The 1934-35 basketball season started January 7 when the Freshmen held their first practice. Twenty-five girls turned out for this practice. From the work of these girls it looks as if the Freshmen are going to have a championship team.

The captain of the freshman team is Harriet Rose.

The hockey season this year was a dismal failure. Only two interclass games were played during the entire season. On November 17 the Sophomores defeated the Freshmen by a score of 2 to 1. The freshman team again met defeat on November 24 when the Juniors scored 2 goals to the one of the underclassmen.

Because of the failure of the senior class to enter into competition for the cup, the juniors were to meet the sophs in the final game. However, the juniors defaulted to the sophs last Saturday afternoon, and for that reason the sophomore class is this year's recipient of the hockey cup.

The lineup of the championship team was as follows:

- RWPDavis
- RIHodgin
- CFMessenger
- LISale
- LWDame
- RHMcMillan
- CHDobson
- LHCanady
- RFBarrett
- LFJohnson
- GBiggs

The night of January 17, Horace Gotton and William McKinley, both of State College, gave an exhibition ping-pong game in the Meredith gym. This affair was well attended. Incidentally, Mr. McKinley won the match with a score of 24-22 in the third game.

Immediately after exams soccer teams will be organized. Come on out!

Miss Warner will give indoor instruction in golf to any group of five interested. Now is the time to learn.

Also a class in tumbling will be organized in a short time.

During exam week take "time off" occasionally in order to relax and clear up your foggy minds! There's a brand new ping-pong table with the net and paddles all ready to be used. You'll find them all in the gym any time you want to use them. Then there are two new bicycles to ride if you prefer to be out-of-doors. And don't forget the shuffle board and basketball shooting in the gym. There are lots to keep you busy for a half hour or so and the exercise will improve your temper, your health, and the grade at your next exam! Try it!

from nearly every European country. French is the official language used.

Ann Bradsher on Committee

Ann Bradsher was appointed as one of a committee of ten to discuss academic freedom. "This discussion," she said, "was enlightening in that it revealed the student's attitude in general toward national problems. It was clear that the ideals of freedom and liberty as expressed by this group of students will be the determining factors of the government of the future."

The program which included a discussion on how the different colleges compare as to social regulations especially interested Nancy Allen. "Some of the topics," she stated, "such as sororities, were of little concern to us. What we were most interested in were the more immediate problems of social privileges."

The three Meredith student council members who attended the congress were particularly impressed with the friendly and cooperative spirit exhibited by the delegates from the various

STUDENT LEADER SPEAKS AT CHAPEL PROGRAM

On Wednesday, December 12, the Student Government Council had charge of the Chapel program, and presented Mr. Kenneth Goodson of Duke as speaker. Mr. Goodson is president of the North Carolina Federation of Students. Before speaking on "Student Government and Its Possibilities" he gave several facts about the N. C. F. S. (North Carolina Federation of Students). It was founded in 1922 on the campus of the U. N. C. and began as a feeling of friendship between two literary societies of Duke and Carolina. Other schools entered in 1925. It has a charter from the United States, with Daniel C. Roper as Honorary President and is a part of the General Assembly of North Carolina. This introduction showed that Student Government is more than a campus affair.

Mr. Goodson then pointed out the possibilities of Student Government. In its origin, government by the students was thought of as a tool of and for the faculty—as a police force. It is this idea and attitude that the councils are trying to change. Is it possible to have an Honor System? Yes, Washington and Lee has one. There are no rules nor observances to abide by there—just one's honor, and honor can never be enforced. Student Government can only inspire it. Students must form their own system and cooperate with the leader. Student government also helps the students in forming ideas which will go with them through life. An open forum helps this movement.

The talk closed in a challenge to the students to join the leaders in denying that Student Government is a tool, in helping it to mould their ideas or sentiments, and in having a voice in the success or failure of the organization.

Club Notes

The Colton English Club met Friday night at 6:30 in the Phi Hall with Miss Frances Maynard, a Meredith graduate, as speaker. Miss Maynard spoke on graduate work at Wellesley.

The Classical Club met Friday afternoon at 4:30 in Social Room of B Dormitory. Miss Lattie Rhodes spoke on "Rome as I Saw It." After singing of several Latin songs, members were treated to refreshments.

The Crazy Krazy Critics Art Club met Friday evening at 7:30 in Miss Ida Poteat's sitting room. Topics of interest to art students were discussed very informally. New members were also welcomed into the club.

colleges and universities. "Every student seemed anxious," said Catherine Moseley, "to throw as much light as possible on any problem with which his associates were concerned."

All three of the delegates from Meredith were impressed with importance of membership in the NSFA. One cannot realize, they said, what an influential body this federation is. It represents nearly a million American young people and the influence they wield over public opinion and even government politics is tremendous. Only eight other colleges in North Carolina belong to the NSFA.

Besides fulfilling their duties as student representatives, the delegates from Meredith took full advantage of the opportunity to see something of Boston and New York. One night on the way and two coming back were spent in New York, where they visited the Metropolitan Museum. On a sight seeing tour of Boston, they saw the Bunker Hill Monument, the home of Paul Revere, the old North Church, Harvard, and other places of equal interest.

B. S. U. Notes

"Don't turn over a new leaf; begin a new life!"

Watch the B.S.U. bulletin board for the Sunday School lesson for the coming Sunday. Meredith girls are trying to bring up the two weakest points in their six-point system, carrying Bibles and studying the lesson. Weren't we ashamed of the low percentage when Lois Morgan read the report in the open B. S. U. Council in Chapel! Do your part!

On Sunday afternoon, January 13, there was held in the Meredith parlors a meeting of all the officers of the First Baptist Sunday School to discuss business and plans for the New Year. Dr. J. H. Highsmith led the discussion.

Did you know that Miss Melba Hunt is assistant teacher for Mr. Tyner's Freshmen Class at the First Baptist Sunday School?

"Dare to go forth with a purpose true To the unknown task of the year that's new.

To help your brother along the road To do his work and lift his load, To add your gift to the world's good cheer

Is to have and to give a Happy New Year."

Have you caught the spirit of "I Dare You"? We heard of a certain suite of girls who dared each other to go to morning watch for a whole week! They were the kind who could take a dare!

The last meeting of the Service Band had as its subject Russia. Elsie Miller, a freshman from Winston-Salem, who has visited Palestine and Europe, told some of her impressions. Miss Herndon told about international experiences with Russians in Little Russia in Chicago, and related something of the history and present conditions in Russia.

On January 11, Mr. William Hall Preston showed moving pictures in Phi Hall of the Student Retreat at Ridgecrest. We got a thrill from seeing Meredith girls on the screen.

PEACE POLL IS CONDUCTED BY SWARTHMORE STUDENTS

Swarthmore, Pa. (NSFA)—Forty-six per cent of the students at Swarthmore College declared that they "would fight or aid in no war whatsoever."

This and other opinions on questions of peace were obtained in a poll of all men and women students at Swarthmore, conducted by a committee of students interested in obtaining the peace sentiment at the college.

Of the 610 polled, 376 returned ballots showing a pronounced pacifist stand on the six pertinent questions asked.

Disagreement with the present arms policy of this nation was shown by the ballots of 87 per cent of those voting, as 176 stood for total disarmament and 169 declared themselves for decreased armament.

Popular referendum before declaration of war was urged by 286, while 101 were opposed. Membership in both the League of Nations and World Court was desired by 58 per cent of the voters. Only 50 would remain outside of the bodies entirely; 80 wanted only World Court and 38 only League of Nations membership.

Regarding the munitions industry, 228 responded in favor of Government ownership, 149 wished regulation, and 19 wanted the Government to keep its hands off this industry.
