Dr. and Mrs. Brewer Give Formal Dinner Honoring the Graduating Class

On Wednesday evening, May 6, the seniors were honor guests at a formal dinner in the college dining room. Dr. and Mrs. Brewer were hosts for the occasion. All seniors, both resident and town students, were invited to be present. Other invited guests were Miss Ellen Brewer, Miss Caroline Biggers, Miss Hazel Ruth Clark, Dean and Mrs. Boomhour, and Miss Ida Poteat.

Dr. and Mrs. Brewer's dinner for the seniors is an annual affair at Meredith, and was, this year, quite a festive occasion.

The Senior Class was also entertained at a tea Friday afternoon by the American Association of University Women.

Mrs. Bowden Speaks To Students on the Emergency Campaign

"Economic depression is a small price to pay for peace," said Mrs. D. J. Bowden, field representative of the Emergency Peace Campaign during her talk before the International Relations Club, Thursday afternoon, April 29. Mrs. Bowden spoke again at the chapel service Friday morning and presented the purpose of this campaign to all the students. After chapel a committee, with Mary Chandler at the head, was appointed to work out plans to send representatives from Meredith to participate in the campaign during the summer.

"The purpose of this campaign," said Mrs. Bowden, "is to arouse pacifist sentiment throughout the nation in an attempt to keep the United States neutral in case of a war, by not sending raw materials to any of the belligerent countries, as well as not supplying them with ammunition."

This campaign numbers among its sponsors Harry Emerson Fosdick, as chairman; Bishop Paul Kern, chairman of the southern sponsors; Dean Elbert Russell, co-chairman; President Frank P. Graham of Chapel Hill, E. McNeill Poteat of Pullen Memorial Baptist Church, and about 200 other well-known people.

An institute at Duke University will offer a course in peace campaigning (Please turn to page four)

In Role of Mary Lamb

EDNA LEE PEGRAM

DIFFICULT PLAY WELL GIVEN BY LITTLE THEATRE

Mirvine Garrett, Edna Lee Pegram Splendid As Charles and Mary

"Charles and Mary," a dramatization of the lives of Charles and Mary Lamb, by Joan Temple, was presented by the Little Theatre, under the direction of Dr. Florence Hoagland, May 5. Edna Lee Pegram and Mirvine Garrett, in the leading roles, impersonated Mary and Charles respectively. The supporting cast included the following:

Mr. Lamb.....Nina Binder
Mrs. Lamb.....Susan Rudisell
John Lamb.....Edna Frances Dawkins
Becky.....Katherine Shuford
Jane.....Mary Johnson MacMillan
William Godwin.....Margaret Kramer
Mrs. Godwin.....Annie Elizabeth Coward
Charles Dudley.....Martha Messenger
Samuel Coleridge.....Minnie Anna Forney
Wm. Wordsworth.....Flora Kate Bethea
George Dyer.....Mary Fay McMillan
Hester Savory.....Betty Claire Jennings
Mrs. Bracebridge.....Catherine Johnson

Music for the play was written by Dorothy Lowdermilk, and assisting with the music were Miss Mary Lee, Olive Hamrick and Al Martin, of Wake Forest. Annabelle Hollowell did the staging for the play and Lucille Parker had charge of the costuming.

Charles, a most admirable character, devoted his life to the care of his sister, Mary, who was driven to insanity by her family. George Dyer, the absent-minded poet, afforded much laughter, while the pathos of closing scenes brought tears.

Following the play the cast and members of the Little Theatre were honored at a reception given by Mrs. C. O. Abernethy, patroness of the Little Theatre, in the college parlors.

CROOK APPEARS

Coming as a climax to a day exciting enough in itself (what with Hospitality Week-enders, May Day and the Wake Forest Glee Club) the resurrection of the Crook Saturday night threw the whole student body into a state bordering on hysteria. Promptly at twelve o'clock Sonora Bland and Ruby Barrett, under the fascinated gaze of the students (of Meredith and Wake Forest) disappeared beneath the porch which connects a dormitory with the Administration building, and brought forth the coveted relic from its hiding place in the wall.

For the hour the melodious strains of "Sturdy Seniors" railed out over the campus, while occasionally a note or two of the rather feeble "These Bones" was heard. And the crook excitement is over for another year.

Stage Manager.....Ruth Abernethy
Costume Manager.....Mary Fay McMillan

Pearl Huffman was recently elected president of the Barber Biology Club to succeed Melba Gaskins. Ruth Sears was voted vice president for next year and Carrie Bowers, secretary.

250 STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN MAY DAY FESTIVAL

Elizabeth Davidson of Raleigh Crowned Queen

Miss Elizabeth Davidson of Raleigh was crowned May Queen at the May Day Festival held in the grove Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

This year the pageant, "Sleeping Beauty," was presented by the gymnasium classes under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Royster Sorrell, head of the Physical Education department. About 250 students participated in the event.

The Queen's Court was made up of the maid of honor, Dorothy Dent, and two attendants from each class. The class attendants were: Rena Pearl Hamilton and Mildred Patterson, seniors; Sue Brewer and Katherine Malloy, juniors; Jean Davis and Margaret Newlin, sophomores; and Joyce Howell and Ruth Hutchins, freshmen.

Heralds for the occasion were Esther Mae Lanier and Virginia Lambert; Dorothy Crawford was the crown bearer and Mary Scott Daniel of Raleigh was the train bearer. The Jesters were Pauline Davis and Ella Ruth Perry. The prologue was read by Norma Rose.

The opening scene of the pageant was laid on the village green on the day of the christening of the infant princess. After a number of dances by the peasants there was a procession of the priest with the god-mothers and the princess. Immediately following the christening, the wicked god-mother, who was uninvited appeared and pronounced a curse on the infant. Scene II was the celebration of the eighteenth birthday of the princess. Scene III represented the interlude of one hundred years, during which the princess and her court were in sleep. The final scene was the entrance of the prince and the awakening of the princess, followed by a minuet by the entire court.

The cast of the pageant was as follows: The Princess, Dorothy Dockery; The Prince, Lucille Davis; King, Margaret Kramer; Queen, Irene Tutthill; Pages, Juanita Glosson and Sada Louise Clarke; Priest, Nancy Allen; wicked God-mother, Louise Bolus; God-mothers, June Crow, Betty Lyon, Marjorie Collins, Alice La Roque, (Please turn to page two)

Guests From North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia

ENTERTAINED WITH MAY DAY, BALL GAME AND CONCERT

During the past week-end, May 2-3, Meredith was hostess to approximately 150 guests, principally girls of high school age who anticipated entering college within the next year or two.

The majority of the guests were from North Carolina, but several high schools of Virginia and South Carolina were also represented.

Upon arrival the visitors were registered by Mirvine Garrett in the Rotunda. Friday night in the Phi Hall they were entertained at a party under the direction of Mary Herring, president of the freshman class. At the chapel hour Saturday morning, the guests were welcomed by Dr. Brewer and the president of the student body, Ann Bradsher. Following the words of welcome, members of the Glee Club entertained by singing three numbers.

In the afternoon a Father-Daughter Baseball game was held on the Athletic Field, the daughter team being victorious. At 4:00 o'clock followed the May Day exercises in the grove. At the conclusion of these events, the guests were invited to the court, where a picnic supper was provided for them. The Wake Forest Glee Club entertained at 8:00 o'clock in the auditorium with a varied program of music, and at 9:30 the guests were invited to a reception in the college parlors.

Sunday morning, special busses were chartered to convey the guests and their hostesses to Sunday school and church.

Kappa Nu Sigma Gives Banquet and Lecture Recital Honoring New Members

Honoring its newly elected members from the Junior Class, Margaret Kramer and Eleanor Edwards, the Kappa Nu Sigma Honor Society entertained at a banquet on Tuesday night, April 28, in the college dining hall.

Following the banquet the society sponsored a lecture-recital in the college auditorium. Norma Rose, president of the organization, presided. Dr. Glen Haydon, of the music Department of the University of North Carolina, assisted by his accompanist, Peter Hansen, an instructor in the music department of the University, gave a lecture on the life of Johannes Brahms, with special emphasis on Brahms' technique in some of his greatest works. After the lecture a musical program made up of four groups of Brahms' works was given, Mr. Hansen at the piano. Dr. Haydon and Mr. Hansen then played a sonata from Brahms for the clarinet and piano.
