels noblest, acts best.—Baily.

On Thursday evening, November 9, the members of the First Baptist Church entertained the College Students with a social at the church. Many interesting games were played, contests were held, and punch and cakes served.

"Don't be afraid to soil your hands
Don't wear a lazy frown.
You can't make footprints in the sands
Of time by sitting down."

"Rainbow Gleams" were presented at Vespers on November 17 in the College Auditorium.

Did you know that Ruth Abernethy makes the attractive posters we see on the bulletin board near the post-office?

Are you thankful for your many blessings? Don't forget the Thanksgiving service sponsored by the Baptist Student Union on Thursday morning, November 29.

The State boys entertained the Meredith girls with a party at Pullen Memorial church, Thursday evening, November 22.

Miss Marguerite Mason has been teaching one of the B. Y. P. U. study courses at Tabernacle Baptist Church this week. Monday night a group of Meredith girls had charge of the entertainment for the supper hour which has been enjoyed each night of the study course, during the intermission between training periods.

Athletic News

The Sophomore Class defeated the Freshman Class by a score of 2 to 1 in the first interclass hockey game of the 1934-35 season on Saturday, November 17. Although this was their first appearance, the Freshman team showed good organization and plenty of fight.

Near the end of the first half, Margaret Seymore, Freshman Captain and left halfback, scored the first goal of the game. Immediately following this, Martha Messenger, Sophomore center forward, scored a goal to tie the score 1-1.

In the second half, after a hard fight, Dot Hodgkin, right inner on the Sophomore team, scored a goal establishing a lead which the Sophs managed to maintain.

Receive New Members

On Saturday, November 17, the regular initiation of the "Baby Astros" and installation of the "New Phis" took place. Beginning at 7 o'clock, each of the 115 new members of the Astrotekton Society was taken to the tunnel under D dormitory and there subjected to a more or less rigorous ceremony. After each Baby Astro had removed all traces of the initiation, she was conducted to the Student Government office, and there given the pledge.

The Philaretian installation also began at seven o'clock. The various exercises in which both old and new Phis engaged lasted until ten-thirty. 102 new girls were installed.

Following the ceremonies, both societies entertained their new members at socials held in their respective halls.

Club Notes

COLTON ENGLISH CLUB

The Colton English Club met informally Friday afternoon, November 16, to observe American Book Week. Members of the English faculty and student members discussed books, past and present.

LITTLE THEATER

The Little Theater met Tuesday evening, November 13, to elect new members and to discuss the major production. The date of the play was changed from December 1 to December 8. The new members who were elected will be announced December 8.

After the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed. Annie Mae Taylor won the prize for recognizing the most quotations in a Shakespeare contest. Refreshments consisting of tea, cakes, and mints were served.

K. K. CLUB

The K. K. Club, an informal art club, will be organized soon. It was first organized in 1905, but after several years it ceased to exist. Because of requests by the art students, it is going to be revived this year. It is largely a social club, and the meetings take the form of informal discussions of current art. Anybody interested in art may join.
